

Farmington Schools Battle to 0-0 Deadlock

Nobody likes a tie game. Sometimes, though, deadlocks are what the doctor ordered.

It was apparent that North Farmington and Farmington should finish all even — with neither side scoring — last Saturday in their annual head-on football clash for the Farmington city championship.

Both schools had enjoyed fine seasons leading up to Saturday's battle which highlighted Rex Cawley Day in Farmington to honor the city's son who had gone on to win in the recent Olympic games in Tokyo.

Hence, the scoreless duel left

nobody in Farmington mad, because "our team didn't win."

Just which school was the favorite for Saturday's game was a debatable issue.

North Farmington had taken the field with a 7-1 record. Farmington's mark read 5-3.

However, Farmington had played a stiffer schedule than its cross-town rival.

The game developed into a defensive struggle as reflected in the final statistics.

In first downs, North Farmington made six to only two for Farmington.

North hit on five of 13 passes for 75 yards. Farmington on six of 12 for 31.

In rushing, Farmington finished with a 72-50 edge.

It was North which had the best chance of the game.

With only ten seconds to go in the first half, North Farmington had the ball on the Farmington 30.

Bill Oldershaw dropped back and set a neat pass to John McDonald who was hauled down about six inches short of the goal line as time ran out in the first half.

It marked the second time in the first half that North Farmington had penetrated deep in Farmington territory.

Early in the game, North received the kickoff and helped along by a 17-yard run by Craig Carpenter, 49 feet as the Farmington 49 being forced to punt.

Farmington couldn't move, so a kick was in order. Moments later Carpenter cut loose for 62 yards with a punt to the Farmington 13.

Three plays netted North Farmington only two yards.

On fourth down Tom Traush tried a field goal. The ball sailed wide of the uprights and the score remained nothing to nothing.

That constituted the bulk of the excitement in the first half until Oldershaw unloaded to McDonald at the clock ran out.

Farmington's best scoring opportunity came in the second half. With Roy Leach, Bruce Charles and Dick Johnson hitting away at the North Farmington line, Farmington moved to the North 20.

Then came one of those costly items called a fumble. The ball wound up in a North Farmington player's hand — and Farmington had its finest chance go down the drain.

The rest of the way the defense stared. With 10 seconds to go Carpenter intercepted a Farmington pass at infield.

Oldershaw went back for North Farmington and tried to connect for a bomb.

His first shot missed.

His second try landed in the hands of Farmington player, Roy Lardie, and that was it... as the story went.

The gun sounded before another play could be tried.

North Farmington came up with four interceptions. McDonald picked off two, Jerry Pound and Carpenter one each.

Terry Nielson and Lardie made the interceptions for the Farmington team.

Both coaches were proud of their defensive units.

"We held their passing attack well in check," declared John Hayes of Farmington.

"We did, too," said Ron Hordland of North Farmington.

There was little running by either side despite the warm weather and the dry field.

The parade and festivities for Cawley made the afternoon's festivities complete.

Cawley had to offer inspiration to the young men of Farmington who played against one another. It wasn't too long ago that he was running and wearing Farmington colors.

Frem Farmington, he went on to fame at Southern California and then all around the world.

Similar good fortune may rest on the horizon for somebody else from Farmington.

Time will tell.

As for the 1964 football season, it was a smash success in Farmington.

The older senior high enjoyed its first winning season (5-3-1) in five years.

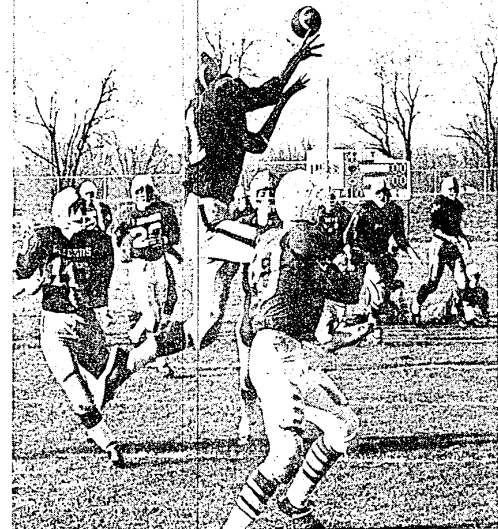

North Farmington, which was supposed to be kicked around after major graduation losses at the end of the 1963 season, arose to win seven times and lose only once — to Franklin for the league championship.

"We had no complaints here," said North Farmington coach Holland.

At Farmington, Coach Hayes talked the same way.

Individually, among the individual stars in the game there was Bill Freeman, a 153-tackle who turned in a great job for Farmington on defense. Carl Misch and Neilson were outstanding at their linebacking posts.

For North Farmington, Bob Babich was standout along with Carpenter, More and Jim Listerman.

JOHN McDONALD, of North Farmington, going high to intercept a pass intended for Farmington's Terry Nielson (80) late in game which ended in a 0-0 score.

'Ironman' To Battle Pistons

Pro basketball's iron man, Johnny Kerr, comes to Cobo Arena Wednesday night to lead the Philadelphia 76ers against the Detroit Pistons at 8 p.m.

Kerr has appeared in 767 straight games without a miss — and all for the same time. He spent nine years in Syracuse and then moved with the team to Philadelphia a year ago.

In addition to Kerr, the 76ers boast Hal Greer, a top-scoring guard, and Lucius Jackson, one of the U. S. Olympic stars recently in Tokyo.

Wednesday's game will be the last at home for the "new" Pistons, who have come to life under the coaching of Dave DeBusschere, until Nov. 23 when Philadelphia again plays here.

