Buy 3½ More Acres for Park

An additional 3½ acres of property is being added at the southeast corner of the Farmington City Park on Shiawassee Road west of Power Road.

Councilmen were informed at their regular meeting Monday night that Mrs. Helen Whipple had agreed to the city's offer of $1,500 per acre for the property she owns adjacent to the park. They immediately authorized a go ahead on the purchase.

The total cost for the parcel will run $15,750. The purchase terms call for a 29 percent down payment with the balance to be paid off over a three-year period in three equal installments at 6 percent interest on the unpaid balance. City Manager Dinan reminded councilmen that there was $5,000 set aside in the current year's budget for acquisition of additional park land.

Set Easement Hearing Nov. 16

With no citizens appearing to object, the City Council at its regular meeting Monday night took immediate action approving the vacation of five feet of a 12-foot easement to the rear of the Chester Siders property at 31975 Leelane in Bel-Aire Subdivision.

City Manager John Dinan also informed the councilmen that he had checked with the Detroit Edison and Michigan Bell Telephone companies and that they had no objection to vacating six feet of the 12-foot easement on this side of Leelane the entire length of the street.

When the request by the Siders for the partial easement vacation was made, councilmen had asked the city manager to make such a check and report back.

In view of the utility companies position of not being opposed to vacating half the extra wide easement to the rear of this side of Leelane it was decided to hold a second public hearing for vacation of half the easement the entire length of the street. The hearing was set for the next regular meeting of the council on Nov. 16.

Voter Turnout

certain as to whether Democratic party upsets would not be recorded for a number of the state and county offices.

BILLY FARNUM was unofficially indicated as the winner over Republican Richard Kuhn in the race for the 19th District U.S. Congress seat. It was also reported Wednesday afternoon that the race between Paul Chandler (R) and James McCarthy (D) for the 14th District State Senate seat was still in question as was the race between Raymond Baker (R) and John Bain (D) for the 64th District State Representative post.

A majority of Farmington's voters also rejected approval of a change-over to the Massachusetts Ballot method of voting in the state.

Tabulations by precincts on the voting for the key national and state offices as well as on the Massachusetts Ballot proposition appear on Page 6-A in this week's issue of The Enterprise.

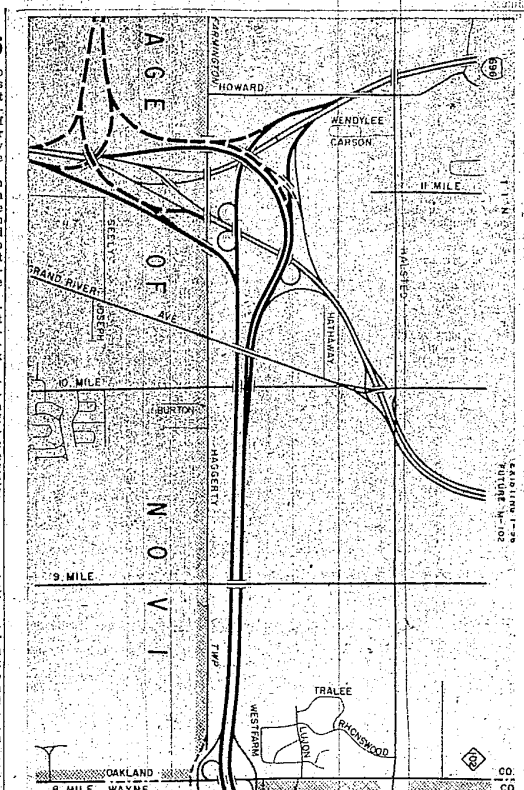
for the work he did during the trial that involved a week of lengthy testimony. Members of the council were also high in their praise of Kelly.

THE CITY attorney stated that he received excellent cooperation from the various city departments in preparing his case. The public safety department provided excellent photographs taken over the past several years to help the city's case and did a good job of locating witnesses during the trial, Kelly said.

Okay Wreath Selling By Troop 45 Scouts

A request from Boy Scout Troop 45, sponsored by the Farmington Methodist Church, for permission to sell Christmas wreaths throughout the city from Nov. 15 through Dec. 15 was unanimously approved by the City Council Monday night.

Jay D. Harrison, neighborhood commissioner of boy scouts, explained in his letter of request that the money raised through the sale would be used to help finance campouts for the boys throughout the year.



THE MAP above shows the proposed route of the new Jeffries I-96 Freeway at the western boundary of Farmington Township from Eight Mile Road northward and then how the loop would be made and the freeway continued on into Novi to hook up with existing I-96 running westward across the entire state.

Proposed Expressway Route Established

The existing 204-foot-wide Schoolcraft Road right-of-way will be utilized through the City of Livonia to Telegraph Road and beyond toward Detroit under the proposed route plan.

IT IS ANTICIPATED that a period of three years will be needed from the time that the route is officially approved until construction can be started. This being the case, the best that can be hoped for will be that construction can be started by the fall of 1967.

In order to be eligible for Bureau of Public Roads participation in the cost of the entire project, the present interstate highway law requires that all work must be completed by the end of 1971. To accomplish this it is reported that work at many different locations will have to be going on simultaneously.

The proposed interchanges of interest to Farmington drivers who might wish to use this expressway to get into Detroit or off coming back to Farmington would be those at Eight Mile Road, Farmington Road, Middlebelt Road, Inkster Road, Beech-Daly Road or Telegraph.

THE HIGHWAY department reports that since the north-south section of the proposed expressway which would be running along Haggerty Road is a predominantly rural area the plan is for a rural type freeway fitted to the existing terrain. Called for would be dual 48-foot-wide pavements with a 70-foot-wide median between the two pavements provided.

