POTATOES

You can tell a lot about how to cook a potato by looking at it, says Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, M.S.U. Marketing Information

Agent.

Thin peeling skins are a fool proof clue to new potatoes. New potatoes are fine for boiling and making salad, but rate low as a king choice.

baking choice.

The old potatoes have thicker more leathery looking skins. Potatoes from the old crop can be holted, masked, fried or baked. Think of how you wish to prepare polatoes; and choose those that best fit your plans.

Our opportunities to do good are ur talents. —G. Mather
