EDITORIALS: It's Our Opinion

The Eye-Catching . . .

land use maps being displayed by the City Planning Commission seem to be doing a pretty good job at attracting eyes. The map displays at the Farmington State Bank, Municipal Building and Nezbeth's Store are a part of a continuing program by the Planning Commission to better inform the public and at the same time stimulate interest in future planning.

Within a few weeks, this information program will be broadened to include individual discussion of the land use map and the proposed revised zoning ordinance. Persons who are interested in the future development of the city will be invited to visit the Municipal Building and go over the proposals with members of the Commission.

It is important from a standpoint of efficiency and satisfaction to have the proposal as complete as possible before it is turned over to the Council for formal action. For this reason, we sincerely hope that the citizens will take advantage of the opportunity being afforded them. Future planning should be of major concern to all of us.

A Gaping Hole . . .

in Farmington's front line is finally being filled. It should do much to strengthen the entire area and will serve as a starting point for a major offensive in regaining lost ground.

Last week official announcement was made of the formation of a merchant's organization in the Farmington community. While the purposes and policies of the new organization are still being worked out, it is clear that the primary objective of the group will be the over-all improvement of commerce in the Farmington area.

This group, through united effort, can stimulate business, can assist in the development of a more complete shopping area, can provide badly needed services which are available in other areas, can create an essential liaison between the merchants and the local governments and can meet the competitive forces which are drawing business from the community.

The formation of a merchant's organization in the Farmington area is, in our opinion, one of the most encouraging steps which has been taken in many years. We sincerely hope that all of the businessmen in the community will join in this united effort to fill the gaping hole in Farmington's front line.

out of Washington this week, which is somewhat of an oddity in itself of late. The news is in the form of a decision by the Senate Investigating Subcommittee to wind up the Army - McCarthy hearings within a week or so.

The way the proceedings, if you can call 'em that, have been going the past several weeks, it isn't a bit too soon. It is amazing sometimes how far supposedly intelligent people will go to make themselves ridiculous. The recent show put on by Senator McCarthy is not only immaterial to the purpose of the hearing, but is downright vicious.

We need crusaders . . . men of courage and determination . . . who are willing to fight for what they think is right. But we don't need men who, in anger or in show, toss away all sense of common decency in an effort to win a point or a round.

Michigan Mirror INTERPRETING THE NEWS

An enemy invasion, which threatens to spread all over Michigan, is being combated in the central part of the state. If present tactics are successful, the threat will be eliminated.

The foe in this case is the gypsy moth. Insignificant sounding, perhaps, but known to be one of the most destructive of insects. In its larvae, or caterpillar stage, the gypsy moth satisfies its voracious appetite on the green leaves of trees, shrubs and other leafy plants.

State officials were faced with the urgent problem of what to do. The choice was to immediately start a program involving spraying and other precautions in cooperation with federal authorities, or face a federal quarantine under which every material that stands on wheels would be inspected and certified before it could leave the area.

"Never in the 30 years that I have worked in this field did I see such splendid cooperation between various branches of the government and the community," stated C. A. Boyer, chief of the Bureau of Plant Industry for the Michigan Department of Agriculture. Boyer told the story of how the gypsy moth came to be found for the first time west of Pennsylvania.

"A peculiar bug is raising havoc with my plants," reported a Lansing housewife to the city forestry office. "Will you tell me what office."

LOOKING AHEAD

What our children of today are taught will determine the way of life this nation will have in the years ahead. Much of the teaching could be more important to the future welfare of the people of America than the substance of the education that will be given to the 25,000,000 youngsters who will enroll in our schools next September.

John W. Studebaker, chairman of the Scholastic Magazine's editorial board, formed by S. Commissioner of Education, commends Dr. Schinnerer's statement, and I hope it will be read by all parents and teachers by every-where.

"The answer, in my opinion, lies in a continuous effort to inculcate in children, from the kindergarten through the high school, the basic and very simple facts of economics," Dr. Schinnerer wrote. "It is not directed just to all teachers, it is directed to all parents because the child needs to be done cannot be done by just the teachers of economics."

"There is a colossal oversupply of people in my country who do not know the basic principles of economics or how the economic laws have been repealed. We hear much about the 'boom' and 'bust' cycles in this regard and the cry is for required courses in economics. We have failed — in school and out — but the answer is not in required courses."

"No. 1. You can't get something for nothing. Too many things are given away. This is the principle of gambling and most speculation. Giving a higher mark in school than is earned is proving that the student can get something for nothing. That is bad business. When parents urge no homework, they somehow expect something for nothing. One gets out of school work about what he puts into it. Only parasites get something for nothing."

"No. 2. You can't spend more than you have and remain solvent. The longer such a system is allowed to exist, the more impossible it becomes to keep afloat. Know anyone who trades in a mortgaged car on a new one and has both a new car and a higher mortgage? The woods are full of such people. It is bad economics. It's somewhat like a drug addiction. This applies equally to a person, a business, or a government."

"No. 3. You cannot equalize ability by a handicap system. It is wrong to expect as much from a youngster with a low I.Q. as from a youngster with a high I.Q. It is also wrong to set up handicaps so that they come out even. Leave that for the exclusive use of racing stewards. Competition still has a place in America, thank goodness, and I don't want it any other way."

"In every school day, there are numerous incidents in each student's school experience when these three fundamentals are present. Just repeatedly bringing them to the pupil's consciousness will work wonderful things. If all our people accepted these three economic axioms and lived by them, we would live in an economic paradise."

As I have written them down here, it seems to me that, Dr. Schinnerer's three fundamentals are lessons on which we all need to be re-echoed — especially in a world in which glittering promises of something for nothing are being made by the Socialists and Communists and their dupes.

Looking Back Through The Enterprise Files

Twenty-five years ago (June 20, 1929)
Tuition in the Farmington Schools will be lowered for the coming year. Reduction in the fees was decided upon by the Board of Education at its monthly meeting last Tuesday evening.

The "dead end" of Orchard Lake Road at Grand River may be opened up and extended southward in the near future from Farmington Junction over a new right-of-way, reliable reports disclose. If the road is extended straight south from Farmington Junction it would connect in Wayne County with Meritton Road, thus providing another much-needed through north-south link between Pontiac and the southwestern portion of the Detroit Metropolitan area.

The Fifth War Loan Drive, entering the third week, is still lagging with the quota asked of Farmington residents far from being reached. To stimulate sales a small folder, designed to fit a stamp book for the purchase of a $25.00 bond, will be given each person buying a $25.00 bond at the theatre beginning Friday evening this week. The leather folders are a gift from the management of the Preesie Tool and Manufacturing Company.

The new Bible school unit of the Southfield United Presbyterian Church will be dedicated Sunday, June 25. The addition consists of first and second floors and an enlarged social room in the basement.

A three-man committee, composed of members of the Farmington Township Board, has been appointed to work with the township attorney on the proposal of drafting a health ordinance for the township. Farmington Township Civic Association urged the action from Eight Mile to 12 Mile Roads and from Inkster to Orchard Lake Roads. Action is now being taken.
