It's Our Opinion:

EDITORIALS: It Was Suggested . . .

At the last meeting of the Township Board that some type of sound system be installed in the Town Hall for use during Board meetings so that the audience would be able to hear the business being conducted. The Enterprise is in complete accord with the suggestion. During the past several months particularly, it has been next to impossible to follow the discussion, even from a seat in the front row of the hall. As a result, the many interested citizens who attend the Board meetings are unable to secure information or to participate intelligently in the discussions. We would like to suggest also that a bulletin board be secured and placed at the front of the hall for the posting of proposed new plats during the particular discussion. This will not only afford citizens an opportunity to view the proposal at close hand if they wish, but also eliminate the practice of burying the conversation at the central table. Such a practice only leads to noise and confusion, since the audience is unable to hear or take part in the matters being discussed. The preparation of an agenda and the possible restriction of plat considerations to one particular meeting each month would also add greatly to the efficiency of the Board sessions. Both of these procedures are being followed by most municipal bodies with a great deal of success. They not only facilitate the progress of the meetings, but afford everyone an opportunity to participate with a minimum of inconvenience. These things, we believe, the Board owes to the citizens of Farmington Township.

The Long Awaited . . .

day is almost here, and it is a big one in the history of the Farmington community. We refer to the inauguration of the new dial telephone system set for next Sunday, August 21. The Bell Telephone Company has made a tremendous investment in Farmington, both in its modern new building on Grand River at Powers and its extensive dial phone equipment. The entire community can be proud of this new addition which brings to Farmington the latest in convenience and service. It can also be proud of the faith the Bell Telephone Company has placed in the future of our growing area. The new Farmington Telephone System is a symbol of things to come. It is physical evidence of the changes taking place throughout the entire community. We are growing and we will continue to grow . . . the only question is how fast and how far? As more and more companies and individuals invest in the future of Farmington, this question is being answered. Attitudes are a major factor in the development of any area. Thus it is important that all of us not only recognize the contributions being made in our community by organizations such as Michigan Bell Telephone Company but also to take a cue from their foresight and vision.

Another Investigation . . .

seems to be in the wind down Washington way, this time over the financial status of newly-appointed Secretary of the Air Force Don Quarles. The ink on Quarles appointment was hardly dry before Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon demanded an investigation. As was pointed out by a well-known columnist the other day, the politicians are making it just about impossible for the administration to secure qualified men for high level government positions. Maybe this is the way some of them want it . . . but what about the welfare of the country? It is never too difficult to determine what is on Senator Morse's mind. Since becoming a so-called Independent, he has dedicated himself to the task of harassing his political enemies and spreading doubt and confusion wherever it will take seed. Apparently the idea is to frighten successful men away from government service by making the sacrifices so great that they could never be accepted. Instead of judging the individual on his ethics and integrity, the doubters prefer to cast suspicion on his bank book and his security holdings. Unfortunately, politicians like Senator Morse are making some headway in their appointed tasks. It would be interesting to see how much could be accomplished if the same amount of effort was put to something constructive.

Michigan Mirror INTERPRETING THE NEWS

NORTHLAND RESORTS have the promise of a highway funneling thousands of cars into their driveways — one way or another. The tug-of-war between toll roads and free superhighways is the focal point of one of the bitterest disputes in years.

On one end of the rope is the Michigan Turnpike Authority and on the other end is Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler. The people are in the middle. Ziegler, really, must play a dual role. He is also a member of the turnpike authority, a situation that has had him dodging brickbats from all directions for two years.

The authority is guided by experienced hands who insist on a 12-mile toll road between Flat Rock and Saginaw.

Ziegler is rushing work on a competitive route, a relocation of US-10 from Detroit to Saginaw and of US-25 from Detroit to the Ohio border near Toledo. "We've got a lot of money tied up in that road now and we can't walk away and leave it," Ziegler said.

Turnpike champions, headed by the authority chairman, George N. Higgins, Ferndale Republican, figure Ziegler is negotiating a dastardly deal. "Ziegler has caused the authority a lot of problems," Higgins said. "But I don't think he'll block us any more."

From a cash-on-the-tin standpoint, the turnpike will cost $165 million, and the free highway $138 million. Ziegler said he could finish the free road in three years. Higgins said the turnpike can be completed in 30 months after the bonds are sold. They will be retired from tolls.

There was a poignant moment when Congress killed President Eisenhower's highway aid plan, which would have given Michigan federal money for interstate highways at a 90-10 ratio, federal to state matching. "If we get that, we can finish the free highway in three years," Ziegler said.

When the bill was killed in Congress, Ziegler said state money would do the job in the same time. Higgins, mourning the death of the program in Congress on the surface, privately was jubilant. "This will put all the more steam behind the turnpike program. We'll get started as soon as we can and build the toll road."

Looking Back Through The Enterprise Files

Clear Title A suit will be started in Oakland County Circuit Court in the near future by the Township of Farmington to determine ownership of the Town Hall Building. Starting of litigation was authorized Tuesday night by the Township Board. The Township, City and the Farmington Masonic Lodge all claim interest in the building and have been hashing over the problem of ownership unsuccessfully for the past two years. City Paving Grand River Avenue from the Junction into the business district of the city was closed Monday morning and work began on breaking up the old pavement. The three-mile stretch of road will remain closed until new pavement is ready. All eastbound traffic is now being detoured down Farmington Road to the Cut-Off. Paving on the south side of Grand River west from Eighth Mile Road has been completed, but work on the north side of the divided highway has not begun as yet. It is understood, however, that laying of the cement will begin at the same time as crews begin paving from the Junction into the business district of Farmington. Mayor Sue Township The Boards of Education of 11 school districts lying wholly or partly within Farmington Township may take action to sue the Township for money owed them. The various boards will meet Monday evening to decide on a definite course of action. Money received from school taxes which should have been paid to the school districts was used to pay Township expenses, with the idea being to borrow money to pay the school's later. The Township was unable to borrow money this year, however, and learned that all previous borrowing for this purpose was illegal.

Warning Several cases of diphtheria have been reported recently. Residents are advised by Dr. John Vos, Township Health Officer, that all children under ten years old should be immunized immediately. Any adults who have been exposed to diphtheria should submit to a Schick Test, the health officer further stated.

Half-Day Sessions Half-day school sessions will be in effect this year in both Farmington and Clarenceville Schools, it was disclosed this week. Students in grades 1 through 5 at the Farmington School and grades 1 and 2 at the Middlebelt School will be the only elementary students on half-days in the Farmington system. First grade students at both the General and Edgewood Schools in the Clarenceville District will be on half-day sessions. City Taxes With only one week left to go, city tax collections are only half complete. Mrs. Ralph Cotter, city treasurer, disclosed this week. Usually 90 per cent of the taxes are paid by this time, Mrs. Cotter stated. If taxes are not paid by September 1, a two per cent delinquent penalty must be paid, it was emphasized.

President Eisenhower won a propaganda victory at Geneva, the Reds major ever to be taken out of talk with the Communists. But aside from that, the Reds seem to have gotten what they wanted at Geneva — a receptive world audience for their newest technique with the soul-stirring word "peace." Our President's challenge for inspection of military establishments in both countries, as a first step toward armament control, has not brought definite Soviet action. The Reds will accept it only if it can be fitted into their long-range strategic moves toward conquering the United States. Whatever the outcome of the President's challenge, we must not lose in the deadly strategic (Continued on Page 3A)
