Five-Man Commission To Certify Foresters

Forestry in Michigan is growing in professional stature and in the future, "Registered Forester" will be a term applied by a five-man, governor-appointed commission.

Act 78 of the Public Acts of 1955 establishes the commission to certify foresters for practice in Michigan.

Governor Williams has not as yet announced any appointments to the board. The five will receive staggered commissions and will serve regular terms of five years.

The bill goes into effect in October.

Games, prizes, pony rides, clowns, pop, ice cream, and hot dogs. Fun is planned for all children.

Another date to remember is August 12. The Woodcreek Western "Bar B Q" will be held at Walter Sulth's, 29126 Wellington Road. A request is made for ladies to bring small bouquets of garden flowers for centerpieces.

Mrs. Lowell Hunt, who underwent an operation at Pontiac General Hospital some time ago, returned to the hospital last week after complications set in. She is reported as recovering satisfactorily.

Michigan Conservation Gains World-Wide Fame

Michigan conservation, it turns out, has gained international fame via the London to Scotland fish lory.

Mr. T. J. Peterle, formerly a member of the Conservation Department's game division; recently returned from a year's Pathbright study in Aberdeen, Scotland.

While there, Scotch friends became interested in knowing more about Peterle's Michigan. They were surprised to hear, for example, that in the United States, hunting and fishing are sports available to everyone. In Scotland, only the wealthy are able to hunt and fish.

Mr. Peterle requested Department films and they were shipped. In London, the rail strike held up the shipment, but finally the film cans arrived at Aberdeen about the weekly fish lory. So the films were shown in color, sound AND smell, to the chry delight of Peterle's Scotch wherry friends.
