HOLD FARM BUREAU INSTITUTE AT CLARKSTON JAN. 31

The first Farm Bureau Institute to be held in Oakland County was conducted at the Clarkston Community Building on Monday, January 31. The purpose of the Institute was to permit the various committees of the Farm Bureau to organize their program for the year.

Over 70 Farm Bureau members were present, representing 75 of the organization's committees. The morning was spent in discussing committee activities. Following the noon luncheon which was served by the Farm Bureau women, each committee reported her findings and there was a general discussion by the entire group.

Assisting the local Farm Bureau folks from the state organization were Marley Drew, regional representative; Eldon Smith, coordinator of farm supplies; Don Kinsey, coordinator of education and research; and Marshall Warren, area representative of Oak County.

The Farm Bureau in Oakland County has a membership of over 1,000 in 29 community groups throughout Oakland County.

COUNTY FILLS DEFENSE BLOOD QUOTA FOR YEAR

Ernest K. Bauer, Oakland County blood chairman, reports that this region has fulfilled its contracts for defense shipments for the fiscal year ending June 30, and that the regional quota has thus been reduced.

The region, which includes Wayne, Oakland, Washtenaw, St. Clair and Macomb Counties, has set its sights on a goal of 20,016 pints of blood for the period of January through June.

This means a 500-pint goal per month for Oakland County which uses about 485 pints per month.
