Water Petitioners Report Progress

Progress is continuing on the circulation of petitions in the southern and southeastern sections of the Township in behalf of the proposed water system. Mrs. Phil Newberg, chairman of the volunteer workers, announced this week. Mrs. Newberg added that the proposed special assessment districts are gradually being covered by volunteer solicitors with satisfactory results. The vast majority of property owners who have been contacted have signed the petitions. Mrs. Newberg stated. Sufficient volunteers have been lined up and the proposed special assessment districts are now being covered as rapidly as possible.

Mrs. Newberg stated that the progress was being slowed somewhat by the necessity of contacting numerous deedholders who are not residents of the Township. Efforts are now being made to contact these property owners by mail in order to obtain their signatures. According to State Statute, signatures of the owners of 51% of the land in each special assessment district is necessary before action can be started. Any district which does not obtain the necessary 51% will be ineligible to participate in the project.

Persons living in the area to be served and who have not been contacted by volunteers may sign petitions at the Township Hall during regular business hours.

Board Debates

as an example, Stephenson stated that because of a decided backlog of work in the building department an employee was taken from the clerk's office on a temporary basis. Stephenson accused Floyd Cairns, Township Clerk, of working behind his back and charged that he was not devoting his full time and energy to his job. Stephenson added that it is his responsibility to see that the Township office operates properly and efficiently, yet his efforts to streamline the government have been hindered at every turn.

Cairns denied Stephenson's charge that he is not devoting full time to his job. He added that since taking office he has not expended a single business hour on anything but Township matters. Cairns stated that he needed help in his office the same as any other department.

Brown moved that the resolutions be received and tabled until the next regular meeting of the Board and that in the meantime an opinion be received from the attorney regarding a definition of the duties and responsibilities of the Supervisor.

Frozen Foods Should Be Kept At Zero Degrees At All Times

Frozen food is like an elephant - it never forgets, say market information agents from the time it is packed until the time it reaches the home freezer, frozen foods should always be stored at 0 degrees F. OR BELOW. Even a five degree change in temperature makes a big difference, for once damage is done, it can never be undone. Letting a package of frozen food get up to 25 degrees F. for just one day is worse than using a package from a pack more than a year old - but held at zero or colder.

The "feel test" is often misleading! A package of food in the range between 10 degrees to 20 degrees F. will feel hard, but the quality of that food will be going downhill fast. Only one "feel test" is recommended - ice cream is a good temperature gauge! If the ice cream dips easily when taken from the freezer, the temperature is 12 degrees F. or higher - it is too high. On the other hand, if it is too hard to dip, the temperature is 5 degrees F. or lower, and it is excellent.

Second in importance in the care of your frozen foods is the wrapping. Use on those goods that are not ready-packaged when you buy them, say the consumer marketing agents. The money spent on good wrapping is like an insurance policy against the money you have already spent on the freezer and the food. In particular, proper meat wrapping must prevent a moisture vapor-proof covering that prevents loss of moisture and prevents the meat from taking or giving off undesirable flavors and odors. If the wrapping is brittle, special packaging is needed.

been made, it was indicated, strong action against the mechanical contracting firm will be taken.

Final plans for a new elementary school between Westchester and Kendallwood III subdivisions were approved following detailed study. Architect Earl Meyers was the proponent of the plan, which included a playground, a swimming pool, and a building for the school. The Board also reviewed plans submitted by Architect J. McDonald Jacobs for a proposed multi-purpose building and all-purpose room addition to the Shawnee School. Calling for alterations in the kitchen and teachers room area of the present building as well as the addition, the plans were favorably received and Jacobs given authorization to proceed with final drawings.

Plans were given by the Board to begin advertising for bids on the addition previously approved at the junior high site on Thomas Street. A contract for a boiler conversion at the junior high building was awarded to Comb and Groves, Inc. for $4,318 following the opening of bids received for the job.

Purchase of two additional pieces of property for the School District was unanimously approved. The Board authorized the payment of $9,500 to the Detroit Edison Company for approximately 2 2/3 acres at the southeast corner of the present high school site and $12,000 to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Suhr for an eight acre elementary school site in Section 14 of the Township.

Approval was also given to tuition rates of $90 per year for elementary students living outside the District and $150 per year for high school students.

