NEW SECRETARY
SUPPORTS SAVINGS
BOND PROGRAM

Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey this week addressed a letter to the National and State Chairmen and Directors of the United States Savings Bonds Program advising them of his wholehearted support of the program and his intention to continue its vigorous promotion.

The text of the Secretary's letter to the chairmen and directors is as follows:

"As I assume my duties as Secretary of the Treasury, I want to send a special message to the public-spirited men and women who are engaged in the vitally important task of promoting the sale of U. S. Savings Bonds."

"It is our intention to review carefully all Treasury operations to determine what changes may be required in the interest of efficient operations, but, in advance of this review, I wish to tell all of you that President Eisenhower and I recognize fully the value of the Savings Bond Program and are prepared to give it our enthusiastic support."

"The sale of U. S. Savings Bonds promotes thrift, gives the holder a buffer against misfortunes, and makes him a partner in the government. The purchase of Government Bonds to millions of the citizens of this country is a vital part of a sound debt management policy."

"The Savings Bond program will be under the general supervision of W. Randolph Burgess and Andrew N. Overby, who will keep in touch with you.

"We appreciate what you have done and ask your cooperation as we go forward."