The Pistons leave Friday on a coast-to-coast trip which will send them into action in Baltimore, St. Louis, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

CRAIG CARPENTER of North Farmington circles end for short gain against Farmington High.

Dismal Season for Clarenceville

Another dismal football season — from a record standpoint — has ended for the Clarenceville High School.

Just one win to show for nine games!

But there were some glowing notes and moments for Clarenceville, the 1-8 mark notwithstanding.

Most encouraging to Ralph Temby was the fact that his players never lost heart. Nor did the school's fans.

"Our kids could have tossed in the towel on several occasions," said the coach. "There were some who would go home and be criticized, but still the kids gave their all."

Temby also noted one other fact.

"We had a young team," he declared. "We're losing only second-year boys. When you have sophomores on your team they're bound to make mistakes."

"Give us another year and I think that we'll show a considerable amount of improvement."

The season ended for Clarenceville last Friday in a 39-0 loss to Dearborn Haston.

This was one game Temby figured his forces could win.

"Things just went wrong," he moaned afterward. "They got two quick touchdowns and we weren't able to get rolling again."

In the statistical department, Haston picked up 18 first downs to seven for the losers. In yardage, it was 280 for Haston and 114 for Clarenceville.

Jim Bedson, a speedster and excellent runner, led the Clarenceville seniors who have played their final varsity football game for their school.

Danny Freels, another workhorse for the last three years, also is through. So is Jack Forsythe.

Dennis Opperman, Larry Ray, Joe Niestro, George Keene and Rich Hahn were the others who have concluded their prep grid careers at Clarenceville.

For Temby, the job of coaching goes on.

Less than 15 hours after the final gun had sounded on Friday night to wrap up football for 1964, Temby had taken over the task of coaching the wrestling team at Clarenceville.

This will mark the second year of competition for Clarenceville in wrestling and for the first time the school will be undertaking a full schedule of meets.

"We're going on Dec. 1," said Temby. "It should be a very interesting winter."

But Temby will be looking ahead to football again in 1965. He's hopeful that Clarenceville can improve on the record of the past seasons — in each of which the Trojans managed only one victory.

The Clarenceville victim each time was Brighton. It could be Clarenceville should play Brighton more regularly.

Maybe every game!

Redford Raiders Split Two Games

The Redford Raiders split two games in a first-up bunch of East Detroit Mid-Jets in Jack Louther Little Football play Oct. 21 at Thurston High field as the Raider Varsity bounced back to win 27 to 13 after the Raider JV's had dropped a 6 to 0 encounter with the East Detroiters.

Breaks were a deciding factor in the opener as the Raider Junior Varsity, after winning 4 in a row, had a 2nd TD called back for an offense, and broke 6 to 0 when the Mid-Jets broke thru to block a punt and into a TD late in the final period.

The two teams played an even tenor until midway in the 2nd quarter when Tom Hilpa recovered a Mid-Jet fumble of a Raider punt at the Mid-Jet 45. Two plays later Steve Boyak found Mike Page with a pass and he went all the way only to have the play called back because a lineman had jumped offense. Neither team could sustain an offense long enough to score, and then late in the 4th quarter the Mid-Jets broke in and blocked a Raider punt, and when the ball took a freak bounce right into the hands of field in front of him, he ran 30 yards for the game's only score.

The Raider Varsity yielded a 1st quarter TD to the B. Detroit Pistons, but came right back to score early in the 2nd Quarter to tie up the game on the 20 yard aerial from Ron Harringer to Craig Mesage, and were

Chrysler Output Hits Record High

Chrysler Corporation reported Monday that its U.S. car production last week of 35,521 units was the highest weekly production total since the company first began publishing production totals in January, 1959.

Chrysler's U.S. car production during the comparable first week of November, a year ago totaled 25,294.

The high followed the announcement that Chrysler's car production for the week ending October 31 was the best for any week since February 23, 1957, and October production was the best for any month since November, 1955.

By car lines, last week's production was as follows: Plymouth, 17,485; Dodge, 13,817; Chrysler, 3,653; and Imperial, 568.

hours ahead of a scheduled pro tilt on the same field. Well, the Lions meet the Minneapolis Vikings at Tiger Stadium Sunday.

So the NFL brass, which, perhaps, has no heart for the kids, said "no" to the preps for a Friday night game.

We might add that Lions officials had no say on this matter. The fact is that Eddie Anderson, Farmington's Bud Erickson and other Lions' officials had babbled on the rule in the past.

This time they were overruled.

Our best wishes to Dave DeBusschere, a young man with an old head who has taken over as playing coach of our Detroit Pistons. It didn't take Dave long — two games — to instill a new spirit in his team and what appears near general interest in the Pistons.

We might remind coaches of area teams — schoolboy, high school, etc. that you have a chance to take in the Pistons' special clinic on Nov. 28 and also the Pistons-Philadelphia game. Just call 962-7844 for information.

Thurston Victor In Last Tilt

play — one not seen too much in the modern ways of football.

An end-around was called. Stophani came rushing around, stuffed the ball under his arm and took off on a 35-yard dash for the goal line.

That ended the scoring, but by then McDonald had begun a series of wholesale changes in his lineup. He had hoped to play all his performers.

And he did.

First downs ended up in a 10-10 tie.

Neither side did much in passing. Thurston made three out of five, Hamtramck five out of 15. Rushing yardage stood at 178 to 116 in Thurston's favor. Total yardage had Thurston with 218, Hamtramck with 189.

McDonald will have many of his boys back next year.

"We used several sophomores in key roles this season," he concluded.

"It was necessary to rebound and we think that we did what we had to."
