

Local Kiwanis Club Pays Tribute To Newspapers
The Farmington Kiwanis Club, at its regular meeting Tuesday evening at the Salem Evangelical Church, paid special tribute to American newspapers in honor of National Newspaper Week, October 1 to 8.

A special program was presented, featuring Jake Albert of the Detroit News public relations department as principal speaker. He spoke on the topic "Freedom of Speech and Freedom of the Press." Representatives of the Detroit Times and The Farmington Enterprise were also in attendance at the meeting.

One of the hardest secrets for a man to keep is his opinion of himself.

COUNTY RED CROSS HANDLES NUMEROUS SERVICE CASES
A total of 1895 cases were given attention by the home service department of Oakland County Chapter of American Red Cross during the summer months. It was revealed by Harold S. Brady, home service chairman.

Brady points out an efficient use of funds by the chapter. Only 25 cases were given financial assistance. Assistance amounted to $1,408, according to Brady, but a loan repayment of $808 was received during June, July and August. Brady adds that the total expenditure of chapter funds of $448 is a good showing.

Major classifications of help given by home service include verification or extension of leave of servicemen, counseling in personal and family problems, general reporting for the military concerning servicemen and their families and limited service which means information given out to a family not involving actual case work. Out of the total $1,408, Brady says that $1,341 was used to aid active servicemen and their families. No money is given to civilians.

Mr. George McCormick of Birmingham, chairman of social welfare aides, reported that the chapter had the assistance of 39 volunteers during the summer months who worked 536 hours.

Noted Librarian To Speak Here Monday, Oct. 10
One of the country's most distinguished librarians, Dr. Mary Duncan Carter, will speak here at a special meeting of the Farmington Friends of the Library at 8 o'clock Monday evening, October 10, at the Farmington High School Library.

Dr. Carter will relate some of her varied experiences, especially in connection with the Farmington Public Library is invited to attend. Dr. Carter will relate some of her varied experiences, especially in connection with the Farmington Public Library is invited to attend.

The subject of library organization of special interest to city and township residents today because of the increasing number of libraries being constructed a modern, adequate library for Farmington in the near future. In her capacity as library consultant, Dr. Carter travels during several months of the year so she can keep abreast of the most modern methods of library organization and management.

People all over the world have a universal desire to read books, and want free libraries to satisfy their thirst for knowledge. Dr. Carter emphasizes. Gradually, free libraries will become a worldwide institution, she believes. In the years between 1945 and 1950 Dr. Carter was faced with an interesting variety of problems, in language differences to hostile political minorities, when she organized United States-operated libraries throughout the Near East. These United States Information Service libraries, with shelves well stocked with American books and magazines, are currently operating in most foreign countries to give people all over the world an opportunity to learn more about this country.

Auto Accidents

Andrew was riding horseback down Ridgewood when the horse she was riding was frightened by a dog. Unable to stop or turn the galloping horse, he turned the galloping horse at the Eileen Mile Road intersection, it went over the hood of a car driven by William Nusebaum of Detroit and threw her from the saddle.

Farmington Resale Shop To Open As Soon As Building Can Be Found

At a meeting on September 29, representatives of 11 Farmington churches and service groups made final plans for a Farmington Resale Shop. With planning now complete, the Resale Shop is ready to make an appeal for a store building, store furnishings and a starting inventory of used but still usable merchandise.

When the Farmington Resale Shop opens, its goods and services will be available to everyone. Customers will be able to purchase merchandise outright, or for a small fee, trade-in articles in good condition which they now have for other items. The latter will be especially handy for obtaining children's clothing in progressively larger sizes, without the usual heavy outlay of cash for new outfits several times a year.

Council Approves

(Continued from Page 1A) quest of the Council, recommended that the City go along with the proposed interceptor because of the marked saving involved. The engineer stated that the direct connection would cost approximately $280,000, while the City's cost would be about $114,000 under the interceptor plan.

A motion was made an approved accepting the plat of the Glen View Subdivision subject to the receipt of a letter of approval from the Planning Commission and compliance with the Plat Ordinance. The subdivision, located north of Shiawassee and east of Locust Drive, lies partly within the Township. The City Council has approved the annexation of the affected four acres and the Township Board has authorized the detachment of the property.

