KLINE'S HOBBY SHOP
MODELS BICYCLES CRAFTS

A BEAUTIFYING addition to the main business district of Farmington is the new building housing Kline's Hobby Shop and Louay's Smart Apparel Shoppe on Grand River, just east of Farmington Sales and Service. The apparel shop, formerly located in smaller quarters across the street, has an ultra-modern interior with a blue and green drape, a section of exposed brick and a white ceiling. Also featured is deep pile, wall-to-wall carpeting and soft incandescent lighting. A complete line of distinctive apparel for the discriminating woman is being handled at the new store, Mrs. Edwin J. Youssy, proprietor stated. The new hobby shop, with an all peg board interior, has all kinds of models, crafts and bikes, as well as a complete line of H. O. train models. Proprietor Earl Kline formerly owned a floor covering establishment in Livonia. A covered walk separates the two stores, with ample parking provided in the rear.

The Walt Disney color film, "Treasure Island," will be shown, starting at 2 p.m.

Farmington Players

Announce Discount Plan for Next Production, "My Three Angels"

The Farmington Players have announced plans for their next play which will also benefit other community groups which need a fundraising project. The play, "My Three Angels," will be produced on February 14 and 15 and 21 and 22 in the Farmington Junior High auditorium.

Featured in the cast are several people who have contributed many volunteer hours of service to various community efforts. Player officials said. These people are especially aware of the continuing need of community organizations to raise money for various charitable activities.

Recently, it was decided that any recognized community service organization could get tickets at a discount for sale to their members or others at the regular price, the organization to pocket the difference. The discount will be on a sliding scale, it was pointed out, so that the larger the block of tickets the greater the profits for the group. The plan would be a good opportunity for groups which need more money in their treasuries.

"My Three Angels" enjoyed a long run on Broadway and several amateur groups have since claimed it as one of their most successful shows audience-wise.

Featured in the cast will be Roy Brown in the role of "Joseph," a role in which he was a smashing hit for the Ridgeland Players three years ago. Roy is well-known in parts for his community activities.
