What the Harvest Has Done.

The harvest of the great wheat-raising states has been well up to the average, and, with the high prices, is to return more money to the farmer than in many years. While the country's total wheat crop is estimated at 40,000,000 bushels more than last year, it is yet 60,000,000 bushels below that of the previous season, and the farmer has little reason to fear material lessening of values. The corn is promising well in the interior states, and lessened yield in some of the older settled ones may make this likewise a remarkably profitable year for producers of that cereal. Contracts are being made at this writing at prices giving abundant return for the farmer's toil. Minor crops have been generous in the prairie states, with good prices. Altogether, declares Charles Moreau Harger, in the American Review of Reviews, it has been a goodly year and one that has given the farmer a feeling of independence. His stable position is certain to have effect on every sort of industry and enterprise.

A Merry Heart.

Why do you wear a harassed and troubled look? Are you really in trouble, or are you allowing the little worries of life to grind furrows in your face? Take a glance at yourself in the mirror and reform—that is, reshape your face into the lines of comfort and good cheer which it ought to wear. Take an honest inventory of your troubles, and decide whether or not they are really worth advertising in your countenance, urges the New York Weekly. It may seem a little thing to you whether or not you wear a smiling face, but it is not a little thing. A serene look informs the tired and troubled men and women whom you meet that there is peace and joy in at least one heart. And there may be among them some who had begun to doubt if peace or joy existed at all. "A merry heart doeth good like a medicine."

An English suffragette leader who is on this side says that American women are more timid than their English sisters in demanding their rights, and urges them to make equal suffrage a burning issue in "a fire of revolt." The lady is mistaken in her main points. American women are not timid, they are not as aggressive or as violent as their English sisters because they have no need to be, and as for starting a flame of revolt that is not necessary, either. The moment the women of the country in any considerable majority demand equal suffrage the men will give it to them. The women of this country have confidence in the men to do them justice, and the men have respect for the women, which is a state of affairs the English suffragette sentiment does not as yet seem to have penetrated.

Gold, silver and lead mines are, it is said, to be worked extensively in the bleak district of Innishowen, county of Donegal, Ireland, overlooking the Atlantic, and experts have expressed the belief that it is almost impossible to estimate the wealth of the minerals. Specimens of the ore were shown at an exhibition in New York, and some American financiers decided to take the matter up if subsequent investigation proved satisfactory. A mining expert examined the mine, and after his report a syndicate was formed.

Warnings have been issued in Egypt to look out for a bigger flood in the Nile than has appeared for a quarter of a century. When this was written the water had not risen at Khartoum, but nearer the sources of the river the banks were swollen to overflowing. Fears are entertained for the stability of the Assuan dam that was built to impound the floods and preserve the water for irrigating the lower valley.

A lady with a talent for statistics is plaintiff in a lawsuit in Cambridge, Mass. She is suing the proprietor of a manufacturing plant for the loss of her hair, which was caught in the machinery, and she wants $10,000 damages, which, she alleges, is "at the rate of one dollar "for each hair destroyed." That seems to be a case where hairs of the head were numbered.

British suffragettes are posting their bills on monuments and public buildings and the doors of those who are in power. The London police are beginning to think it is impossible to keep a good woman-suffrage movement down.

GAME WARDENS FOUND DEAD

SUSPECTED AT MUSKEGON THAT THE THREE DEPUTIES WERE MURDERED.

FOUND ON LAKE SHORE.

Had Set Out Saturday Afternoon in Search of Illegal Fishermen—All Were Heavily Armed.

The belief that Deputy State Game Warden Julius Salmonson, his brother, Martin Salmonson, and Deputy Sheriff J. C. Hazeltine were murdered has grown since the finding of the three bodies on the shores of White lake, near San Juan resort.

The spot where the bodies were found is about two miles from Montague, in the direction that the trio took on Saturday night, when they started out in search of contraband nets in Muskegon county waters.

For weeks past threats had been continuously made against the state officers, who have interfered with the illegal income of fishermen.

Some of the police officers discredit the theory of foul play. A heavy sea was rolling Saturday and Sunday and the game wardens' boat might easily have been capsized.

All of Saturday afternoon Julius Salmonson was out along the shores of White lake in pursuit of illegal fishermen and, becoming fearful of continuing the hunt alone, he returned to Whitehall and got his brother and Hazeltine to go with him.

The three men were heavily armed. They hired a flat-bottomed boat and rowed out into the lake about midnight. When, at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the men failed to put in an appearance, a searching party was formed and late in the afternoon the search was partly rewarded with the finding of part of the rowboat near Sylvan beach. The false bottom of the boat was found with Salmonson's coat, Hazeltine's cap and a pipe. After the finding of the boat, the search was continued in earnest, until at 9:30 this morning the bodies of the three were found near the San Juan resort.

All the north end of the county is astir over the affair. A special posse of officers left Muskegon early this morning to aid in the search for evidence.

Wilson Is Hopeful.

Attorney Thomas Wellman, counsel to the receiver of the United Home Protectors' fraternity, returned Sunday morning from Ionia, where he went to take the testimony of William L. Wilson, former secretary of the organization, who is serving a sentence at the reformatory for embezzling the funds.

Wilson is reported as being one of the "trusty" inmates of the institution at Ionia, and expresses himself as satisfied that he will be released at the end of one year. He says that the money lost to the Home Protectors through his speculations was invested by him in the hope of regaining some of the losses, and he does not think he did anything wrong.

