CHURCH

David Paap Is New Pastor For All Saints

The Rev. David A. Paap will be installed Sunday, July 1, as pastor of All Saints Lutheran Church, Newburgh and Joy, Livonia.

Ordained June 17 in Milwaukee after graduating this spring from Concordia Seminary at St. Louis, he will become the third pastor for All Saints. He succeeds the Rev. Dale Krueger, who left last April to accept a Kalamazoo call.

The Rev. Roger Schleef, Livonia circuit counselor for the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, will be the installing officer.

Preaching on the occasion will be the Rev. Paul Heinecke, mission director for the Michigan District. Dr. Paul Foelber and the Rev. Roland Boehnke, who have served as vacancy pastors, will be liturgists.

Following the 10:30 a.m. service, the All Saints congregation will hold a reception for Rev. Paap and his wife, Patricia.

Rev. Paap, 25, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hilbert Paap of Franklin, Wis.

After attending public schools in Franklin, he went to Concordia High School and Junior College in Milwaukee and Concordia College in Fort Wayne, Ind. earning a degree in 1969.

While studying at the seminary, he attended U.S. Army chaplain school at Fort Hamilton, N.Y., and holds a commission as a chaplain in the U.S. Army Reserves.

He served a year of internship under the Rev. Paul Martin at Trinity Lutheran Church in Memphis.

His ordination took place in Mt. Zion Lutheran Church, Milwaukee.

REV. DAVID A. PAAP

FORMER LIVONIAN Dick Miller and his wife, Ruth Ann, will leave soon for missionary work in Paupau, New Guinea, with the Wycliffe Bible Translators, Inc. Miller, who graduated from Franklin High School in 1965 and has degrees from Moody Bible Institute and Waubonsee Community College in Illinois, will be a jungle pilot in the primitive area. Mrs. Miller will do hospital work. Both completed three phases of intensive training with the Wycliffe organization to be prepared for mission work in isolated areas.

Dr. Hess Plans Talk On Trip

Dr. Bartlett L. Hess, pastor of Ward United Presbyterian Church, Six Mile and Farmington Roads, will speak on "The Isle That Is Called Patmos," at 7 p.m., Sunday, July 1.

The talk is about Dr. Hess's recent trip to the Holy Land. Pictures of the tour will be shown after the service by Larry Butler in Fellowship Hall.

Another feature of the evening service will be "Spotlights of Vacation Bible School," with Sue Simons, Daniel Marlow and Priscilla Strong.

PENTECOST SUNDAY, June 10, was marked by a birthday party in Rosedale Gardens United Presbyterian Church of Livonia. As part of the service, Juli Harden and Tim McCloskey lighted 20 candles on a birthday cake, each representing a century of the Christian church's lifetime. Relighting candles were used, so Juli and Tim were unable to blow them out. Dr. Richard C. Dunkelberger, senior pastor, explained that the candles represented the fact that all efforts to destroy the church have been unsuccessful and its light remains.

Never Enough Foster Homes To Go Around

There never are enough foster care homes to furnish instant love for tiny children or supportive understanding for troubled teens.

That's the word from the people responsible for finding care for the young who, for a variety of reasons, need a home temporarily.

Donald W. Rolph, supervisor of the adoption and foster care department of Oakland County Juvenile Court, brought the message to a recent gathering sponsored by the Christian service commission of Our Lady of Sorrows Catholic Church in Farmington.

Similar appeals have come from the Wayne County department of social services through its foster home recruitment unit.

"Our need is for foster homes that will accept children over 10," Rolph told the group at Sorrows.

"Needless to say, these are the hardest to place. There seems to be plenty of foster mothers eager to take care of the little children who come to us — the teens present a greater problem."

Children come under jurisdiction of the Oakland Juvenile Court either through the fact that of delinquency or neglect or abuse of their parents, Rolph said.

Then they go to Children's Village in Pontiac. Some stay there and many who could better benefit from home care are placed in one of the 100-plus homes available.

There's a difference in the way different wards are placed in foster homes, Rolph added.

