A Poly Party at the home of Mrs. Herman Schult of Shadyside Avenue, last Wednesday developed into a farewell luncheon honoring the hostess, who is about to move to Elwood, Indiana. CYCLISTS SHOULD KNOW AND OBEY ALL TRAFFIC LAWS

Youngsters, particularly those who ride bicycles, should learn traffic laws and regulations early in life.

Bicycles, if ridden thoughtlessly, can get children into the same kind of trouble that adults often experience with a car, according to the Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company. Statistics show that at least 25,000 injuries and 800 deaths on the highway occurred to cyclists during the past year, mostly resulting from actions which were traffic regulation violations. Defective bicycles accounted for one out of every three of these accidents.

With the opening of school, when hundreds of additional youngsters will be riding bicycles, the Institute warns that parents should make sure that children know and obey the following traffic regulations and common sense practices:

When turning left or right, use the same arm signals that are followed by motorists.

Traffic lights, signs and regulations are meant to be obeyed. At busy intersections, dismount and walk across.

In many places riding on sidewalks is taboo. Where this is the law obey it.

For night riding, keep your headlamp and tail reflector in good working order.

For all riding, equip your bicycle with horn or bell.

Give passing cars plenty of room, hug the right side of the road. Never ride in center or two-abreast.

Take the necessary time and pains to learn to ride well. Get an experienced cyclist to help. Practice in a safe area, away from traffic.

Make sure handlebars and saddle are properly adjusted. Set saddle so that when pedal is at lowest point rider's leg is comfortably straight.

Stunt-like riding, no-hands, standing on seat, coasting with feet on handlebars belong in the circus. Leave them for professionals.

Two-on-a-bike is dangerous as it interferes with rider's vision, steering and balance.

Use special care on rainy days to prevent skidding. Take wet streetcar tracks at right angles, or as nearly so as possible.

Watch out for the standing car which has someone in the driver's seat. Look out for parked cars pulling suddenly into traffic. Keep a sharp look-out for unexpected opening of auto doors on the street side. Never hitch on other vehicles, or race on street used by automobiles.