As there are several other charges against Wilson it is hardly likely that he will be released before the expiration of his full term of five years. Fred. Brown, who was Wilson's lawyer when he was convicted, is the new prosecutor of the county.

Tunnel Electrified.

Not since the St. Clair tunnel at Port Huron was opened, 18 years ago, has there been such a demonstration in Grand Trunk railroad circles as that which attended the "love feast" held in Port Huron Thursday in celebration of the introduction of electricity in the big tube.

On two flat cars, especially prepared for the observation trip through the lengthy passage, more than 100 officials of the company and their guests were hauled by one of the new electric engines from the American to the Canadian portal. One man who could hardly summon words to express his joy was Joseph Hobson, consulting engineer of the Grand Trunk railway system. Hobson is the man who built the St. Clair tunnel.

"I predicted then that they would electrify this tunnel," said the gray-haired veteran of railroad construction. "Of course at that time we never dreamed of electric power for railroads but even greater things will yet be accomplished."

Kills Deer After Being Shot.

Although shot through the neck by one of his hunting companions, Donald Wood didn't propose to permit the deer his two pals missed to get away. Recovering from the shock of the shot and picking up his gun, he brought to earth the escaping buck. Wood was then carried to his home in Manistique, where his wound was dressed and he probably will recover.

John Hackenrack and H. J. Neville were the other two members of the hunting party. They took a stand on one side of the marsh while Wood went to the other side. As the deer ran toward Hackenrack and Neville they both fired at it. One bullet struck Wood in the neck, coming out under the shoulderblade. Wood fell, but jumping to his feet despite his wound he brought down the fleeing animal.

The Grand Trunk, it is reported, will establish car shops at Port Huron employing 1,000 men.

While Joseph Gibson and Joseph Boudreau were working on board a gasoline tug in the bay at Traverse City a barrel of oil caught fire from a lighted match. In an instant the boat was a mass of flames and both men jumped into the water. The burning oil spread rapidly over the surface of the water and both men were severely burned.

PENN DEFEATS U. OF M.

Football Game Witnessed by 25,000 Persons at Ann Arbor.

Outclassed as a team and individually, with the exception of the center position, Michigan was helpless before the magnificent work of the Pennsylvanians at Ann Arbor Saturday. The Wolverine ends were circled, the line ripped asunder, the kicker outdistanced and the team outgussed by the sturdy sons of William Penn by a score of 29 to 0. Nothing was saved from the wreck except the knowledge that eleven players of the Maize and Blue did the best they knew against hopeless odds.

Probably the majority of the Michigan alumni and undergraduates despaired of victory before the battle, but the greatest alarmist among their number hardly expected the awful beating that the green team got at the hands of what is probably the fastest aggregation the gridiron has seen since the days of the new football.

Between 2 o'clock Saturday morning until 3 o'clock in the afternoon 13 inches of snow, government measure, fell in the Grand Haven region. The suit brought by the supreme tent of the Knights of the Maccabees against the Port Huron Savings bank will be heard before Judge Erskine, of Mt. Clemens, and a jury in the council chamber at Port Huron. The Maccabees claim that Thompson received $59,000 from it for deposit in the bank, and the bank officials claim that Thompson never made the deposit.

WIFE SHOT, KILLS SELF.

Grand Rapids Man After Reading Accounts of Two Tragedies Acts on Suggestion.

Did psychological influence of example today prompt Jacob Sikkema to shoot his wife and then kill himself?

That is the question to which students of metaphysics answer, "Yes," while the reply of the coroner is, "Probably."

No other motive than that advanced by psychologists has been suggested as the prime cause of the tragedy. It is known that Sikkema devoured the newspaper accounts of the shooting of Nellie Tiemeyer by her lover, August Sauererein. Sikkema also read with avidity the published story of the second tragedy. He was not despondent over business or family affairs. He had not quarreled with the woman he shot.

In the absence of all other motives, it is thought that Sikkema, his mind made morbid by whisky, acted on the suggestion contained in the printed accounts of the first two tragedies.

It was about 2 o'clock in the afternoon that Sikkema shot his wife through the throat and then put a bullet through his own head. The woman, while still alive in Butterworth hospital, is believed to be dying.

Sikkema was a string butcher. He drank heavily, going on debauches which would last until outraged nature succumbed completely.

Enjoyed Mt. Clemens Hospitality.

The Eastern Michigan Press club, in annual session, spent a delightful afternoon and evening at Mt. Clemens on the 6th inst. The "Bath City" opened its arms to the newspaper men, who were given a very effective illustration of the hospitality, generosity and good fellowship which has done much for the wonderful progress of Mt. Clemens. Fifty-five of the 115 members attended. A 6 o'clock dinner at the Medea was preceded by pleasant visits to the Colonial, Park, Fountain, Sherman, Fenton, Eastman, Glenwood and New National hotels and the Mt. Clemens, Clementine and Olympia bath houses, and many other places of interest. Everywhere the members were hospitably entertained. The club discussed matters for improvement and elected officers as follows: President, B. F. Browne, Harbor Beach Times; vice-president, W. H. Marvin, Utica Sentinel; secretary, F. E. Ellsworth, Western Newspaper Union, Detroit; treasurer, T. M. Sheriff, Trenton Times.

After having met the business men of Mt. Clemens, one can understand why the City of the Mineral Springs is so favorably known all over the country.
