

COLLEGE OFFICIALS SPECIFY NEEDS OF ANTICIPATED ENROLLMENT TREND.

Enrollments in Michigan's colleges and universities will more than double during the next 17 years.

This is the prediction of the Michigan Council of State College Presidents, headed by Dr. Steven C. Dillman, president of Michigan College of Mining and Technology.

Dr. Dillman said that this will come as a result of a tremendous increase in the number of Michigan births and a steady rise in the percentage of the college-age population who attend college.

The publicly-supported colleges will have to assume the greatest share of this new enrollment. It is expected that student populations at state institutions will rise from 69,610 in 1952 to 150,208 in 1970.

And 1970 — though it may seem a long way off — will be the year when last year's babies will be college freshmen. Dr. Dillman warns.

In order to do a satisfactory job in training these students, Dr. Dillman points out that the state's colleges must depend on the Michigan Legislature to supply them with substantially larger annual appropriations, both for operation and for buildings.

In terms of 1952 dollars, Michigan's public colleges will need:

1. Increased funds for operations, climbing from 36.5 million in 1952 to 48 million in 1960 and $2 million in 1970.
2. Ten million dollars' worth of new classroom and laboratory buildings constructed every year, now through 1970.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Willet and their daughter Joanne are leaving soon for a vacation stay at their cabin in northern Michigan.

Sincerely Yours.

Dear Sir:

I saw recently, in one of the daily papers, where some cities have dog ordinances because some owners of these animals allow their dogs to become nuisances.

It seems to me that Farmington would do well to have an ordinance which would prohibit people from keeping dogs that do an excessive amount of barking.

I know a lot of residents on Oakland land would be exceedingly happy if such a thing happened, and no doubt there are other places where people experience the same trouble.

Nobody is looking for trouble, but we are all entitled to peace and quiet, especially when we try to sleep. One would think the owners of these dogs would be ashamed to harbor a nuisance, but since they don't, why don't they move to the country? Yes, we live in a free country, but that does not mean freedom to annoy everybody.

MILBURN P. ANDERSON

"The record of the MEA during the first century of its existence has been outstanding in terms of service to education and the profession. Now with the new plan of reorganization in operation, providing local chapters and smaller regions, a new era of professional growth and activity will take place."

So states Milburn P. Anderson, who steps into office as president of the Michigan Educational Association on July 1.

Anderson, born in Cadillac and educated in the public schools there, has held his present position in Berkley since 1939. He is a graduate of Kalamazoo College, and received his Master's degree from the University of Michigan. He continued graduate study at the latter institution and at Wayne University.

A member of the Michigan and National Education Associations, Michigan Association of School Administrators, American Association of School Administrators, Oakland County Superintendents Association, National School Public Relations Association, and the Association of School Business Officials, Anderson has been active in community as well as educational affairs. He is a charter president of the Berkley Rotary Club and past president of the Berkley Exchange Club. He has been an active member of the

New Fishing Booklet Published By State

"Fishing in Michigan", a 32-page booklet covering all aspects of Michigan angling, may be obtained free by writing either the Michigan Tourist Council or the conservation department.

The booklet was published jointly by the two state agencies to present a pocket-sized summary of fish types, fish hooks, baits, camping, and stream, lake and "deep sea" and ice fishing as carried on in Michigan.

Text of the three-color, glossy finished, 8 x 9 booklet was written by department fish specialists.

A central two-page fishing map indicates location of fish types by regions as found within the state and types of baits generally used in taking the fish are listed in the text.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Staman of Twelve Mile Road are announcing the arrival of a seven pound daughter born July 10 at the Women's Hospital in Detroit. The date is also the tenth wedding anniversary of the Stamans.

Week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chalmer Lakefahr were their son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Manley Cox and son Fredrick of Dearborn.

David Bush is spending the week with his grandparents at Inlay City.

Mrs. James Cox is staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Howard, while finishing her studies at the University of Michigan. She drives to her classes each day.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Resin returned Friday from a one-week visit with her sister, Mrs. Ethel Kleinschmidt of Oshkosh, Wisconsin. While there they enjoyed a number of trips to parts of Wisconsin and Michigan's upper peninsula.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Resin were their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Green of Mt. Clemens.

State To Replace Tower Blown Down In Storm

Another forest fire watch tower will be set up at the site of one blown down during a windstorm near Berghold last week, the conservation department reports.

The new tower, presently being used at a secondary watch point, will be disassembled and transported to its new location eight miles north of the Ontonagon County town.

The tower that was knocked down, a 100-foot steel structure, was more than 20 years old, department officials say. No one was injured when the tower tumbled; the watchman had gone off duty for the night.

The entire structure was destroyed; one leg pulled completely from the ground and the other three were ripped loose.

FRIENDS:

For approximately 6 years we have served this area with SOFT WATER SERVICE and have thousands of satisfied customers who will attest to the many advantages of Filter-Soft Service as compared to owning a permanent softener unit. Simple mathematics will prove the economy of SOFT WATER SERVICE, not to mention the freedom from care and bother in trying to service your "own".

EFFICIENCY, ECONOMY AND ENJOYABLE LIVING DICTATE THE USE OF SOFT WATER SERVICE!

Nothing to buy — no capital investment — no depreciation — no extra chores around the house — just a low monthly service charge that is less than it will cost you to maintain your own softener.
