Franklin Knolls News

EARL TEEPLES MA. 6-6533

Mrs. Lonas Franklin of Middlebelt Road received painful burns on her face, neck and arms when a stove exploded recently.

Micky and Betty Brestoff of Lochmoor had, the pleasure of a personal audience with Davy Crockett when he was in town.

The newly married Dr. and Mrs. Georzeon will be living in their home on Shrewsbury when they return from their honeymoon.

This spring was the first house-painting season for many Franklin Knolls residents. The opportunity brought many imaginations into play, causing some interesting and beautiful treatments of doors, awnings, and windows. It is well worth it to drive through and see the riot of color and design.

Wilkie and Kelsey White of Cornwall Court have been entertaining Mr. White's mother for the past week.

The speed in residential areas is 25 miles per hour by state law. Anyone going over this speed is, therefore, a violator. A word to the wise should slow the speeders down. Are you one?

Lawn sprinkling is permitted on alternate days in Franklin Knolls. Homes with even street numbers water on the even days of the month, and homes with odd street numbers water on the odd days of the month.

A road grader, working on Ward Eagle Drive in Subdivision 2 Monday afternoon, June 17, struck and cut a two-inch gas pipe. Barriades were erected and repairs started immediately. No houses in the area are occupied so no interruption of service resulted.

A number of improvements were made at the Franklin Knolls Pumping Station recently. A new coat of rust preventing paint was applied and a new lock and air vent were installed. The air vent was put in the door to relieve condensation on pipes. All fire plugs and mats were also flushed free of rust and sediment. Spare parts are now on hand in case of mechanical failure.

Tuesday morning's power failure brought the pioneer out in many Knollites. These dependent on electric alarm clocks, razors and stoves found the morning a little rough. Service was restored at noon.

Another power failure occurred Wednesday at 11:10 p.m., causing a water failure and dim lights in some areas of the Knolls. Detroit Edison men say they have now found the trouble and repaired it. Residents were without power for two hours Wednesday.

Mrs. Ruth Corey of Middlebelt Road had a surprise visit of six overnight guests from Bolivar, Ohio, on Wednesday night.

Franklin Knolls teenagers entered a dancing contest at the Jo-Cornell Dance Studios in Detroit. Jim Long is their instructor. The contest was a climax to a series of lessons given in Franklin Knolls this past winter.

First prize went to Joey Coffman and Sandra Monje, and second prize was awarded to Mike Walker and Kay Kessler. Mike also received a good attendance medal.

Other dancers taking part in the contest were Dennis Coffman and Pat Steinberger, and Jerry Gramet and Jo Ann Walker. Jackie Levin's sprained ankle prevented her entry and that of her partner, Jim Schmidt.

George Sirko recently took Mrs. Grabowski of Lochmoor to the hospital for the arrival of her new son.

On Wednesday, May 25, Mrs. Al Sabel of Gilchrist became the mother of a baby boy at Mount Sinai Hospital. Mr. Sabel was in New York on a business trip, but Mrs. Sabel's mother, of New York, was here for the event.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Liechtermare of Briarcliff are the proud parents of a baby boy, born on June 4.

The Kenneth Brands have two keys to their Briarcliff home, but neither was available last Saturday when they went out and locked both keys inside. Teeple and Ken got them in again.

Janice Schreiber of Tareyton has a new gym set with a swing in her back yard. She received the set for her birthday recently.

The baseball league is proving to be a very interesting sport activity around Franklin Knolls. Are you playing?

The Walter Dombrowskis of Nottingham took a suckling pig to Belleville, where it was barbecued at the home of Mrs. Dombrowski's parents.

Your reporter tried a suckling pig roasted, and although Mrs. Teeple refused to try it, all who did said it was a delicacy --- and it is!

Bill Cindler will grade Fourteen Mile Road and roads in Subdivision 3 and then apply calcium chloride to lay the dust some time this month. Cindler is in the road building business and feels that since his trucks have made holes in the roads it is only right that he be responsible for repairing them. This is a voluntary move by Bill and he certainly deserves a note of thanks from every one of us.

The best garden to be seen in this area belongs to Bill Multhead on Fourteen Mile Road just east of Middlebelt. Bill has pick-

Lumber Company Names Manager

Announcement of the appointment of Conrad Sullivan of Detroit as new manager of the Farmington Lumber Company was disclosed this week.

Married and the father of two children, Mr. Sullivan has been active in the lumber industry for the past 15 years. He formerly served as vice-president and manager of the Hoover Lumber Company and more recently as a wholesale representative for the R. A. McGrath Wholesale Lumber Company.

Mr. Sullivan is a member of the Zion Lodge No. 1 Masons of Detroit. He also belongs to several lumbermen's organizations.

CONRAD SULLIVAN

Law Violators Pay For Illegal Activity

Sixty-eight conservation law violators paid an average of more than $16 each in fines and costs for their illegal activity, the Conservation Department's latest weekly summary shows.

Fifty-eight broke fishing laws while the remainder violated game and forest burning statutes.
