Davis & Lent Grand Opening Attracts 4,400

The three-day grand opening celebration at the new Davis & Lent Store for men and young men at 3336 Grand River Avenue drew to a close Saturday night.

According to the proprietors of the newest Farmington business establishment, more than 4,400 persons visited the store. Registration blanks were filled out by 1,800 adults and 2,600 youngsters during the three-day grand opening celebration.

Proprietors of the new store stated that they were deeply gratified by the fine turnout during the grand opening and were highly appreciative of the many compliments received on the quality of merchandise and the beautiful interior of the store. In a message issued this week, both Davis and Lent extended a hearty "thank you" to the persons who wished them well and to all those who helped in making the opening such a huge success.

Prize winners were disclosed at the close of the grand opening celebration. First prize of a Hart Shaffner and Marx suit was won by Mrs. E. Collins Copeman. Other prize winners and their prizes were: Jerry Stainbrook, second prize, Sky-Way luggage; Karen Kullgren, third prize, Galt Stream slacks; Mrs. R. H. Gault, fourth prize, Stetson hat; Robert Dieck, fifth prize, Marlboro shirt; David Darcy, sixth prize, Rugby golf jacket; and Bernard C. Adams, seventh prize, a Wilson golf bag.

Winners of prizes in the under-15 year old age group were Donald McKibbin, first prize, tennis racket; and Marie Koehler, second prize, a badminton set.

Obituary

Archibald M. Brown died May 17 at his residence at 28214 Greening following several months illness. He was born in Scotland October 21, 1884, the son of William and Agnes (McCall) Brown, and was united in marriage to Catherine Cain in 1934. He was employed by Pontiac Motors.

He leaves his wife, Catherine; one son, Glenn M. Brown, USS Great Sitkin, U. S. Navy; and one brother, and two sisters in Scotland, New Jersey. The couple were buried in Oakland Hills Memorial Cemetery.

Funeral services were held from the Spencer J. Heene Funeral home at 2:00 p.m. Monday with Rev. Larry Lord of the Orchard Methodist Church officiating. Interment was in Oakland Hills Memorial Cemetery.

We can not always oblige, but we can always speak obligingly.

ask

John M. Clappison
this question:

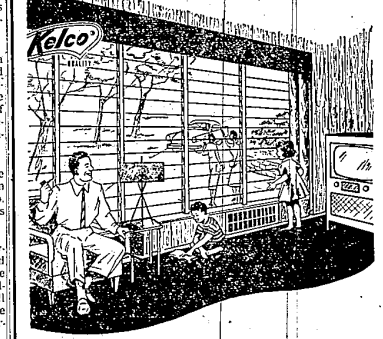

We had a burglary last week. He must have left in a hurry, because he didn't take much... but he did break the lock on the back door and did some other damage in the house. Is a thief's destruction covered by residence theft insurance?
