The Home Owners Association will meet tonight at the Farmington Savings and Loan Association Building on Ten Mile just west of Orchard Lake at 8 p.m. All eligible are urged to attend.

Halloween passed peacefully enough throughout the neighborhood in general. Moore Drive, however, had a shock when an over-sized, nightgowned gremlin with a ghostly friend invaded a few susceptible houses. It's a good thing dogs have more sense than people, or Al Nazy might be in pieces.

Dick Kelly has generously offered to help with a neighborhood skating rink this winter. He will have to twist a few arms and cope with grading problems. Eager athletes will appreciate all efforts, even if he should not be successful. Kirtley family festivities will center around Pat's November 10 confirmation at Our Lady of Sorrows. Madge's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Franklin, and her sister, Miss Margery Franklin, will attend. Pat's sponsor will be Bob Campbell.

Larry Henderson became five years old October 23. His party in celebration included an assortment of fourteen aunts, uncles, and grandparents.

Peg and Eugene Henderson attended a special architects concert of the Detroit Symphony at Ford Auditorium last week. The concert was a celebration by the Detroit AIA commemorating one hundred years of Michigan architecture.

Carol Sterling held a baby shower last October 23. His party in celebration included an assortment of fourteen aunts, uncles, and grandparents.

Moore Drive's Kostelichs recently entertained his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Diant, from Milwaukee. The couple last week celebrated their 20th wedding anniversary.

Mary Barden journeyed to South Bend, Indiana last weekend to see Frank Szymanski, State Representative Leslie Hudson of Pontiac and Margaret Price, National Committee Woman.

Players Planning Two More Plays

While "The Bay is Green," to be presented November 15, 16, 22, 23, is still in the final preparation stages, plans are already being made for two major spring productions. The first of these will be produced in the high school gymnasium around the end of January, and the second will be produced in May.

For the entire season this will mean three major productions for the Farmington Players instead of two as has been the case in previous years. Consideration is being given to the production of four plays in the 58-59 season.

For this increase in productivity the Players estimate that a 50 per cent increase in active membership will be necessary. The Players are therefore inviting applications for active membership. An active member may take part in all of the several phases of play producing, it was pointed out.

The most important and always in demand, are members who are interested in acting. They are also active in such other activities such as staging, lighting, sound, properties, costumes, building, painting, however, are also vitally important. Officials added. Membership in the Farmington Players is limited. Applications will be available to those wishing to join the nights "The Bay is Green" is given.

To attend "The Bay is Green" tickets must be purchased in advance and may be procured by calling Mrs. W. B. Brotherton, GR. 4-0913, Mrs. Plamer Bissell, GR. 4-378, or any member of the Farmington Players.

"Locals" Writer Finds California Stay Enjoyable

Marie Long, "Locals" correspondent, who has been vacationing in California, indicated that she would be back home the latter part of this week and would return to her column again immediately upon her return.

She gave the husband account of her and her husband's vacation trip in a letter received at The Enterprise office Monday.

Arriving at the California inspection station and being checked through, she started our two weeks of site-seeing, visiting, and just plain relaxing in the sun.

Our first impression of California was of endless desert stretching as far as the eye could see in any direction, but we were soon to learn differently. Our first stop of course was at the home of our daughter and son-in-law in El Centro where Skip is stationed. While there we saw all the different parts of the base, parachute jumps, the care given the air craft before it leaves the ground, and yes, the big part, how the Air Force Officer and his family spend their leisure hours. It certainly made me want to have my husband join up tomorrow. From bridge parties to luncheons, from office in the morning to show a night, all the way to gala dinner dances and trips to Mexico it really keeps you busy.

There is always something to do and I might add that here in California is the place to do it.

We went to Mexico shopping for souvenirs just attending a few of their nightclubs which are much like our American ones. Also San Diego is a town that everyone visiting Southern California should see. From its flowered cliffs down to its sandy beaches bordering the blue Pacific it is spell-binding. The mountains in themselves, are beautiful too. They are all so very different.

Mrs. Long also reported in her letter that Lt. Hazen (Skip) Karp will be getting out of the service this week and that he and his wife, the former Carol Long, will be leaving El Centro, California, today or Friday.

Future plans are indefinite, they indicated.

Botsford Garden Group to Elect New Officers

Co-hostesses for the meeting will be Mrs. Emma Carlee, Mrs. Julie Nedz and Mrs. Julia Michael. The card party held on Friday, October 25, at the Farmington Players and Loan Association was reported a huge success. A "thank you" was extended by officials to the merchants who donated prizes and members who donated time and food to help make the party a success.

Club president, Mrs. Anna Keller, who underwent major surgery at Detroit Osteopathic Hospital, is now home again and reported recovering satisfactorily.

White Nylon Needs Good, Special Care

Good care from the beginning helps keep white nylon really white, says Bernette Kahaba, extension specialist in clothing at Michigan State University.

White nylon tends to pick up color easily so wash white nylon separately from colored things, she advises. When possible make one washing batch of just white synthetic fabrics.

It's best to wash white nylon after every wearing so soil doesn't have a chance to build up. Using a perborate bleach frequently helps prevent yellowing or greying.

White nylons that are already grey or yellow can be brighten up again, points out, Miss Kahaba. One method is to use a chlorine type bleach in softened water. Follow all directions on the label — most of the bleaches include special instructions for whitening nylon.

Commercial color remover can also be used—instructions for use are on the package. Special nylon whiteners are effective and easy to use, too.

Using strong bleaches frequently may harm the fabric. For this reason the milder-perborate bleaches are recommended for regular use and the stronger chlorine type only for removing stubborn discoloration.

Those who have hard water should use a water softener in the wash water and in the first rinse. Put softener in the water, then add the detergent. Be sure to rinse garments thoroughly. For bright, white nylons all loosened soil must be rinsed out.
