for recreation, fun... try a STATE PARK

D.H. DAY STATE PARK THE SLEEPING BEAR SAND DUNES, ONE OF MICHIGAN'S BEST KNOWN AND MOST SCENIC ATTRACTIONS, IS THE MAGNET FOR CAMPERS AT D.H. DAY STATE PARK. THE PARK, CONTAINING 2,050 ACRES, IS SIX MILES NORTH OF EMPIRE AND TWO MILES WEST OF GLEN ARBOR ON M-109. THE SLEEPING BEAR DUNE, 1,044 FEET ABOVE SEA LEVEL, OFFERS UNLIMITED OPPORTUNITY FOR HIKING, EXPLORATION, PICNICS, DUNE CLIMBING OR DUNESMOBILE RIDES. THE HEAVILY WOODED CAMPGROUND INCLUDES FOUR MILES OF EXCELLENT LAKE MICHIGAN BEACH. THE BEACH LAUNCHING SITE, THE 130 CAMPSITES HAVE ELECTRICITY.

When turning a corner with a trailer the trailer wheels will not follow the exact path of the car. Since the trailer will cut in closer to the inside of the curve, compensate by turning in a little more than normal. Practice away from traffic to find out how much extra turning space is necessary for your recreational unit.

Bring 'em back ALIVE!

Sleeping Bear Dunes Add To Park's Lure

Campers at D. H. Day State Park have an unequalled scenic bonus — the Sleeping Bear Sand Dunes, one of Michigan's most popular tourist attractions, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

The park, containing 2,050 acres, is located six miles north of Empire and two miles west of Glen Arbor on M-109.

The 130-site park has four miles of excellent Lake Michigan beach. There are 130 campsites, in a wooded area, all with electricity, picnic grounds, a boat launching site and trailer sanitation disposal station.

Swimming is in Lake Michigan and beautiful Glen Lake.

Although there are several attractions of interest to campers in the area, by far the most popular is the nearby Sleeping Bear Sand Dunes, rising 1,044 feet above sea level. Visitors can hike for miles over the dunes and climb up and down the great dune itself. From the top of the big dune, it's still almost a two-mile hike to Lake Michigan.

Sleeping Bear dunesmobile rides start near Glen Haven. A jaunt in the big-wheeled vehicles resembles an African safari up and down the huge dunes along Lake Michigan.

Lighthouse Point Park, at Leelanau Point, northeast of the village of Northport at the end of M-22, is another nearby attraction. A feature is the Grand Traverse light station, built in 1859.

Two of the shortest official state highways are in the vicinity of Glen Haven and Glen Arbor — M-109 and M-209.

Outstanding among resort centers of the Leelanau Peninsula are Leelanau, Northport, Omena and Suttons Bay — all of them along M-22.

Leland has a picturesque harbor used by fishermen, charter boats and the ferry that operates between the mainland and the Manitow Islands.

At the harbor is the new Falling Waters Lodge for vacation visitors and a dining room, Fisherman's cove, for superb family dining. Nearby is the rebuilt Leland Lodge, for generations a popular summer resort lodge.

Lund's Summer Gardens are 12 miles south of Leland on M-22 at Traverse Lake. There are painted scenes from the life of Christ, illuminated at night.

Although smaller in acreage than several state parks in the northern portion of the Lower Peninsula, D. H. Day posted an attendance of 576,238 in 1972, highest of any park in this region.

If D. H. Day State Park should be full, other state parks in the vicinity include Traverse City State Park, 39 acres, 333 campsites, two miles east of Traverse City on US-31; Interlochen State Park, 187 acres, 531 campsites, 15 miles southwest of Traverse City near US-31, on M-137; Young State Park, 563 acres, 300 campsites, a mile and a half north of Boyne City and M-75 with a mile of frontage on Lake Charlevoix; and Benzie State Park, 2,295 acres, 200 campsites, on M-22, six miles from US-31, 11 miles northeast of Frankfort.
