

NEW DRAMA GROUP
SENDS INVITATION FOR OPEN MEETING

All interested persons are invited to an open meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Horace A. Stevens of 23511 Wilmarth (near the cemetery). The purpose of this meeting is to select a chairman and a board of directors for a permanent Little theatre group here in Farmington.

The meeting starts at 9:00 p.m. on Friday, January 30, and the coffee and cakes will be served first to insure the active and far-sighted laying of plans for the proposed adult dramatics group. The porch light will be on.

There to meet you will be such characters from the current play "Archbishops" as "Hostess" played by the "Orson Wells-lab" person of Horace Stevens; "Ritter" played by a handsome Hollywood personality via the Noble School, Gene Wally; "Spindler" played by Farmington's Mr. Peepers, Ron Jackson; "Tweller" played by industrialist Dick Stuntz; and stage manager, played by Tom Moss. Of course, the ladies in the cast will be there too, but we'll save their names for next week.

Mildred Sullivan is promoter for the production, which takes place in the Methodist Church auditorium on March 6 and 7. Catherine Cavanaugh is in charge of properties, and Jim Cavanaugh is a stage hand.

The whole thing is a play within a play, and is one barrel of fun if any of you have a flair for live theatre at all. The American Association of University Women's Arts Committee is sponsoring the activity.

Ladies' Church Group
To Meet February 3

The general monthly meeting of the Farmington W. S. C. will be held at 8:00 p.m. on Tuesday, February 3, in the Sunday School auditorium of the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Lowther, conference president, will be the speaker.

Pot Roast Always Gets a Hearty Welcome

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

BEEF pot roast is a timely menu suggestion. With good supplies of beef in the markets, most beef cuts, particularly the chuck and rump, are economical meat buys. Other pot-roasts may be the boneless sirloin tip or round steak, cut at least 2 inches thick. Look for a good covering of fat and streaks of fat in the lean of the beef for a more juicy roast.

In purchasing a pot roast, allow 1/4 pound of a bone-in roast or 1/2 pound of boneless roast for each serving. Because the leftover pot roast is so good and has so many uses, you will probably want to purchase enough for at least two meals.

Good seasoning, slow, moist-heat cooking and colorful vegetable accompaniments are the basis for a fine beef pot roast. Cover the meat with seasoned flour and brown thoroughly in a little fat in a heavy kettle or roasting pan. When browned on both sides, place the meat on a trivet or rack and add 1/4 cup of water, a thin sliced onion and 2 bay leaves.

Cover and cook either on low surface heat or in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.). After 2 hours cooking, add prepared vegetables, such as quartered onion, scraped carrots, strips of green pepper and pared, whole, small potatoes.

Cover and continue cooking 45 to 50 minutes. When ready to serve, remove the meat and vegetables to a warmed platter and thicken the meat broth with flour to make a rich flavorful gravy. Here is a variation of the conventional pot roast and vegetable combinations:

CREOLE POT ROAST

(Yield: 6-8 servings)

Three pounds beef pot roast, 2 tablespoons fat, 1 1/2 cups tomato puree, 1/4 cup olive liquid, 2 cups sliced onions, 1/4 cup sliced sliced olives.

Melt the fat in a heavy skillet. Brown the meat well on both sides. Add the tomato puree and olive liquid. Top the meat with onions and olives. Cover tightly and cook over low heat for 2 1/2 hours.

McFarlands Not Injured
In California Accident

Word was received on Monday by Mrs. Pat Meyerlees that her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McFarland, former owners of McFarland Greenhouse in Farmington, were uninjured in a California automobile accident.

The McFarland automobile was demolished when struck by an oil truck, but its occupants escaped without a scratch in the accident which occurred on January 26. The McFarlands, who have been vacationing in the West, expect to fly home in several days.

Lt. Dan M. Guy, Jr., of Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, returned home to attend the engagement announcement party of his sister, Margaret.

Polio Victims Need Expert Care.
Sometimes Cost Is $18 Per Day

A great many people in the United States are condemned to imprisonment each year although they have committed no crime. They are the iron lung victims of polio.

Although at one time a patient in an iron lung faced almost certain permanent confinement, the prospect for persons stricken down in the past two years is considerably brighter, thanks to the March of Dimes.

Much progress in improving a patient's chance of liberation from breathing in the iron lung has been made, according to a report by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

A spot survey of America's respirator residents revealed that of 259 long-term patients being treated at five respirator centers supported by the March of Dimes, 81 have been freed during the past two years from tank type iron lungs to other less-confining breathing devices. An additional 42 have been released from all types of artificial respiration, while all but 14 others enjoy prospects of at least partial liberation.

The survey also disclosed that the majority of respirator patients under 20 years of age were boys, while most of those between 20 and 35 were women. Medical authorities will hazard no explanation for this baffling statistic, the March of Dimes organization said.

