The first of Michigan's large ton-nage of old-fashioned Concord grapes is rapidly moving into food channels, and the harvest will con-tinue until frost in producing areas, authorities say. This year's total grape crop is estimated at 57,000 tons, with the Concord va-riety making up the greater part of the crop.

THIS ENTRY in the Annual Garden Club Flower Show is attracting plenty of attention from the judges. The show, held last Saturday as part of the "Day In The Country" program, was viewed by a record number of Farmington residents. Examining this floral display, left to right are: Mrs. Carl Schimmel and Mrs. Walter Fenton, both of Mt. Clemens and Mrs. Clarence Johnson, of the Farmington Garden Club. In addition to the floral exhibits, the show featured table and mantel settings as well as horticultural and conversation displays.

Seniors Elect Class Officers

The Senior Class held its first meeting of the school year on Wednesday, September 12. Officers were nominated and voted upon. Elected were Dave Hanaford, president; Dale Devitt, vice-president; Patricia Shay, secretary; and Margie Estep, treasurer. Student Council representatives selected were Elda Dassenka and Marie Wyss. Marion Dalley was chosen as an alternate. A committee consisting of Ron-ny Doyle, Wally Gibb, Sandra Muirhead, Carol Case and Bill Wauch, selected the Christmas cards to be sold by the Seniors. Christmas cards are sold every year by members of the Senior Class to raise money for their annual Senior Trip.

Initial Homecoming Plans Now Underway

Plans for the Homecoming celebra-tion are in the primary stages at Clarenceville High School. The date has been set for October 12, but initial preparations will begin days earlier. First on the list of activities is the voting for the Homecoming Queen and her Court. The queen is chosen by vote of the student body from the Senior Class. Her court will consist of one girl from each of the other classes. During half-time at the annual Homecoming football game, the queen will be presented with her crown. Later, the regents at the dance after the game. This year at Homecoming time, Clarenceville High School will play host to Clarkson. All former graduates are urged to attend the festivities.

David Pillar Wins Scholarship

David Pillar, ninth grade student at Clarenceville High School, was recently awarded a scholarship valued at $500.00. This scholarship was offered through the De-troit News Carrier Fund. In order to receive the scholarship, David was required to pass a series of time tests at Wayne State University. These tests covered all fields of concentration and in-cluded material from the first grade through the twelfth. David is still undecided as to his choice of a college he will attend. He is, however, planning a career in the technical field and to use his scholarship to further his edu-cation. Besides serving as a carrier salesman for the Detroit News, David has been an active member of the Clarenceville high school band. He plays cornet in the brass section. David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Pillar, 18427 Foch, Li-vonia.

Enrollment Figures By Classes Disclosed

On September 6, Clarenceville High School opened its doors to 622 students. The enrollment in-cluded 36 new students. Taking the lead in the total num-ber of students enrolling for the first semester was the eighth grade with a count of 165. Next in line came the ninth grade with 146, followed by the sophomores with a total of 120. The junior class drew 100 stu-dents and at the bottom of the en-rollment tabulations was the sen-ior class with 84.

JOHN M. CLAPPISON
this question:

I have a burglary policy up for renewal and a fire policy with a year ago. Would now be a good time to switch to a Home-owner's "package" policy for all my home fire, theft and li-ability insurance? Would I get credit for the paid-up year on my fire policy... as well as getting lower cost protection?

Squirrels Are Plenty Smart

At the first sign of fall squirrels become mighty busy. These wise little animals begin storing ample supplies for the cold days ahead. Titch when winter comes they are really ready for it.

Wise home owners also prepare for winter by filling their fuel oil tanks from our presently ample stocks before cold weather really "sets in". This in turn enables us to maintain a full supply of oil for your future needs.

To insure oil heat all winter, it is necessary to keep a balance between the supply and the season's demand — therefore it is vital that your tanks and ours be kept full at all times.
