lections from these banks will probably not be enough to meet the civil needs unless all qualified donors turn out for the drive. The prospective donors are reminded that blood takes 48 hours to process - before it can be made available to those who need it. It is necessary also to have donors at every mobile to get all types of blood.

Dr. Hauer points out that it would be bad to repeat the short-age of type O blood that was experienced over the holidays.
