

Catholic Scouts Receive Awards

Two boys from Troop 119, Our Lady of Sorrows, Farmington, participated in a Boy Scout Hour at Blessed Sacrament Cathedral in Detroit on Sunday and were presented with Ad Altare Dei awards. Boys awarded were Explorer Star Scout Gerald Badaluce and First Class Scout Harry King.

His Excellency, the most Reverend Henry E. Donnelly, Auxiliary Bishop, Archbishop of Detroit, conferred the awards on a total of 240 Scouts from 42 troops.

The Ad Altare Dei is the highest Catholic award in Scouting. It requires that a candidate be at least a First Class Scout, give a full year or 150 hours of service to the church outside of his regular attendance, have a practical knowledge of his religion, and, by his service to God, country and community, inspire others by his example.

Guests from Farmington present to witness the colorful ceremonies included Reverend John Dunn, spiritual director of Troop 119, and Scoutmaster Tom Blatter, along with Mr. and Mrs. Peter Badaluce and family of Springbrook Avenue and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. King of Valleyview.

During the meeting, interest on the submitted model of "Traffic City" which demonstrates the major problems and solutions facing virtually all U. S. communities. It was developed with the technical advice of traffic and highway engineers of the Automotive Safety Foundation, Washington, D. C.

Looking Ahead
by DR. GEORGE S. BENSON

Improvement plans such as Crossroads, Mr. Benson and his company have demonstrated a high calibre of corporate citizenship.

One other example, this one on a national scale, should be noted. In June, 1950, the United States government knew that Soviet Russia had obtained, through espionage, our secrets on the H-bomb possibility, and perhaps already had begun manufacturing the bombs. The DuPont Company officials were called in. Would they, the government asked, throw all their unique engineering resources and chemistry know-how into the building of the gigantic billion dollar Savannah River plant to make the materials for H-bombs? The answer was, yes. Du Pont built the plant in record time. As a result, our government recently announced that we were far ahead of Communist Russia in this field of decisive nuclear weapons. For all the know-how, and lending the hundreds of technical engineers to the government for the Savannah River plant construction, Du Pont charged the government $1, in addition to actual expenses. Its best men were employed over a long period without the company's profiting. This is the kind of corporate citizenship that builds our nation and keeps it strong.