"The babies are mostly in and out within 24 hours," he said. "Small children need this. They don't understand what's happening to them and they need the security of a home as quickly as possible.

"With the older children, it's a different matter. They need to get acquainted with the foster family they will join. Sometimes several visits at the institution and then weekend visits to the home are necessary before the child feels comfortable, the family feels sure it can handle him and we are convinced the placement is the right one."

Rolph said the department tries not to have its list of foster homes too long "because these foster parents like to be used," but does want a cushion to take care of the times when a lot of cases come in at once.

Families on the foster care list are licensed to take one to four children.

"Mostly we don't place the capacity number of children in homes licensed for three or four," Rolph said. "Again, we like to keep that cushion."

To be licensed for foster care in Oakland County, he said, homes need to meet certain requirements such as a separate bed for each child and separate bedrooms for different sexes when the children are over five. There is a questionnaire to fill out and a screening visit—"not rigorous, but it gets us where we want to be in terms of knowledge."

Foster parents are paid by the county in amounts ranging up to $90 a month per child over 12. That includes food and clothing, but such items as medical and dental expenses are paid by the county.

Rolph mentioned that in his other capacity as supervisor of adoptions in the county he often approves foster parents as adoptive parents for a child who becomes adoptable.

"The foster family doesn't have any inside track or priority," he said, "but adoptions by foster families no longer are a no-no as they once were."

Those interested in being foster parents in Oakland County may get in touch with Rolph in the county courthouse in Pontiac.

In Wayne County, the department of social services can be reached at 640 Temple, Detroit.

Quakers Mark 140th Year

The Religious Society of Friends is marking the 140th anniversary of the founding of the Livonia Friends Meeting this weekend with a "Spree '23" information booth.

Friends will assist in staffing the Ford Field booth with literature advocating an end to the draft, amnesty, racial integration and a just order of national priorities.

Later this year, special meetings for worship will be held to commemorate the Friends' anniversary.

The Quakers were the first settlers in Livonia Township in the 1820s, and even then they were dedicated to peace and human rights.

They organized a meeting for worship in 1833, and it was established under the care of New York Friends in 1834.

In 1846, they constructed their second meeting house on Seven Mile Road, west of Farmington Road. Presently it is known as Quaker Acres and owned by the city of Livonia.

The first known war-resister in Michigan belonged to the Livonia Quaker Meeting. Robert Glasier settled on a homestead in 1834. During the Mexican War, he refused to drill with the militia or pay war taxes. He was convicted and was jailed in Ann Arbor for his stand against the war.

Glasier was also a conductor of the Underground Railroad, and accompanied William Lloyd Garrison on a tour of Michigan in an effort to end slavery.

Other Livonia Friends pioneered in the temperance and women's suffrage movements.

Rev. Johns Opens Caseville Vespers

The Rev. Elsie Johns, long-time minister of Clarenceville United Methodist Church in Livonia, will open the Wednesday vesper services in the historic Caseville United Methodist Church at 8 p.m. July 11.

The Wednesday vespers series is part of a program of special church services sponsored by the Top-of-the-Thumb Resort Ministries for vacationers in the northern thumb area.

The ministeries, established three years ago, also offer a Sunday vesper series in the William Lyons Phelps chapel in Huron City, outdoor services at 10 a.m. Sundays at Oak Beach and KOA Camp at 9 a.m. and story hours in four locations during the week.

In addition, area churches are increasing the number and publicizing of their services to accommodate visitors.

Cooperating denominations are the Reorganized Latter Day Saints, Baptist, Lutheran, Presbyterian, Missionary, Assembly of God, Episcopal, Mennonite, Nazarene, United Methodist and Catholic.

Committee On Women Her Task

The United Presbyterian Church's worship book may see some language changes as the result of studies in which a Farmington resident assisted during the recent 185th General Assembly at Omaha.

Mrs. Phyllis R. Johnson, a member of First United Presbyterian Church of Farmington, served as a member of the assembly committee on women during the meeting.

She said her group gave special attention to possible changes to remove "exclusive sex language" from the book.
