

Boy Scouts Of 110 Enjoy Camp-Out

Twenty-five members of Boy Scout Troop 110 spent last week end at Camp Ashtabaw. They left by bus, driven by Mr. Hiddell, at 9 a.m. Saturday. Tom Blawie, Scoutmaster, and Pete Badaluro, explorer advisor, accompanied the troop on the overnight campout. Compass reading, signaling and rope-tying were practiced by the candidates for second and first class Scouts. Outdoor cooking, a snipe hunt and games completed the day's activities. The troop attended Mass in uniform at St. Joseph's Church, Lake Orion, on Sunday morning. Considerable out-door living and instruction are some of the intangibles the boys brought home from their camping experience.

TO HOLD HOOKED RUG OPEN HOUSE IN WEST BLOOMFIELD

A hooked rug open house will be held at West Bloomfield Town Hall on Orchard Lake Road on Thursday, April 7, from 2:00 to 9:00 p.m., sponsored by the Oakland County Extension Service of Michigan State College. On display will be a variety of hooked rugs made at Extension classes last year, and several rugs made by experienced "hookers" under other teachers. For women interested in learning this interesting craft, there will be working exhibits, with extension leaders on hand to answer questions. Mrs. Dora Looney of Pontiac is chairman of the rug exhibition committee.

Present Fourth Health Program

The Religious Education Committee of the Farmington Universalist Church will present the fourth in their current series of mental health films on Sunday evening, April 3, at 7:30 p.m. in the church auditorium, Warner and Thomas Streets. Entitled, "Social Sex Attitudes in Adolescents," the film explains that individuals differ in their development of social sex attitudes because of differing parental influence and community customs. The film follows a boy and girl through their entire adolescent experience, culminating in their marriage.

This series of well known mental health films is being presented as a service to the community and all who are interested in the problems of family life are cordially invited to attend, and to participate in the group discussion which will follow the showing of the film.
