The Murphys are back from their six weeks in Europe. They flew over landing at Lisbon: saw Portugal and Spain before going to Rome; then up through Switzerland to Vienna. From there they took a side trip to Kitzbuhl, a big skiing resort for Austrians, but now in spring bloom. Then on to Stuttgart, Germany, and the real reason for this trip—a week with their son and his wife. When Michael and Kay were married last August, Kay was already under contract as the star of Holiday on Ice. Michael, therefore, accepted a job in the managerial end so they could have a long honeymoon in Europe.

When the show returns to the states this summer, Kay will leave it. From Stuttgart the Murphys went on to Paris for a few days before taking their homebound plane.

Elise didn't tell me but I heard their furnace had exploded while they were away so they had a very black welcome home with much work to do cleaning up. How fortunate there was no fire!

The Weavers planned a reunion week end of five or six days. They go out to Mohab, Utah, to vacation there pretty regularly. Mrs. Amelia Keyes and Ruth Riggins drove from Farmington, reaching there about 4:30 Friday afternoon after driving through the night. Two others were to have come with them but spent the holiday in the hospital instead. Saturday night the Leo Garritys from Detroit and the Hands joined them for a real western week end. The ranch was good enough to hold off 'til after the meal was over and they were inside showing the ranch pictures taken through the years.

Ruth found time to take her quest to Northland, but couldn't squeeze in the trip to Ford Museum they wanted very badly. They left Sunday morning in the pouring rain for the return trip.

The Swifts went up to open their summer cottage on Vaughn Lake—about 20 miles from Hale, over the week end. Carter Billie went with them and, of course, he and Jack did some fishing. Jack caught his pike but Carter's got away. It rained up there from early morning Saturday and all day Sunday with the exception of just enough time to cook their steaks outside Saturday evening.

Heidi Ambrose was two years old May 20, and Christine six on Memorial Day. Their birthday party is scheduled for this coming Saturday which I will tell you about next week.

Vera Blanchfield was with a group of eight enthusiastic golfers to watch the start of Sunday play of the Western Open Golf meet at Red Run. Crowds were there at the first tee: it was pouring rain; they had on two raincoats apiece, but when both of them were soaked through they left the golfers to play without them. Of course Vera spends most of her time at Glen Oaks Golf Club for she has the golf bug badly.

Memorial Trophy Case To Be Purchased

The trophy case will be used to display awards for outstanding citizenship and sportsmanship.

Cheese Souffle

Looking for a menu suggestion? Try a fluffy cheese souffle made with eggs. Serve with buttered asparagus and a green salad, suggests the Marketing Information Agent.

Large size eggs are about 50 cents a dozen. That is less than a dozen of the smaller size. Eggs are in season, so this is a timely vegetable choice. And now that we have more cucumbers and radishes at lower prices, salads can be more colorful for fewer pennies.

Add beverage and bread. The menu is complete for a supper or dinner meal.