A recommendation that a second water well be drilled at the Gill Road school site to assure an adequate water supply was tabled for further study to determine whether a need really existed for a second well at this time. Also tabled for further study was a recommendation by Superintendent Gerald Harrison that the school for the use of school cafeterias and multipurpose rooms be increased. He pointed out that at the present time the same fee is being charged for the use of these rooms as for regular school classrooms.

Seek New Donors For Blood Bank

Additional volunteer donors are urgently needed if the next visit of the Red Cross Blood Bank, set for Tuesday, August 27, is to be a success, officials of the Farmington Town Club announced this week.

The blood bank, which will be held at the Farmington junior high school gymnasium on Thomas Street, is being sponsored by the Town Club. According to the latest report a total of 42 donors have registered thus far. Officials stated that unless there is a sharp increase in registration during the next few days, Farmington's contribution will fall short of the record posted in previous years.

Persons may register at the special blood bank booth in the lobby of the National Bank of Detroit, Farmington Branch, anytime during regular business hours. Registration may also be made by calling either GR. 4-5411 or GR. 4-8559.

The blood bank will be open on Tuesday, August 27, between the hours of 3:00 and 4:45 p.m. and 6:00 p.m. and 9:00 p.m. Blood is urgently needed at this time to build up a reserve in the credit bank which the Red Cross maintains for the use of Farmington city and township residents.

and requesting that it be removed from the water district. Randolph stated that the proposed tax on his acreage which fronts on Middlebelt, 10 Mile and Moravia would create a severe hardship. The matter was referred to the Township Attorney for study.

Approval was given by the Board to a series of resolutions setting up the procedures for a special assessment district in the Franklin Knolls Subdivision for a sewage disposal system. It is proposed that the subdivision system be tied into the interceptor upon completion of both projects. A hearing on the special assessment district was set for September 10.

A total of four applications were read to the Board from possible candidates for the unexpired term of Township Trustee. The vacancy on the Board, to become effective September 1, is the result of the appointment of Trustee Elise Avery as Township Treasurer.

Action was taken by the Board approving the recommendations of the Planning Board and Zoning Board for the rezoning of the northeast corner of Hastings and 12 Mile Roads from Residential Four to Commercial. It is proposed that a shopping center be developed on the site.

A motion was made and approved confirming the appointment of Harvey Freeman as a member of the Township Planning Board to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Ross Patterson. Freeman formerly served as secretary of the Planning Board.

Officials estimated that with the added funds, construction plans can be completed by January 1, 1958. The Board of Supervisors Monday, authorized the department of public works to proceed with the Farmington and Evergreen interceptor projects. Therefore, as soon as the advanced funds have been received, work can be started on the Farmington interceptor. All monies advanced by the townships, the Franklin Knolls Civic Association and the developers will be repaid upon the sale of the necessary bond issue.

Supervisor Frank Stephenson agreed to forward letters immediately to all of the developers outlining the proposal and advising them where to send their checks.

THAT $64,000 FEELING

I'm afraid we're fresh out of $64,000 prizes for people who are able to answer the quiz we've cooked up for this week's column. But if you can answer all five questions correctly, you're entitled to have a $64,000 feeling about your knowledge as a handyman. Four correct answers should leave you feeling like a $32,000 winner; with three right, you're average, and with fewer than that — well, go out and study for a week, because you've got a lot to learn.

All ready? Okay, but no peeking at the answers until you've decided for yourself whether these statements are true or false:

- Camphorated oil can be rubbed onto highly polished furniture to remove white rings caused by hot dishes.
- Wood shavings will make a fireproof insulating material if first soaked in borax and then dried.
- Before applying shellac to a wall, it's best to cover the surface first with a flat paint.
- A steel wire brush is good for cleaning striated plywood.
- Furring strips must always be used when installing finished walls in a basement.

And now the answers:

- TRUE. Another good ring remover is a solution consisting of three quarters of a teaspoon of white vinegar in a pint of water. Either case apply it with a soft cloth, rubbing along the grain.
- FALSE. The shavings trap air, which provides the insulating feature.
- FALSE. In fact the shellac is likely to soak into the paint and turn it brown.
- TRUE. Even better is a rotary brush mounted on an electric drill.
- FALSE. But this one was tricky, for furring is necessary under most types of walls, such as the most popular kind — plywood. (But there are at least two kinds — plastic sheeting and adhesive panels — which attach right to the concrete.)

No matter what little do-it-yourself problem you have, bring it to us. We've got the materials — and the know-how to go with them.
