The artist, who lives in Northville, is exhibiting his work at the three other Williamson offices in the Detroit area.

Williamson got the idea for the displays of paintings from the company's two years of experience with the widely known Gallery of Homes. This is an exclusive and patented method of displaying real estate listings in large lighted frames which dramatize each color picture and make many of them look like paintings. The Williamson company has sold more than 12,000 new and existing homes in the Detroit area since it was organized more than a quarter of a century ago.

The head of the firm, Gordon Williamson, said recently that the Gallery of Homes had been responsible for hundreds of sales since it was installed in the company's staff in charge of the displays and art. He said the plan presents the best buys before your eyes.

No winter would be complete without this family warning from the Chief of Police: "Never leave your car engine running in a closed garage with the motor running."

Another "for sale" sign has sprouted, bringing our total to date to five. The latest addition is Martha and Les Joy of Baraboo, Wis., who are selling their home on Eleven Mile, and the Morris of Pipers Lane Court. Looks like there will be some new neighbors to welcome somewhere ere long.

People who still have the old-fashioned notion that the holiday season is a good excuse for taking a few drinks before driving AREN'T ONLY WRONG—THEY COULD BE DEAD WRONG! Words of wisdom and warning.

Grateful Parents Thank City Police

To the Editor:

We wish to express our appreciation and thanks through the Farmington Enterprise to the Farmington City, Department of Public Safety for their most wonderful, heroic and prompt action in response to our frantic call.

Monday, November 2, at midnight, our 12-year-old son, Jimmy, was taken ill with a severe asthma attack and in our attempt to get him to the hospital the situation became impossible. A call placed to the Farmington City Police and we were given every consideration. Jimmy may have given them a hard time. You can't imagine our relief when the officers greeted us at the hospital and said, "He's OK."

A million thanks to the entire Farmington City Police Department as well as the staff at St. Mary's Hospital.

Jimmy is once again OK and has been able to return to his home.

This Is Kimberley

By JUDY BURNS

Plans for the Kimberley Christmas dance slated for December 12 are gaining momentum rapidly, with the result that it promises to be one of the most successful social affairs yet hosted by the subdivision. Larry Freedman's five-piece orchestra has been hired to provide our music, a well-known and highly respected group that includes several former Glen Miller men. Larry is a teacher at Kenbrook School in Kendallwood, and his orchestra is in great demand in the area. Five musicians include a vocalist and all play a variety of instruments so that they can provide any kind of dancing music you request.

THE DECORATING committee met at the home of social chairman Kay Petris earlier in the week, and the girls are already in various stages of completion of the dance decor. Jackie Mahout is ticket chairperson, and will soon have her helpers at the door. Tickets throughout the subdivision with tickets, priced at $4.00 per couple. As an additional bonus, Kay has lined up door prizes for the winners of the drawing of December 12. All that remains to make this Christmas dance a success is you, meaning Kimberleyites in big number than ever before.

Incidentally, our new social chairman has a wealth of ideas for the possible subdivision social activities that sound like a lot of future fun.

A NUMBER OF Kimberley couples attended a private instruction to the new Treasure House of Five Foods on Wednesday night, November 4. The Treasure House, located at Grand River and Orchard Leake, is already known as "Smitty's Place" in the subdivision, as one of its owners is Dick Smith of Wicklow. The group was treated to a preview of the kind of meals that will be served by the Treasure House on a 24-hour, 7-day-a-week basis. The verdict is unanimously excellent, and "Smitty's Place" promises to become a favorite spot for Sunday morning breakfast, after the dance snacks, and Friday night dinner for the kids.

THE COMPLAINT department is in receipt of two calls on the same subject; that of junior-highers riding bikes on the subdivision streets three on November 15 and Neil on November 18. To the Carly trio, Jimmy, 9 on November 13, and little brother Jeffrey, 4 on the same day; to Mark Young, 9, Mike Allaire, 5, and big Bob Hawthorne on November 17.

Anniversary bests to Wally and Marion Barringer, 14 years on November 4, and to Emily and John Bowick, also 14 years on November 12.

Another "for sale" sign has sprouted, bringing our total to date to five. The latest addition is Martha and Les Joy of Baraboo, Wis., who are selling their home on Eleven Mile, and the Morris of Pipers Lane Court. Looks like there will be some new neighbors to welcome somewhere ere long.

ANOTHER DATE you may want to keep in the Livonia Redford Theater Guild Production of "Bye-Bye Birdie" on November 27 and 28, and December 4, 5, and 6, at Banker High School. Besides being a first-rate play performed by an excellent amateur group, an added incentive for attendance by Kimberleyites is the fact that Bob Heinzen of Dundak is a member of the cast and appears in the chorus and in the back for their voting record in the November 3 election. All of 68 of our registered voters went to the polls, by far the best record of any of the 12 township precincts. Win or lose, it's a commendable turnout we should encourage to continue every time our vote is requested.

On the sick list this week is little Ricky Allen, son of John and Marie of Dundak. Ricky was rushed to St. Mary Hospital on November 3 for an emergency appendectomy, and came home fine and dandy on November 7. He's still unable to return to kindergarten, but is up to all the normal five-year-old antics!

BIRTHDAY SPANKS to Frank O'Donnell, 10, Paul Brakora, 10, and Helen Valenti, not telling, on November 12, to Sally Linn, Steven Pickett, 5, and Linda Bowick, 13, on November 14; to the Boffs, Linda and the subdivision streets three on November 15 and Neil on November 18.

Moose Hunters Bag Two Prizes

A moose hunting trip into the wilds of northern Ontario netted two Farmington men a couple of fine big moose. Bill Shallow and Lou Waack, who have been hunting companions for some twenty years, bagged their 19th moose. They spotted the two moose crossing the river about 500 yards down stream from their camp and managed to shoot them about 15 yards before their guide gave them the order to shoot.

The moose were rowed out by skimming the raft down the Ottawa and then shipped down to the Sault. Shallow and Waack returned to Pine Portage camp, about twenty miles, by canoe. A successful hunting trip concluded.

Have you noticed how last summer's small hill becomes a major obstacle when a winter snowstorm strikes? The National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards has this recommendation for turning it back into a small hill: Flick up momentum as you approach your approach, don't overpower going uphill, allow speed to decrease as you approach the top, and be alert for obstacles as you come over the crest.
