Rifle River Area Now Open To Fishermen

The popular Rifle River area in Oregon county is now open to fishermen and can be entered on roads from both Rose City and Lupton, according to Mercer Patridge, fisheries biologist at the area.

The area had been closed because of road repair work east of Rose City.

size. Violations of this freedom have always in the past stimulated the most violent reactions on the part of Americans. And yet, out of the 7,000 men captured, the 4,000 survivors were three years in captivity, and at no time did a single American ever succeed in an engineered escape from an established POW camp. Even so, the attitude which broke down here was the traditional high evaluation of freedom.

3. Don't make a "deal" with the enemy. Most of the Korean prisoners, Major Mayer and his staff found, accepted a "deal" from the Communist captors. He said: "It seems that in talking about compromise, and getting along with people today, and being non-aggressive, and everything being quiet and nobody raising his voice is possible, we have gotten compromise on a minor level mixed up with compromise on the level of principle." The character principles weakened here were honesty and courage.

Our Brother's Keeper

4. Don't do anything to hurt your fellow-American. Love thy neighbor.—God's commandment. Major Mayer described the Gallagher incident. A dominating soldier, Gallagher forced some soldiers ill with dysentery from a hut in a prison compound, into 30-below-zero weather. They died within hours. Other soldiers in the hut testified at Gallagher's trial that they didn't try to stop this brutal action. Typical reason given: "I just didn't feel it was any of my business to interfere." Yet they knew the sick men would die. The characteristic broken here was brotherly love.

5. Establish a command, and support the command. The attitude of many prisoners toward command was, "You may be a captain or a sergeant but in this prison camp you don't rank." No one asserted leadership, and that's exactly what the Communists wanted. "We had to put this terribly obvious statement in 'the Code,'" Major Mayer explained, "because somehow we are not teaching about the attitude of leadership, the willingness to take the responsibility, the willingness to be other than merely popular." This was a breakdown of the characteristic that made America a great nation.

The Arby's findings are disturbing in our homes, our churches and schools we must heed the challenges which they pose. Everything we cherish is at stake.

The Defense Department has ordered pay raises for 250,000 skilled men in the services. Expected annual cost will be $49 million dollars.

ST. MARY'S HOSPITAL STAFF

Review St. Mary Hospital Site Plan

Further plans for the construction of the proposed new St. Mary Hospital in Livonia to service residents of this area were formulated at a meeting of the Hospital Building Committee with representatives from the City of Livonia and Merlon Kispert, mechanical engineer of the Ellerbe Company of St. Paul, Minnesota, last week. The meeting was held at the Pelican Sisters Convent. Water supply, sanitation, storm sewers and roads were the main topics of discussion. The consensus of opinion of the group was that the land designated for the hospital site, in the vicinity of Madonna College on Five Mile, was adequate and satisfactory. It was generally felt that the Bell Creek which crosses the property would in no way impair the functional activities of the hospital.

President of the Board of Trustees of St. Mary Hospital, Mother Mary Annuncia, disclosed at the meeting a tentative schedule of progress for the building. She indicated that the architectural program should be prepared by September of this year and preliminary drawings ready to be reviewed by the State Agency in Lansing by December. Working drawing should be started in April of 1958 and blueprints completed by September and ready to be reviewed by the State Agency in November.

The opening of construction bids should be possible by December of 1958 having complications with contracts to be awarded the following month. As soon as weather permits in 1959, work will be started and is planned to be fully completed by the end of an 18 month period.

Completes Equipment Repair Course In Army

Pvt. Henry A. Choss, son of Mrs. Hollen Choss, 2019 Westmore, Livonia, was graduated May 11 from the 20-week carrier equipment repair course at the Army's South-eastern Signal School, Fort Gordon, Ga.

Choss entered the Army in August 1956 and received basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. The 23-year-old soldier attended Lawrence Institute of Technology and was employed by the Ford Motor Company, Dearborn, prior to entering the service.

The two four-passenger helicopters, acquired for President Eisenhower's use, are estimated to cost $201,000 each with spare parts.

Picnic Tables Now Put Out Thruout State

Some 4,300 picnic tables have now been placed in the 301 roadside parks and at hundreds of table sites maintained along the highways of Michigan by the State Highway Department.

Each of the parks has a number of tables, stoves for cooking, toilets and pure drinking water, tested and approved by the State Department of Health. Twenty-seven of them are in scenic spots along Upper Peninsula highways and 74 are scattered throughout the Lower Peninsula. Wooded areas and spots near lakes or streams usually are chosen for the small parks, which have gained Michigan much favorable publicity throughout the country.

Michigan has been the leader in this type of highway facility since the first table site went into service in 1920. The first roadside park made its debut in 1935, on US-10 in Ionia county.

Women—21.7 million of them—make up almost one-third of the U. S. working force. Of the total, 35% are in clerical, 23% in service and 10% in skilled categories of employment.
