A fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sid Berkowitz on Briarcrest, starting in the furnace room, caused damage estimated at $5,000 to $8,000. Volunteer firemen, led by Fire Chief Roy Bell, were hampered by heavy smoke, but soon extinguished the fire. Repair work is now in progress by the Thomas Teagan Company.

The Pietro children are the envy of the area. Dad built them a lemonade stand and set them up in business. Then he made them a set of "Burna Shave-type" signs to complete the picture. Business is reported to be brisk.

At a recent meeting of home owners in Franklin Knolls No. 3, it was announced that the roads in the subdivision will be oiled and thus end the nuisance of the clouds of dust in the area.

Friday evening, June 14, a barbecue supper was held for 17 members of the family who gathered to greet her.

Still more company kept the Ranzbergers busy last week end.

Best wishes are extended this week to high school graduates Fred Thompson and Barry Coats, and to grade school graduates Susan Swoy, Bob Wajkowski, and James Paterson.

Last week it was erroneously reported in an item that Ritchie Taylor or Orchard Lake Road was a boy. The name is Ritchie Jane Taylor, a girl. Our apologies. At any rate, the meesles have left the family (except for serious complications for Mrs. Ronald Taylor) and in time for sister Gail's birthday on Saturday, June 16. Eight of her classmates who will be in the eighth grade with her next fall were invited to help her celebrate her thirteenth birthday. A planned barbecue was rained out. Those attending were Susan Cross, Susan Newton, Mary Porter, Melinda Schulkins, Carol Kreider, Judy Biro and Evelyn Morey.

It seems that June is birthday month for the John Cross family of Belmont. Susan was 13 on June 11, and celebrated with her cousin, Dorothy, and her aunt, Mrs. Walter Hublein, last Sunday with a barbecue supper. Dorothy's sixth birthday was also on June 11 and her mother's birthday is June 21. It was thus a triple birthday celebration.

In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Cross, Susan and Jamie, at the celebration were Mrs. Cross's mother, Mrs. Roy Fitzgerald, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hublein, and their daughters, Dorothy and Peggy.

Let's leave the gay young blades of grass alone - also refrain from hopping over evergreens and digging up vegetables in front of flower beds. In short - we have a half acre to play around in - why don't we stay home and make "men" our best friends? Scottie O' Staman Acres.

New Colors Keynote Today's Furniture

Color, new color, is among the most contemporary ideas and is found even in the most steadfast traditional styles in today's furniture.

Color is everywhere and used in every possible manner and shade, declares Jessie Marion, home furnishings specialist at Michigan State University. Modern styles are more dramatic in bright red, deep turquoise, amethyst and combinations of pink and black.

For traditional and provincial furniture, gentle pastels of blues, greens, grays, yellows and beiges are used predominantly, but occasionally one sees brilliant Cerulean Blue and Cassilian red.

Furniture is dressed with color both on and under the surface, continues Miss Marion. When the more conservative gray, beige and sand tones are on dresser, chest and table surfaces, gay shades of red and blue are often used to line drawers.

So often last winter the weather forecast was: sheets of rain, blankets of snow - very bad weather. Come to think of it, worse than raining cats and dogs is when it's hailing taxicabs.