The Council agreed to authorize the construction of a sidewalk along the north side of Shiawassee and the east side of Power at property level to connect with the existing sidewalk in the Bel-Aire Subdivision. The City Manager was directed to contact Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bickley, owners of the property, regarding the moving of their barn to clear the sidewalk right-of-way along Power Road.

Waterfowl Hunters Asked To Aid National Survey

Waterfowl hunters are being asked to cooperate in a federal survey designed to protect future waterfowl populations. Purchasers of duck stamps this year will receive postcards for reporting their hunting activity and success. The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, by compiling the cards, will learn if the proper harvest of surplus birds is being made. Too large or too small a harvest would affect future hunting.

Demand Action

(Continued from Page 1A) transported to the building. Gadbad was stated after the meeting that he had no intention of recommending that the Gill Road or the Middlebelt Road Schools be closed. Following Gadbad's remarks, Judge Arthur E. Moore presented his opinions on the procedures to be followed in making the project a reality. He emphasized that it would be a big job but that some presented a break-down of the total estimated cost of the project, which has been set at $1,600,000. He stated that the project could be financed over a three year period, thus spreading the cost. Schimmel suggested that the financing be handled on a combination special assessment and revenue bond basis.

Lawrence Pate, engineer, explained the results of the recent survey in which certain proposed well sites were suggested. He stated that it might be necessary to drill two or three wells to secure sufficient water supply for the system. A number of property owners in Ridgewood Manor Subdivision, where one of the suggested well sites is located, strongly protested the action of the Board in approving an option for the property. Charles Kirk and Gerald P. Nolan charged that the Association was not advised of the Board's intention to drill test wells in a highly restricted residential area. They pointed out that the Board will have to pay $5,000 for the site if water is secured while at the same time the site is located well within a half mile of the location which could be tapped without the cost of drilling. The property owners also expressed concern over the effect the proposed wells would have on their own water supply.

Just prior to the closing of the meeting Ernest Blanchard, Township Supervisor, agreed to call a special Board meeting Thursday evening for the purpose of discussing the problem with the Water Committee.

Township Studies

(Continued from Page 1A) very could be made in about 20 days. Action was also taken to appoint a special committee for the purpose of facilitating the proposed water system. Members of the committee are Ward Paige and Mrs. Elsie Avery from the Township Board; Robert Schulkins and Mrs. Philip Newberg of the Water Committee; and Judge Arthur E. Moore. The committee was established upon the recommendation of Judge Moore.

Board Expected

(Continued from Page 1A) at the district library. Action on the proposal has been delayed pending clarification of the proposed 1-mile tax levy which has been suggested as a means of financing the Township's portion of the project. Questions have been raised on the length of time the levy is to be imposed and whether it is to be spread on the county or state equalization. The proposal will have to be approved by the voters before it can be levied.

WE'RE IN...
Jest like the big kids down town. Be sure you notice our big Defiance food sale ad in this paper - a whole great big page of it. It really is a good time to stock up if you've got a place to store the stuff. Then somethin' else we're gonna have kinda special is fresh oysters shipped in direct to us from Maryland. Can't give yuh the price of them on account of they ain't here yet - but they will be by this week end. We'll also have more of those fresh fryin' chickens and if yuh don't want yer chicken fried we'll have fresh dressed stewers. Guess they didn't sell all their corned beef cause here it is agin fer 49c a lb. You know they really do make this corned beef right here at the store with their own little grubby fists. Could we kinda slip that Vlasic butter in here fer 59c a lb? Fer yer quickie meals this week there's fresh ground fresh beef at 3 lbs. fer a dollar or how about some morning boiling a fresh beef heart fer 19c a lb. You know that makes a mighty tasty sandwich with a little horseradish on it fer a lunch box. We have some of the hottest horseradish that you ever tasted. Fer Sunday roastin' have you had one of those boneless veal rolls lately? They're just 49c a lb. this week end - or there's U. S. choice pot roasts fer 39c a lb. You see this is all meat stuff - no groceries - so be sure and look for the big Defiance ad if yuh wanna get some good stuff cheap - woncha??? We'll be seein' yuh, won't we? Come on in and look around.
