20 Prepare For Forensics Meet

Approximately 20 F. H. S. students are working on selections for the annual forensics contest.
The local contest, consisting of entrants from F.H.S., will be held sometime prior to March 22. The district contest, comprised of students of local contests in area schools, will be held at Farmington about two weeks after the local contest. The regional contest will be held before April 26.
There are five categories in the contest. These are: extempore speech, oratorical declamation, original oratory, humorous reading, and dramatic reading. The winners in each of these categories in the local contest will receive a forensics pin. The district contest winner will receive a Webster's Unabridged Collegiate Dictionary.
First prize in the regionals will be a forensics pennant awarded by the University of Michigan.
The forensics contest is open to all students and those interested in entering should see Mr. Raymond Sherpitts, speech instructor. J.H.

Home Ec. Child Care Day Held

The senior girls in the home making department had a child care program Tuesday, February 25.
Children about the age of three years were brought in by the girls. They set up a nursery in the home economics room and provided entertainment for the tois.
The girls put on skits, played games and music for the children.
One of the skits was "Little Red Riding Hood" featuring June Balcom as Red Riding Hood, Judy Becker as the wolf and Kathy Harris doubled up of the parts of mother and grandmother.
The purpose of the "Child Care Day" was to observe the actions of small children.
The little ones remained in the homemaking room while the girls attended their other classes. E.V.D.

Jr. Play Tryouts To Start Monday

Junior Play tryouts are scheduled for today, March 6 at 7:00 p.m. in either the band or the music room.
Mr. Raymond Sherpitts, director, is hoping for a good turnout because there are seven roles for boys, eleven for girls, and "plenty of room for extras." Rehearsals will begin on the following Monday, March 10 in the cafeteria from 6:30 - 9:30 p.m.
"Dino" is to be presented April 18 and 19 in the Farmington Junior High Auditorium, allowing five weeks for practice.
Committees for the play will be organized within the next few weeks. G. R.

Exchangeites Hear Talk On Post Offices

Partly - four Exchangeites and guests were present last Wednesday, February 26 to hear Postmaster Henry Trombley and Assistant Postmaster Cliff Desarmes give some very enlightening facts on U.S. Government Post Offices.
A film on "Men, Mail and Machines" was shown in which the "Mail Flo System" is used to not only speed the delivery and handling of mail, but this system also adds greatly to the efficiency of postal departments.
One of the new systems has recently been installed in Detroit.
An interesting fact is that Al Benson of Farmington Township played a big part in the installation of the electronics. It has been said that Mr. Benson may go to Chicago and New York City in the near future for similar installations.
The "Mailster," a new assistant to the delivery man, which resembles a covered motor scooter with a trailer, was also shown in the picture.
Postmaster Trombley answered several questions as to why there has been a deficit building up for years in the post office department as well as other questions pertaining to various magazine articles recently published on the U.S. Post Office.
