Three Farmington Peace Corps Volunteers Send Back Report

Two years of overseas service in the cause of American goodwill — that is the commitment of three young women from Farmington who are in the Peace Corps of the United States.

Two left about a month ago, the third has but six months to go before completing her assignment.

The three graduated from Farmington Senior High. They are Mary Burley, Class of '59; Margie Lam and Pat Cobb, Class of '61.

"What they're doing is little known and they deserve some recognition," said Mr. George Barrons, Farmington Senior High staff member, long affiliated with and sponsor for a high school group called CUIU, whose aim is world literacy and understanding.

And so this story—the story of three whose aims are not public adulation but the deep felt satisfaction that comes in performing unglorious tasks in unglorious countries.

Miss Burley and Miss Lam are in Peru; Miss Cobb is in Morocco.

Miss Burley is teaching and working on nutrition and hygiene programs in Chachapuyas, Peru, a provincial capital in a mountain area.

Her mother reports that she has not been discouraged with the slow progress of the Corps. "She seems satisfied; they are doing some good," Mrs. Burley says. "The people live much as they did when the Spaniards were there. Mary said several months ago that it may take 100 years, but the people are showing small signs of improvement."

Margie Lam is in Chimboe, Peru. It is a former resort town on the coast which recent migration has swelled to a population of 100,000. Peruvian local governments have been unable to cope with the problems caused by this migration.

Miss Lam is trained in urban community development. She is living among the people who have a "chambeo" life. They are lower class people, and Miss Lam acts as a kind of go-between between the "city fathers" and these poor people. Class distinctions are still very sharp here, she reports.

So far she has been busy getting settled, finding out where she can find places to buy supplies, meeting people, visiting schools, and getting acquainted with the different phases of community life.

The third Peace Corps volunteer is Pat Cobb. She is to instruct Moroccan women in nutrition, child care, and home-making. Here is the first Peace Corps group to work with the women of an Islamic country.

Miss Cobb was enthusiastic about her new assignment right up to departure time. In a phone conversation two hours before her plane was slated to leave, she possessed the same self-assurance that characterized her when she was at F.H.S., where she took part in a swirl of activities, including the exchange student program, G.A.A., and the staffs of the Roll Call and Generators.

Miss Cobb trained at the University of Utah, attending classes six days a week for 10 weeks. She was a French major at Carleton College from which she was graduated. She also studied in France.

When she became a Peace Corps volunteer, she was concerned that she would have to be a "government appointee." She was told, however, that she would be free in her opinions as long as she did not take offensive positions or attack traditional Moroccan ideas.

So far Pat reports that she is in sort of an administrative position, making appointments and earning Arabic. She is anxious to get into the outlying areas, but, her mother believes, that delay is attributable, in part at least, to Pat's fluency in French, of which the Moroccan government is taking logical advantage.

Miss Lam and Miss Burley trained for the Corps at San Diego State College and at the University of Washington, respectively, in programs similar to Miss Cobb's.

Miss Lam graduated from Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vermont last June, having majored in Spanish. Miss Burley attended the University of Michigan where she studied physical therapy prior to her entry into the Corps.

Women Voters League Sets 2 Meeting Times

To enable all women who have expressed a desire to participate but found the time inconvenient, the Provisional League of Women Voters announced that it will be holding two discussion groups a month—at 12:30 p.m. and another at 8:00 p.m.

The League will continue to hold four general meetings in the evening next year but will hold both afternoon and evening discussion groups in the months when no general meeting is scheduled. Both groups will have the same program a given month and members may attend either meeting.

THIS TOPIC for discussion in November will be a continued series of public welfare presented by State Item Chairman Mrs. Warren Messer.

Mrs. Walter Overhardt, member of the local item committee, will give a report on public protection for the city and township. This will include our legal system, fire and police protection.

The afternoon meeting will be at the home of Mrs. William Gardwell, 2541 Springbrook (between Middlebelt and Orchard Lake Rd., just south of 11 Mile Rd.), 12:30 p.m. Wednesday, November 18.

THE EVENING group will meet at the home of Mrs. C. W. Stevenson, 32382 Biddlestone (East of Farmington Rd. one-third mile north of 11 Mile Rd.), 8 p.m. Tuesday, November 24.

All women interested in good government are invited to join the groups for discussion. For any further information contact Mrs. W. Jean, 474-0232.

