

4-H Bug Hunters Hit The Trail

Lily Show Is July 21, 22

The great insect hunt is on. And leading the brigade of hunters this summer are some 55,000 4-H boys and girls in the national 4-H entomology program sponsored by Hercules Inc.

This year is expected to be a particularly busy one for the young 4-H entomologists. With a wet spring through-much of the nation, mosquitoes are promised in great numbers. And other insects are expected to provide good hunting for the young people armed with net and killing can.

Supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service, the 4-H entomologists start their study by making collections of insects common to their area. They learn insect control and as much as possible about each species.

Along with the problems caused by a huge infestation of mosquitoes, the young entomologists are confronted with increasing numbers of gypsy moths, particularly the northeast and northwest sections of the country.

Gypsy moth larvae are particularly damaging to the foliage of trees and other plants. And as hitchhikers, they are unsurpassed as they travel from one area to another by car, truck, camper or rail.

Camper are particularly cautioned to remove insect larvae from their gear before traveling home or another destination.

Of a less pesty nature is the expected appearance of the 17-year locust flaring in 1973. The locust population will be in the millions but fortunately, they do little or no harm to plants, animals and humans.

Looking for the gypsy moth, the 17-year locust, and helping control mosquitoes are just a few activities carried on by 4-Hers in the 4-H entomology program.

Besides helping young people in their study of science and the appreciation of community for insect control, the 4-Hers can earn other recognition provided by Hercules Inc.

Four young entomologists, in each county, can earn medals of honor and one $50 U.S. Savings Bond to be awarded the winner in each state.

They are then eligible for one of 16 trips to National 4-H Congress, Nov. 25-29, in Chicago, and consideration for one of six national scholarships of $700 each.

For more information on how to join the 1973 4-H insect hunt, contact the county extension office.

Extra Storage Space In Unexpected Places

Looking for ways to increase your storage space? John Concord, home improvement consultant to Masonite Corp., offers these suggestions:

In closets, add Peg-Board panels to one or more walls and the inside of the doors. Items then may be hung on hooks or placed on bracketed shelves.

In hallways or stairwells, there is room for narrow cabinets which will hold a surprising amount of "storageables" such as canned goods, infrequently used utensils and toys and miscellaneous items.

Sliding doors of hardwood and interiors of Peg-Board panels add to the usefulness of such cabinets.

Other wasted space that has storage potential includes areas under the sink, above wall cabinets, over the car in a garage; under stairways, and along walls where floor-to-ceiling wardrobes can be built.

Even new homes frequently have wide open basements with disorganized storage, laundry and heating.

These areas can be divided into pleasant facilities such as a fine home laundry, a recreation room, a hobby space and a study.
