THE MICHIGAN MIRROR

today would probably be $35 million.
Only way conservation officials can see to get extra money is through new charges or fee plan. Hence their support of ideas.

Public reaction in Minnesota state parks will be observed by all interested parties. Fee plan for state parks was put in effect there for the first time this summer. If a sizeable amount is raised without much public objection, it will be a strong argument to start practice in Michigan.

National parks in both United States and Canada have admission charges which are generally well accepted by the public. Several states besides Michigan are now considering fee plans to help finance recreational facilities.

Fairly or unfairly Michigan's Justice of the Peace system has long been attacked as inadequate. Justices have been charged with hearing matters which resulted, according to critics, from ignorance or unethical practices. Included are "paying off" arresting officers, levying excessive fines and court costs.

A "conspiracy" exists to do away with Justices altogether, charges "Official Michigan", publication of the Michigan Justices of the Peace Association. Listed by the magazine as a part of the movement to abolish the present system are "some few prosecutors" and some members of the Michigan Bar Association.

In defense of their offices the Justice association states that its members, themselves, have tried to improve the status of Justice Courts. They invite all critics, particularly the Bar Association, to join with them to accomplish the task.

Three plans are listed by the Justices for consideration. The "Certified Justice Plan", which has been defeated by several Legislatures in spite of statements by negative voters that "it's a good law". This plan would set up standards to be met by any who wish to become a Justice; provide a "certifying board" to judge applicant's qualifications.

A second plan, offered by Saginaw Attorney John D. MacKenzie would permit a Justice to handle cases where defendants plead guilty. Not guilty pleas would be handled by a new type court, presided over by an attorney paid on a per diem basis. The Justice would act as court clerk.

Justices cannot be expected to support a third plan which would abolish their courts completely. County courts would be created instead, with judges appointed by the Governor subject to the approval of groups of local attorneys.

Just a REMINDER!

By JUDGE HARRY FARMER

The Special Election on the "No Hunting" Ordinance, set for October 2, is creating township-wide interest. It should result in a comparatively large vote being cast.

A very active Citizens' Committee, made up of representatives of most of the local civic and improvement organizations, has been working diligently to bring the issue to the personal attention of the electorate. Several organizations, at their regular meetings, are discussing the measure. Michigan Sportsmen's organizations, represented by the Detroit Sportsmen's Congress, are presenting the hunters' attitudes and feelings.

On Monday, September 28, the North Farmington District Civic Association is planning an open meeting at which a comprehensive discussion of the proposed issue will be conducted. Speakers representing both the sportsmen and the residents will be heard.

Mr. Frank E. Barch, executive secretary of the Detroit Sportsmen's Congress, and Mr. Edward Moseman, a resident of the township, will be the principal speakers.

We understand that a formal invitation to this meeting will be published in this newspaper next week.

Keep the date in mind — Monday, September 28, 8:00 p.m., at the West Bloomfield Township Hall on Orchard Lake Road, about a mile north of 15 Mile Road.

May I suggest again that you cast your vote in October 5.

Health Group Plans Talk By Dr. Brown

On October 8 the Livonia Health Guild will open its 1953-54 season with a luncheon and meeting at Northville State Hospital.

Dr. Philip N. Brown, medical superintendent of the hospital, will be the principal speaker of the day, his topic being "Psychiatric Side-Lights".

Attendance is by ticket only, and reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Lothman at Livonia 6623.

World War II.

7. If the national debt limit is lifted, the billions of dollars that will be borrowed and spent by the government will be just that much more in taxes that must be paid. Thus the lifting of the debt limit would make it all the more unlikely that lasting tax reductions could be made.

We citizens are confronted with a simple choice: Shall taxes be increased or shall government spending be trimmed to balance the budget? In a very real sense, spending more borrowed money is slapping a heavier mortgage on every American's income. If the government spends more the taxpayers must pay more — with interest. Talk to your Congressman, because Congress will be asked to increase the legal debt limit in January.

In next week's column — an alternative to deficit spending.
