JUNIORS PLAN COMING EVENTS AT CLARENCEVILLE

The Junior class is off again on another project. This time they are selling refreshments at the Recreation Commission, sponsored on Saturday nights. Refreshments will be hot dogs, chili, soft drinks, and potato chips. Selling from the Junior class are Patricia Storti, chairman; Thomas Ruttle, co-chairman; Robert Stingle, Sally Satterfield, Nancy Jenkins, Bill Myers, Geraldine Estep, Nathan Parrar, Joy Garbin and Dorothy Riebel. Refreshments for the event will consist of each couple selling for twenty minutes. The square dancing will end at 11:30. The following Saturday, January 17, the Junior class is planning a tobogganing party, and after that the class will be served refreshments at the home of Joy Garbin.

Class rings, which were selected in December by the Badger Jewelry Company, will be ready later this year. The next project for the junior class will be a bake sale. Plans for the annual Talent Show will soon be under way. Helping with the plans will be Miss Norma Cooke, Mrs. Mary Lavers and Mr. Robert Selke, Junior sponsors.

Senior Highlights

This week's senior highlight is hard to miss, you can see her on the small television set. Her platoon, of making merry with her cronies; Joan Melton, Annie Allan, Pat Nagle, Barbara Westlake and Nancy McCarville. Yes, it's Sally Albers, who is seldom found with out pappy, care-free disposition. Sally is blessed with black hair and brown eyes and stands 5 feet three inches tall and likes bright colors especially red. Sally's favorite stars are those comedies, Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis. Like Dean and Jerry, she says her favorite hobby and pastime is being silly. Her favorite TV show is Arthur Godfrey and she likes to spin the platters to "I'll Waltz Again With You", sung by Teresa Brewer.

In the line of sports, she likes to watch football the best, but when it comes to playing a sport, her favorite is basketball. As far as food goes, her favorite is southern fried chicken. Her pet peeve is men, especially those who have the greatest ambition in life was, she laughed and said it was to get married.

What do we have here? Ah, it's a foreigner. Canadian born, 6' 2", hazel eyed Bill Lawrason is with us. Bill, born in Provost, Alberta, February 27, 1935, moved to the United States when he turned one year old. But, he has now reached 17 and is a senior at Clarenceville High. Bill's hobby is cars and he has one of his own. He likes to play cards when not around cars. Bill is hanging out with the fellows such as Jack Phillips, Milton Dally and Micky Johnston. Bill's favorite sport is football. "This season Bill suffered an eye injury at the Holly game and was confined to the hospital for most of the season. His favorite food is "anything that is edible", and his favorite color is blue.

"When it comes to fancy dancing, or to eyes that smile, make Bill's country style. Yes, Bill likes all kinds of music with Hank Williams as his favorite singer. Bill's ambition is to graduate and after this important event he wants to go to school to study drafting (maybe he's trying to avoid the army). Bill's favorite actress is Marilyn Monroe and Randolph Scott rates high as his favorite actor. Bill prefers Mr. Marra as teachers go, and lists English teachers as his pet peeve. To conclude our interview with Bill, we'll tell you that his is a confirmed bachelor and his favorite expression is unprintable.

POLL UNCOVERS STUDENTS' VIEWS ON ACTIVITIES

Recently at Clarenceville High, among students and teachers, there has been discussion as to how many activities a student should participate in. The activity poll was given to all phases of athletics, journalism, debate, cheerleading, student council, band, chorus, etc. The question arose because it seemed that some students in many school activities and others had no interest in any. To see what the students themselves thought of the question, a poll was taken. The question: "How many school activities do you think a student should belong to, to do a good job in each?" was asked.

Editorial

The year 1953 has arrived and all the countries in the world have celebrated this event. All countries daily celebrate with parties, exchanging of gifts and large family reunions. A great tradition of New Year's resolutions. These resolutions are promises to accomplish certain goals during the New Year. Perhaps, if the whole world made resolutions, the human race could accomplish something. Maybe, a simple thing like this could be the answer to world peace. If the nations and their leaders could make a few resolutions to help solve the world's troubles and stick to them throughout the year, then, perhaps, world peace and unity can be obtained.

Now if these nations did make resolutions they would probably run like this: England, from this nation would come a sincere promise for closer unity and friendliness amongst herself and her territories. France, Western Germany, Italy and the Benelux Countries: these nations would promise success for their Schumann plan which is a great step towards European unity and prosperity.

Asiatic countries, a promise to attempt to throw off the threat of Communism from their people. United States, our country can promise a better foreign policy and the will to find an end to the drawn-out war in Korea.

This list doesn't include all the countries in the world but the nations listed in this article serve as an example of the kind of resolutions nations could make. Now, if all the nations could make promises like these, perhaps world unity and peace could be obtained. But since things like this aren't done, the human race will have to go on hoping and praying, that in the near future some sort of solution to world problems will be reached.

SENIOR CLASS NOW WORKING ON YEARBOOK

The senior class of '53 is working diligently on the yearbook. Things are really beginning to roll. The dummy sheets have been set up to show what each page will contain. The pictures of the school, classes and special activities, taken by the Powell Studios, are ready to be sent for pre-screening. This process is cutting pictures down to the size needed and shaped for entry in the yearbook. The advertising branch is working very hard to get all advertising ready when the machines are ready to start printing.

Editors are Barbara Alsworth and Pat Jones. There are four other jobs of great importance. They are the art editors, Carol Hartwig and Barbara Westlake; photo editor, Annie Allan; literary editors, Nancy McCarville and Nancy Todd; and business manager, Pat Turnbull.

All photos or snapshots you wish to turn in for the yearbook, should be turned in to Annie Allan as soon as possible.

All League Council Plans Talent Show

Acts for the All-League Student Council Talent Show were submitted to the office last Friday, January 9. Members of the Council checked certain individuals and groups that were known to have performed before. Any other groups or individuals who would like to audition for this League Talent Show are urged to submit their names. We want a good representation from Clarenceville.

The dance band had automatically been selected as the first act to go. One more act must be chosen by the council at the audition. Schools participating will be Brighton, Clarkston, Millford, Northville, Holly and Keego Harbor.

Roy Grace, '52, is employed at the Ford Motor Company. He is taking an electronics correspondence course at home.
