

Almey Crab Trees Now Available

Again this year the Farmington Garden Club will sponsor the planting of the Crimson Almey Crab Tree as a part of a community wide beautification program. It is the hope and objective of the Garden Club that more and more of these trees will be planted throughout the City and Township. To aid in this program the Garden Club will have these trees available for spring planting. Call Garden Club Roadside Chairman, Mrs. Howard L. Richards, GR 4-5561 to place your order.

Bond School 6th Graders Entering State Conservation Contest

In preparing to enter the Percy Hoffmaster State Conservation Contest, the sixth grade at Bond School, under the direction of their teacher Mrs. Edwena McCuskey, completed a conservation study unit with a program given on Wednesday, February 26, for the fifth and sixth graders of the school.

James Uhl, general chairman, introduced the group chairman, who, in turn presented the members of the committee. Each child of the thirty-five in the room worked under one of the following phases of conservation: Fishing, Water Resources, Wild Life Man-

Food Discussion Programs Slated At Clarenceville

The Edgewood P. T. A. and Mother's Club have completed arrangements for three special food discussion meetings for parents in the Clarenceville School District on March 13, 27 and April 3.

The series is planned in cooperation with the Oakland County Department of Social Welfare, Health Department and Cooperative Extension Service. They are scheduled at the Edgewood School beginning at 8:00 p.m.

Mrs. Helen Slayton of the Department of Social Welfare will lead "What Surplus Foods Can Do For You" on March 13. She will explain who can get surplus foods and how to register to get them.

Miss Anabel Eckardt, Nutritionist of the Health Department will show how to prepare and use surplus foods.

"More Food for Less Dollars" is the topic for March 27. Mrs. Josephine Lawyer of the Cooperative Extension Service will discuss how to stretch food dollars to buy more for the family. Miss Eckardt will report on food surveys made in the school district.

"Shopping Tips" will conclude the series April 3. Mrs. Lawyer will illustrate how to use more common intelligence when buying food for the family.

All parents in the school district are invited to attend one or all of the special sessions.