From Schoolcraft to Haggerty Road if it were extended down as the boundary between Livonia and Plymouth Township) except for a short stretch between Hubbell and Evergreen. From Schoolcraft northward construction at or near existing ground level is planned since the area is primarily undeveloped and rural in nature.

Going in toward Detroit, the proposed freeway route would angle in a southeasterly direction between Burt and Evergreen to a point just below Fullerton and then continue parallel along Fullerton to at most Hubbell. At Hubbell it would then angle northeastward up to Davison and then run parallel again along Davison to a point a short distance west of Oakman Blvd. where it would swing down southward to Grand River Avenue.

The Jeffries I-96 Freeway would then parallel Grand River Avenue until coming to the Ford Freeway. At this point it swings in a southeasterly direction again and parallel to about 15th St. down to the Ambassador Bridge.

A FORMAL public hearing on the Detroit section of the project has been set for Tuesday, Nov. 17, at 8 p.m. in the Ford Auditorium in Detroit's Civic Center. Hearing for sections running through Farmington and other communities has not yet been set.

Plans are for the freeway to be depressed for the entire length from the Ambassador Bridge to Eckles Road (Hagoperate with the officials handling arrangements for the "live" sports broadcast by Reynolds, the first to be staged in the community.

Rex Cawley's old teammates from the 1959 Farmington High School track squad will be on hand to join in the tribute to the Olympic Champion. Other gold medal winners, Henry Carr of Detroit and Hayes Jones of Pontiac, are also expected to be present at the Cawley Banquet.

CELEBRITIES from the sports world, Don Canham, track coach at U of M, a host of television, radio and newspaper sports writers and announcers are also slated to attend the Banquet. Bill Fleming, Pete Waldmier, Dave Diles, William Fyffe and Arthur Mazur are a few of the well-known members of the press corps who are planning on covering the Cawley Banquet.

Arrangements for the Banquet are being handled by the Rex Cawley Homecoming committee led by Farmington City Councilman Henry Forrest. Farmington School District Athletic Director John K. Cotton and Farmington businessman Richard Habicht. Also serving on the committee are representatives from the various service clubs and organizations throughout the community.

The Rex Cawley Parade planned on Saturday, November 14, preceding the North Farmington - Farmington football game will highlight the activities surrounding the local track star's recognition. The parade will commence at 12 noon on Nov. 14 from the Farmington High School on Shiawassee Avenue at Lakeway. The parade will proceed south on Lakeway to Grand River Avenue and then west to the Old City Hall, Farmington Road at Grand River. From the Old City Hall, the parade will turn north to Oakland Avenue and west on Oakland where an area will be cordoned off to allow parade participants to debark for special ceremonies planned in front of the new Farmington Municipal Building on Liberty Street just south of Grand River.

IN ADDITION to the special tribute planned for Cawley in front of the City Hall following the parade through downtown Farmington, special half-time ceremonies will be staged at the big afternoon contest between rivals North Farmington and Farmington. The Farmington Board of Commerce is cooperating with school officials and members of the Cawley Homecoming Committee to draw as many people to the game to witness the colorful display as the bands from the two high schools go through their practiced paces in routines planned to carry out the Olympic theme.

The third annual clash between North Farmington and Farmington High School on the gridiron will again be a high-spirited battle with both teams boasting fine records and anxious to cap their season with a victory in the neighborhood rivalry. Admission to the game is $1.50 with half the proceeds going into the Community Christmas Lighting Fund and the other half into the School District Athletic Fund. Tickets are on sale at stores and business places throughout the community.

Injured in Twp. Auto Accident on Nov. 3

Earl E. Dettmen, 30, of Commerce was injured when he apparently lost control of his car on 14 Mile Road and went into the ditch just west of Orchard Lake Road in Farmington Township on the morning of November 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shelman of Farmington Rd. have learned that their son, Philip, who is in the U.S. Army, will soon be serving in Germany.

Open Houses

scheduled so that parents with children in more than one school may attend.

The secondary schools have planned these dates: Farmington Junior High School, Nov. 2, 8 p.m.; North Farmington High School, Nov. 10, 7:30 p.m.; East Junior High School, Nov. 11, 7 p.m.

Dunckel Junior High School has set its open house for Nov. 24; Farmington Senior High School held its events Oct. 13.

Elementary schools planning open houses include: Beechview, Nov. 16, 8 p.m.; Isaac Bond, Nov. 9, 7:30 p.m.; Eagle, Nov. 11, 8:40 a.m. 2:40 p.m.; Flanders, Nov. 8-14 during school hours.

A PTA sponsored Book Fair and library display is planned at Ten Mile School Nov. 9 from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Nov. 10, 8 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Parents are invited to visit classes any day during American Education Week. Cloverdale School has issued a similar invitation to parents.

William Grace School has set Nov. 11, 9-11 a.m. and 1-2:30 p.m. for classroom visits. Open house in the classrooms will follow the 8 p.m. showing of a film, "The Michigan Story" at Longacre School Nov. 11.

"I extend a warm invitation to Farmington citizens to take a look at the facilities and the education program they have helped build. We are proud of the personal responsibility they have taken over the years to their schools," said Superintendent of Schools Gerald V. Harrison.

the GOP candidates.

THE WIDEST margin of victory among the GOP candidates with opposition was scored by Elise Avery who received 5,924 votes to Euline Petty's 3,538.

In the battle for the two trustee seats on the Township Board, Earl Opperthauser received 5,317 votes and Tom Duke, 5,289 as the GOP victors. Bernard Kuhn and Martin Gluckstein, their Democratic opponents received 4,016 and 3,957 votes, respectively.

A complete tabulation of the voting by precincts appears on Page 6-A in this week's issue.
