People Do Have Voice in Annual Meeting

Since the remarks of Mr. Louis Fink in last week's paper, I would like to comment on the recent Township annual meeting. It would appear that Mr. Fink does not understand the purpose of the annual meeting, even after 17 years, and it may be that other citizens are also in the dark.

No Explanation

Dear Sir: Mr. Louis Fink in his letter to the Enterprise deplores the "undignified behavior" of the people at the annual Township Meeting on April 5th.

The members of the Township Board were elected to serve the people of the Township in a manner that will not provoke such a conduct that was displayed at the meeting on April 5th.

When the Township Board contemplates to involve the people of the Township in a business transaction that calls for the spending of many millions of dollars, citizens are certainly not limited to asking questions, as Mr. Fink would have us believe - and there is nothing illegal or improper about a citizen presenting a substitute proposal if he feels that the Board's proposal is not for the best interests of the Township.

The 3 electors at the annual meeting do not have the right to indicate their vote to the elected officials and when they do so they are following the intent of the Michigan law - and if criticism of officers in order, there is no more appropriate time to bring these up than at the annual meeting of electors.

Nine citizens signed the substitute budget proposal of the Citizens Committee for Study of the Farmington Township Budget - these happened to be the only ones present at the annual meeting.

Several Start Pre-Flight CAP Training

Several cadets of the Farmington Civil Air Patrol Squadron have engaged in their second phase of training.

The cadets will continue to take advantage of flying in the Civil Air Patrol airplane, an L-16. These flights will, during this training program, aid them in gaining a better understanding of the major elements of flight.

Upon completion of two of these flights in pre-flight the cadets are eligible for a drill team and a team of aircraft maintenance.

For further information on Civil Air Patrol call Mayfair 6-2000 or Mayfair 6-3802.

The women's high game was 170 bowled by White Jenkins.

Detroit Consumer Marketing Information Agent tells us that in almost any food store you probably can find honey in two or three different forms: honey in the comb; liquid honey which has been extracted from the comb; and crystallized honey which has been made into a thick spread. Honey in any of its forms will make a pleasant switch in sweeteners.

BOB HOWARD has been named Hardie Sprayer dealer for this area, and is now open for business at 27215 Haledale Road. The Hardie line includes sprayers for orchards, row crops and trees.

He was chosen as representative here because of his experience with such equipment. A resident of the area all his life, he worked for his father Lloyd Howard more than 20 years. Later he expects to expand with other orchard and garden equipment.

POLLOCK'S NURSERY at 10500 Middlebelt has opened and is featuring an open air garden shop. The shop has wide garage-type displays that swing open to show the display of lawn and garden supplies. Work has started on a patio between the shop and the road that will be surrounded by trellis-work and blooming flowers. Mr. Pollock also plans to have a catnip and lavender nursery for cats and dogs.

The nursery will soon have nearly two acres of evergreens, shade trees, flowers shrubs and roses. Mr. Pollock is the former owner of a landscaping and nursery business on Plymouth Road. Before that he was active in the nursery business in Detroit.

RONNIE CLEVELAND celebrated his tenth birthday on Wednesday, April 2nd. Ronnie invited Doug Bacon, John Ecker, Tom Donahue, Chris Brown, Karyl Boehmke, Allen Hart, and Bonnie Custer. The entire theme of the party was western. Dinner was served chuck wagon style consisting of sloppy joes, hot dogs, potato chips, baked beans, cake and ice cream. Games were played after dinner on the western theme of a show.

People Do Have Voice in Annual Meeting

Since the remarks of Mr. Louis Fink in last week's paper, I would like to comment on the recent Township annual meeting. It would appear that Mr. Fink does not understand the purpose of the annual meeting, even after 17 years, and it may be that other citizens are also in the dark.
