

New Dodge-Plymouth Auto Agency Opens August 1 At 3224 Grand River

Farmington Sales and Service, Inc., a new Dodge-Plymouth automobile agency for the Farmington area, was officially opened August 1 at the site of the former Curt Hall Pontiac agency at 3224 Grand River Avenue in Farmington.

Heading the new automobile corporation are Andrew F. Nadol, president; Karl Vangeloff, vice president; and Robert H. Jenke, secretary-treasurer. It was pointed out that all three men will be actively engaged in the business operations of the agency.

Mr. Nadol in recent years has been engaged in the field of manufacturing as a partner in a tool and die company. He is married and the father of three daughters. Mr. Vangeloff and Mr. Jenke both began their own agency after having previous experience in the sales and service of Chrysler Corporation products. Vangeloff has been employed as a used car manager and sales manager for several Chrysler agencies. He is married and has one daughter. Mr. Jenke, also married, has been employed in the sale of Chrysler company autos in the Detroit area for the past five years.

Officials of the newly-formed corporation pointed out that they will continue all of the services previously offered by the Curt Hall agency and will service all Dodge and Plymouth autos but all other makes of cars as well. It was also indicated that future plans call for several improvements in service and service equipment.

Bob Rozenboom, trained and qualified service manager with Curt Hall for several years, will stay on as service manager of the new Dodge-Plymouth agency. It was indicated that Howard Legg, head of the parts department of Curt Hall for a number of years, will be retained in the same capacity. All mechanics and other service personnel have been employed by the new dealers because of their experience and ability.

Officials pointed out that all men in the service department have had from 6 to 30 years of experience in the repair and service of all makes of automobiles.

Clohecy Pontiac Offers Services To Local Area

Announcement was made last week by the Clohecy Pontiac, Inc., auto agency located at 2920 Grand River Avenue in Redford, that every effort will be made to provide Pontiac owners in the Farmington area with the best possible sales and service they can give. The announcement followed the closing of the Curt Hall Agency in Farmington, leaving the area without an authorized dealer.

Located between Six and Seven Mile Roads on Grand River, four miles from Farmington, Clohecy Pontiac, Inc., claims the second largest Pontiac dealership in the Midwest.

A large service department is staffed by 35 qualified men, officials of the organization pointed out. A new paint shop has been purchased recently, providing an additional service. To assure all service patrons that they will not be without a car while theirs is being repaired, Clohecy has set up a free loaner service.

Boasting a top sales force, Clohecy Pontiac salesmen took a leading role in the sale of new Pontiacs in the Midwest last year. The Palmer took first place honors for the area, followed by Dick Moran, who placed second, and Al Blum of Farmington, who placed third. Officials indicated that their salesmen are expected to take some top honors again this year. Because of the high volume of sales and low overhead policy, officials indicated, an excellent sales position is possible.

"We also have a wide selection of used autos to choose from," an official of Clohecy Pontiac concluded.

Potatoes were caught between seasons. The early summer crop which came to market from June 15 to late July was reported as being 11 per cent below the 1955 crop. Harvest of the late summer crop is late because of unfavorable weather. The situation is temporary and by August 15 the new crop of Michigan potatoes will ease the price situation.
