STATE PLANNING TO RECAPTURE LEAD IN LUMBER

Michigan is aiming for a high spot in U. S. production of pulp-wood, timber and other forest pro-ducts.

octs. Gradually, a number of steps

Gradually, a number of steps are being taken to bring the Wolverine State back toward the prominence it held in 1870 - 90. In those years, Michigan was tops nationally in torest production. But unlike the early days when the state's forests were stripped and the land left unplanted, the modern approach is designed to give a sustained yield of timber products. Indefinitely. The most recent slop in this direction was made in a conservation commission meeting in the stripe of the stripe of