Of every hundred polio patients living in respirators, 15 have been confined for three years or longer, 13 for two to three years, while 15 have been respirator patients for one to two years, the report revealed.

The average iron lung patient spends 16 hours each day in his iron home. One out of four can rely partially on a chest respirator or a rocking bed for a portion of the breathing assistance he needs.

While some of these cases, especially those who require 24-hour nursing service, cost the March of Dimes as much as $50 per day, the average is $18 every 24 hours. A respirator weighs 600 pounds and, without extras, costs $1,500.

Savory pot roast with vegetables, an ideal cold weather meal.

Serve with hot fluffy rice in true Creole style. If gravy is made with the pot roast use only 1 tablespoon flour mixed with 1/4 cup cold water for each cup of broth. A teaspoon of curry powder mixed with 1/4 cup water, a few shakes of pepper sauce, and a dash of Worcestershire sauce will give added evidence of the Southern influence.

ADVISE KEEPING
CURTAINS AWAY
FOR MORE LIGHT

"Do you know that the light from a window is cut by one third when both side draperies and heavy curtains are used?" asks Mary Shipley of the textiles, clothing and related arts department at Michigan State College.

Miss Shipley goes on to point out that most rooms can ill afford to lose that much light. As a solution, she suggests using draperies that extend out over the wall, which allows more light to enter and also makes the window look larger and gives a more spacious feeling to the room.

A new trend today is to combine the class curtain and drapery panels into one by using a sheer print fabric, says Miss Shipley.

GRANDMA LYNCH
SEEKS DEGREE
FROM MICH. STATE

Mrs. Augusta M. Lynch, after seeing her fifth and last child graduate from Michigan State College in December, is now realizing a life-long ambition — to work for a bachelor's degree of her own.

Mrs. Lynch, a 72-year-old grandmother of ten, is as spry and quick-witted as a 50-year-old. She is a resident of Custer, Michigan.

Registrar Robert S. Linton said that Mrs. Lynch is enrolled in general business, majoring in insurance and real estate.

Mrs. Lynch has had at least one child enrolled at Michigan State continuously since 1932, with the exception of the World War II period. She said that by the time she gets her degree, the next generation — her grandchildren — should be ready to start in at MSU.

After her husband died in 1935, Mrs. Lynch admits that "keeping the kids in college was sort of tough." She took in boarders to foot the bill.

She says there is a good possibility that she will enter the insurance business in Custer once she receives her degree.

As for social life, Mrs. Lynch is going to attend as many functions as possible — providing, of course, that suitable effort is available.

One date definitely on the calendar is for the 1953 J-Hop with Registrar Linton. When Mrs. Lynch told Linton about a year ago of her intention to enroll, he said: "If you do, I'll take you to the J-Hop." She's holding him to his word.

Clarenceville P.T.A.
Features Safety Meeting

The Clarenceville P. T. A. featured a safety meeting at the high school auditorium on Tuesday, January 29, and Mr. Clyde R. Haskell, chairman of the educational division of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce, had charge of the main program.

The main part of Mr. Haskell's talk brought out the idea that the state issues drivers' licenses to persons who can qualify and that it is only correct that these licenses be revoked as a result of violations.

The importance of drivers being covered by public liability insurance was also stressed by the speaker. Mr. Haskell's colored slides of actual accidents dramatically told the story of the results of careless driving.

Following the regular program a panel composed of Mr. Maurice Protengeler and Mr. Roy Satterlee and Kenneth Jacobson and Janet Loomis met with Haskell to persuate the evening's program.

After a short business meeting the group held a social period and refreshments were served by mothers of the third grade students.

CUB
CAPERS

The date for the Cub Scouts of Pack 45 to attend the Shrine Circus has been changed to February 3. One hundred and fifteen tickets have been obtained. The Pack committee wishes to express its appreciation to the Kiwanis for providing transportation for the Cubs.

Since the February theme is the Family, most of the Den is busy making centerpieces, place cards and working up stunts for the Blue and Gold Banquet to be held in the Methodist Church basement February 19 at 8:30 p.m. sharp.

The entire family is welcome. A father from each Den will give coffee and dessert provided by the Pack committee. Reservations must be in a week before.

We read something in the past week that might encourage some Den Mothers some place. Most of the time you are too busy and interested to need encouragement, but sometimes when you haven't been, or seem to be, by small boys scuffling and smearing glue over furniture that doesn't need it, think of this. Two of the results of working with Cubs are almost immediate and self-evident — learning how to work with a community group and how to get the best work out of other adults. This is worthwhile. But working with the boys is the most worthwhile of all, providing the influence, the chance and incentive to accomplish better things; helping a boy learn to be a better boy and eventually a better man. Makes you feel good, doesn't it?
