The importance and dignity of the American worker were first recognized officially in our land with the establishment in 1903, of the U. S. Department of Commerce and Labor. The role of the worker received even greater significance in 1913, when the Secretary of Labor was made an independent office.

Along The Creek In Woodcreek

The Woodcreek Men's Association held its regular monthly meeting Thursday, September 29, at the home of Lorne and Vera Blainfield of Old Colony Road. After the business of the evening was finished, Mrs. Spillman and Mrs. Trippense helped Vera with the refreshments.

The Women's Association met Tuesday, October 4, at the home of Ethel Nelson on Wellington Road. Allyce Kinney and Alice Bileu brought the dessert. Besides sewing cancer pads the Woodcreek Women undertook an additional sewing project that of sewing stuffed clown dolls for hospitalized children. These will be distributed during Christmas time through the Red Cross.

Several of our young Woodcreek men and women are settling down to another year of campus life. Dick Wheeler, Jr., of Westbrook Road has returned to the University of Michigan, where he is in his seventh year of study for his degree in dentistry.

Lucy Motukua niece of the Norwalks of Wellington Road, has begun started business study at Western Michigan College. She got off to a good start by celebrating her 18th birthday in the "dorm" on September 22.

Elizabeth Ann Merschak has decided to live at home this year. The location of Madison College in Livonia makes commuting very convenient. "Liz" is in her sophomore year, majoring in home economics.

Nancy Fisher, who graduated from Stevens last June, is now studying at Cranbrook Academy of Fine Arts. She is majoring in jewelry design and metal smithing.

Paul Elvidge also goes to the U. of M. He is in his third year studying law.

Dynda, who is feeling much better these days, is taking correspondence work from the U. of M. and receiving full college credits.

The McCarthys of Wellington Road did some unique entertaining last Thursday night. Under a beautiful full moon, they cooked a delicious outdoor barbecue supper for several of their friends.

DANCING CLASSES START THIS WEEK AT NORTHWEST Y-W

The Northwest Young Women's Association announces the opening of a series of square and round dancing classes, to be held on alternate Thursday evenings, starting October 6, at Carpenter's Hall, 2521 Grand River. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Brennan, popular square dance callers, are in charge of the series and will give instructions in new dances as well as old-time favorites. Intermediate and advanced calls will be featured during the latter part of the evening. The hours are from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m.

There are also a few openings in general and health education classes, such as bridge, cake decorating, china painting, Christmas decorations, copper enamel jewelry, drawing and sketching, first aid, interior decorating, millinery, oil painting, parliamentary law, bowling, trimmastics, and the Junior Girls Saturday Fun program, which includes swimming instructions. Further information may be obtained by calling the Y-W office at KE. 3-6910.

Townline News Mrs. Frazer Hulst

Entertaining the West Farmington Farm Bureau at its September meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Green of Drake Road.

The meeting was called to order at 8:30 p.m. with twenty families represented. A talk was given by Wendell Green on "Cargo Preferences." Mrs. Grace Rexin, women's delegate, reported on the last women's committee meeting.

Resolutions were then read from the National Resolution Committee to determine the group's reaction to Farm Bureau policies. Harry McCracken told the group of the work being done on spraying Japanese beetles in the township.

Officers were elected for the group. Wendell Green was named district leader and Wallace Williams was selected as alternate. Ronald Green was picked as minute man; James Inman, chairman; Alberta Butler, vice chairman; Iona Howard, insurance secretary; Helen Williams, secretary-treasurer; Grace Rexin, women's delegate; Richard Heikler and Edith Knapp, recreation leaders; Mary Green, song leader; Iona Howard, Grace Rexin and Helen Williams, roster committee.

A discussion on the purposes and activities of a community farm bureau was led by James Inman.

Miss Mary Burley of Halsted Road entertained four girl friends at a pajama party at her home recently.

Members of the Jolly Eight Pedro Club gave a surprise birthday party at the home of Mrs. Grace Rexin on her birthday. It was also Mrs. Hunt's birthday. The afternoon was spent in playing cards. Honors went to Mrs. Norris Hill, Mrs. Eunice Morris and Mrs. Dora Jones. Mrs. Hunt and Mrs. Bingham served ice cream and cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Manley Cox and son, Freddie, Mrs. Elizabeth Bunge of Dearborn and Mrs. Catherine of Detroit were at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers Lukefahr for a birthday dinner honoring Mr. Cox on his recently birthday.

Ball-Type Deer Tags To Be Issued This Year

Deer hunters will receive the old original ball-type deer seals when they buy hunting licenses this fall. Last year, a flat, square seal was used, but the low bid by the seal makers of the ball-type seal.
