UP ON TOP...

Wrap and go turban.

Aside from looking great, beautifully wrapped turbans can really be a vacation lifesaver. This up-dated look of an all-time classic is appropriate for almost any activity. It looks right on trains, busses and planes. It's comfortable for car travel and shopping. And it's marvelous for dining or entertaining.

The right scarf wrapped in the right way will even take you through a cocktail party or formal evening. It's really a go everywhere, do-everything fashion, and a great cover-up for not quite perfect hair.

Before you get started with your turban, it's a good idea to spray your scarf with fabric protector. Spray it thoroughly, then let dry. This will protect it from both water and oily stains, a smart safeguard for scarves and most anything else you can wear, and great protection in a sudden, summer rainstorm!

NOW YOU'RE READY to wrap. Holding an oblong scarf behind your head, draw the ends forward right above your forehead and cross. Then bring them back and tuck them in. Secure the loose ends with a hat pin, concealed clip or bobby pin.

Another great wrapped scarf look is the "pirate." Start by placing the center of an oblong scarf on your head, covering just a bit of your forehead. Now draw the ends back, slightly to one side, gather the rest of the scarf in, then knot. Add a flower or pin and you've got a totally individualized look.

Enjoying your vacation and looking great while doing it isn't always easy.

There never seems to be enough time, for example, between a day at the beach and an evening on the town to get yourself together. This can really be a problem, especially when it comes to hair.

THIS SUMMER, fashion provides a beautiful way out if your hair isn't just so. It's the turban, the head covering of the year. Designers have been using turbans extensively, well-dressed ladies have taken to them enthusiastically and smart gals in cities all over the world are converting their scarf collections into versatile turban wardrobes.

Even long-hair enthusiasts are feeling the urge to cut. Short hair has never looked quite so feminine or appealing. The new head-shaping cuts do wonders for a gal's good looks. Bangs, those old flattering favorites, are back, but turning up softer and flirtier than ever before. Hair is looking alive, gleaming and healthy. Faces are being framed with a softness we haven't seen in years!

If you enjoy swimming, tennis, hiking, barbecuing, or just about any summer activity, you will appreciate how quick and easy to care for the latest soft coils are. A new, no-fuss style will free you to spend more time on your favorite warm weather activities.

so will practically guarantee weeks of care-free hair beauty. Washing and setting at home are a breeze, and when you use hair set tape, setting becomes even easier.

Hair set tape does everything clips can do, but it does the job better. It shapes and molds hair without leaving marks, dents or ridges. Pin curls, waves, bangs turn out perfectly every time. Hair set tape is really a time saver and so convenient to take along on trips, vacations, beach days and outings. You will find it a boon to your summer beauty life.
