Members of Antioch Evangelical Lutheran Church, United Lutheran congregation in the North Farmington area, met last Thursday evening in the E. Duncker Junior High School to see a model of the proposed building plan. Attractive and informative charts prepared by Kenneth Falk and John Starkey illustrated the projected rate of population increase in this area, the expected rate of church and Sunday School membership, and the suggested financial goal.

For the present fiscal year, members of Antioch hope to give specifically for building needs $5,300.00. $12,400 is the goal for the next year, and $23,800 for the year following. The success of the congregation's success is yearly pledged appeals among its members, the Board of American Missions of the United Lutheran Church in America will advance a loan to complete the needed amount for a building.

At the dinner meeting last Thursday, members heard how the United Lutheran Church backs missions financially, yet allows for great lay-in by the selection of an architect, the style of architecture, and the amount desired to be spent on a building project.
