U.N. Editorial

Dear Sir:

I would like to thank you for your fine editorial of October 23 calling attention to United Nations Day and Week.

It is only through proper publicity of UN work that we can generate support for internationalism. And it would seem that an international spirit that leaps petty boundaries is our last hope for avoiding a catastrophic war.

You could take an even more positive step by dropping the George S. Benson column, since Benson is well-known for his extreme right-wing nationalism. If this does not seem possible, perhaps you could balance Benson with a column expressing a different point of view.

Very sincerely yours,
Thomas Ford Hault.

Bond PTA Panel Discussion Planned Nov. 18

The November meeting of the Bond PTA will be held on Monday, November 18, at 8 p.m., at Bond School.

The meeting will be in the form of a panel discussion and will provide answers about the special services Farmington schools offer boys and girls: the gifted, physically handicapped and the mentally and emotionally disturbed child. Miss Minnie Ziekle, elementary co-ordinator; Mrs. Courville, speech correctionist; Mr. Polk, special education head; Miss Sandusky, school nurse; and Mrs. Hickox, visiting teacher, will compose the panel.

A complete case history will be taken and each panel member will give a brief talk on his part in that case.

A question and answer period will follow.

Between the business meeting and panel discussion, Girl Scout pins will be awarded and the Farmington Junior High mixed choral group, under the direction of Mr. Hunt, will furnish entertainment.

Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Farm-City Week Program Planned

Plans for a "Partners in Progress" special train excursion to Michigan State University, November 26, as a feature of National Farm-City Week were announced today by the Railroad Community Committee of Greater Detroit.

The trip is designed to encourage rural and urban understanding in Michigan, according to John B. Hanks, railroad committee agricultural chairman.

More than 300 civic, business, industrial, labor and farm leaders from Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties will board the special Chesapeake and Ohio train in Detroit and Plymouth for the all-day visit to the university's college of agriculture.

"For 26 weeks a year," Hanks said, "both farm and city are challenged to tell the story of interdependency. Farm-City Week is designed to appraise what we are doing, to set the stage for cooperative planning to reach the goal of mutual understanding."

"The railroad industry in Michigan with Michigan State University hopes to promote solidarity between farm and city that comes from a common understanding of mutual problems," Hanks said.

Additional information about the train excursion and program planned may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Frazer Wadsworth at 25370 Drake Road, GR 4-5519.

Count the Rings

The age of trees grown in the temperate climatic zones (most of the U.S.) can be determined by counting the number of annual rings from bark to pith. The ring growth gives lumber much of its beauty, an intricate pattern and texture of grain.