"WHAT'S NEW?" is what every motorist asks when the new models first appear in the showrooms. The Institute for Safer Living urges prospective new car buyers to examine their choices carefully for newest protective features. These safety extras could be the means of saving your life before next trade-in time.

The greatest tightrope walker of all times was the Frenchman Jean Gravelot, who died in 1857. He walked across Niagara Falls in 1859 carrying a man on his back.

If you are a lousy cook, serve a lot of before-dinner cocktails.

Chances are about 2 to 1 that a man will become bald; 20,000 is cited by safety experts as the chief cause of low back pain; 1 against your becoming a millionaire; 693 to 1 against your drawing a full house; 1 in 32 that you're left-handed; 4 to 1 that the next song you hear will be about love.

SMOOTH WHITE SAUCE IS UNIVERSAL BASE

Everyone has at some time in life known a really superb cook. If you know more than one, you are indeed fortunate and you might be that you are one of these people yourself. Cooks perform their magic with a minimum of pots and pans. The simplest of ingredients and plenty of imagination. One kitchen magician in a Keyko says starts off with a white sauce and continues from there. A good basic white sauce can go on to be cream soup or a base for the casserole. It can be gravy or the difference between plain green beans and Green Beans Parisienne. Let's start with the white sauce itself, remembering that the key to it is the choice of ingredients. You use Keyko Margarine as a spread, have Keyko on the table and you're off for baking. Make the white sauce with Keyko, too!

Melt ¼ cup Keyko in saucepan over low heat.

Blend in ¼ cup flour

Gradually add 2 cups milk

Always use low heat or make the sauce in a double boiler to keep the delicate Keyko flavor. Use a large spoon for blending the flour and keep stirring as you add the milk.

When thickened, keep the sauce hot over boiling water. Add salt and pepper as needed, of course. 2 cups cooked, diced potatoes, 1 chopped chicken and a little more milk makes potato soup. Slice up some sharp cheddar cheese in the sauce and pour over cooked macaroni for a casserole. Or, grate a little Keyko Margarine in the sauce and add the basic sauce to the pan drippings after the roast has been removed. Put a little curry powder in the sauce and serve on left-over lamb curry. Those beans? The white sauce, plus ½ cup chopped onion and a small can of drained mushrooms with cooked green beans. The white sauce must be smooth which means stirring constantly and you must start with the best ingredients, which simply means using Keyko Margarine. You supply the imagination yourself.

Shedd's KEYKO MARGARINE

Here's how to get even the fussiest members of your family to eat all those vitamin-packed vegetables. Use Keyko Margarine to add fine flavor, satisfying richness and extra goodness to everything you cook and bake.

St. Fabian's 5th Annual Parish Dance will be held on November 21 at 7:30 p.m. at Roma Hall. The affair is a dinner-dance and Jim Watt and his "New Notes" Orchestra will be back by popular demand. Time is growing short and so are the tickets. For a reservation contact Dale or Barbara Bowman at 474-7250.

Donna Pullen and family of Peppermill Road, K1, have just returned from an enjoyable week's vacation. They visited Donna's sister Mrs. Pat Waino of Cincinnati. The group which consisted of five children and grandma visited the famous "Lookout House" in Kentucky which is noted for its lavish decor. "Lookout House" consists of a restaurant, ball room, banquet and conference rooms as well as a night club all spread out on three floors and is situated on a high hill which overlooks the well known Ohio River.

Donna who bows with the Kenbrook R.T.A. Bowling League claimed the jack-pot for bowling highest over average. Her team also took four points away from the 4th team.

Many thanks to the ladies who took part in assisting in the Fluoride Program at Kenbrook School headed by the secretary, Mrs. Names will be mentioned when the program will be complete.

Slate PTA Speaker At Flanders School

The Flanders Elementary School P.T.A. are very pleased to have scheduled as their speaker for the Nov. 16 meeting, Dr. Harry T. Hahn who will speak on "New Reading Methods and Their Progress in the Oakland Schools."

Dr. Hahn is a well known figure in this area as the Director of Instruction for the Oakland County schools and has held this position for a number of years.

Due to Dr. Hahn's excellence as a speaker, the Flanders P.T.A. urges that members, and other guests, to arrive a little early, as they are expecting a capacity audience.

A discussion period will follow Dr. Hahn's talk and refreshments will be served.
