Attend National Dance Festival

Evelyn Kresson, local dance teacher, was one of those chosen to teach at the national dance convention, The Hinkle Dance Festival held Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of this week. She taught a ballet dance called, "Simplicity."

Also attending the convention with her were some of her Senior students, among whom are Nancy Niles, Sherry Whaley, Tom Cook, Kathleen Row, Ruthann Kresson, and Kathleen Measka.

These students and others from Farmington area were presented in a dance recital entitled, "Time to Dance" on June 14th at the Farmington High School. The six recitalists also starred another Farmington girl, Judith Clappison, an assistant teacher at the Kresson Dance Studio. This group has graduated this June from Farmington High School.

Reveal Secret Pals for 1957

The Blue Star Mothers met in the town square on Wednesday June 19, for their regular business meeting and the delegates' reports of the 16th Annual Dept. of Michigan Annual Convention held in the Weronah Hotel in Bay City from June 8 to 11.

A special "thank you" was given to William Schroeder and Dale Demankowski who gave of their time to carry the Blue Star Mothers colors in the Memorial Day parade. They are members of the regular church hour.

There were twenty-two members present at this meeting and there was the revealing of secret pals and choosing again for 1958 after a lunch was served to those attending.

The Chapter voted to purchase a T.V. set for the Iron Mountain V.A. Hospital thru their Dept. of Mich. Hospital Chairman, Mrs. Mary MacDonald of Detroit and Mrs. Elliott of South St. Marie, who is the local chairman.

The next business meeting at the fire hall will be held on July 17, at 1 p.m.

Timely Tips on GARDENING

By Betty Frankel

CONTRARY WEATHER

The weather has been quite contrary this year. April saw very few showers, and June has been unseasonably cool and effective than DDT for birch leaf miners, and is excellent for control of lace bugs, aphids, and weevils. Rotenone and Pyrethrum are widely used insecticides.

All of these chemicals for controlling pests can be purchased separately and the gardener can mix his own solutions and make his own combinations. However, there are many combination sprays and dusts available. The gardener should read the labels carefully. Select the one that best fills your requirements. Be sure to follow directions for application. All leaf surfaces should be completely covered, and repeat applications should be made at the proper intervals.

There are many new spraying and dusting devices that make application easy. Most elaborate and expensive are power operated sprayers, but the average gardener has little need for these. Hand operated spray guns or dust guns will serve as well. Aerosol cans are convenient and easy to use. Perhaps the most satisfactory of all, though, are the spray jars that attach to a controlled dosage of whatever mixture is put in the jar.

There are some safety precautions the gardener should observe when using pest controls. Avoid contact with skin with chemicals, and do not inhale the spray or dust. Try to keep the chemicals away from birds, cats, dogs, and fish ponds. Wash fruits and vegetables before eating them, and if possible do so within a week or two of harvesting them. Do not spray the heat of the day. Spray or dust in the early morning or in the evening, thus avoiding damage to foliage. Do not forget repeated treatment is necessary for effective control.

CUTTING ROSES

Roses are reaching the peak of their display. Some roses bloom only in June, but even the "ever-blooming" varieties begin the season with a huge display. Although bloom continues throughout the summer it seldom equals the "grand opening" of the buds.

Roses make a spectacular showing in the garden, but are also unrivaled as cut flowers. Nothing is more disappointing, however, than to pick a lush, velvety, perfectly formed rose, carefully arrange it in a lovely vase, and then see it wilt before your eyes.

To have roses last, a few simple rules must be followed. The best time to cut roses is in the evening. Select ones that have the best treatment for control of leaf spot as well as many other fungal diseases. Phthalan and Mudeer are effective against powdery mildew.

Antibiotics are also being used to control fungus diseases of plants and plant bacterial infections. Strptomycin, terramycin and actidione are useful. These must be used with caution, though.

Mites can be effectively controlled with Aramite or Kelthane. Malathion is also a fair miticide.

The list of effective insecticides is increasing but DDT still heads the list. It will kill many kinds of insects, including beetles and grubs, and is still the best treatment for control of leaf hoppers. Malathion is a popular insecticide. It is a phosphate compound that is not toxic to the gardener. However, it is a potent plant damage if used on tender growth when temperatures are high and disease is heavy. Malathion takes care of a wide range of insects, including scale insects, mealy bugs, and "white flies". Lindane is another widely used insecticide. It is most effective than DDT for birch leaf miners, and is excellent for control of lace bugs, aphids, and weevils. Rotenone and Pyrethrum are widely used insecticides.

VALEDICTORIAN AT LUTHERAN WEST

Marylou Seldon, 30102 West Ten Mile Rd., graduates as valedictorian at the senior class of 1958 at Lutheran High School West.

In addition to maintaining a perfect A average throughout her four years at the school, she was also very active in dramatics and journalism. She received achievement medals in each of these fields plus a National Honor Society Medal membership and the first key ever presented to a student at Lutheran by the Michigan High School Forensic Association. The final honor voted for her was the American Legion School Award for encouraging high school scholarship service, courage, and leadership. Graduation exercises were held June 12 at Horace Rackham Educational Memorial.

WILL BE AMONG FIRST ATTENDING CAMP CAVELL

The YWCA's Camp Cavell on Lake Huron, near Lexington, Michigan, will open its 43rd season this Saturday, June 28th, when 125 girls arrive for the first of four two-week sessions.

Among this first group of girls will be Maria Welter of Cass, Nottingham, Farmington.

Facilities at Camp Cavell have undergone a thorough rehabilitation for this year's program, Camp Director Elizabeth Mitchell said. Among the improvements is a new ring for the campers' most favorite class, horseback riding, she said.

Rain has fallen for as many as 38 consecutive days on the coast since Sunday, Washington State.

Area Artists Invited to Display Works; Plan Two Month Exhibit

"The Society for the Preservation of Artistic Endeavor in the Age of Science and Spunk" is about to launch its summer and fall effort to give the aspiring artists of this area an opportunity to display their wares and possibly sell a million dollars worth of paintings during July and August."

This cooperative society of artists has arranged an exhibit in Adams Hall of the Farmington Universalist church which is located on Warner street, one block north of Grand River and one block east of Farmington Road, starting Sunday, July 6.

All artists in the surrounding community are invited to hang any paintings they want to in or out of the regular church hours. There will be no judges or jury to say what can and what cannot be hung but because of space limitations each exhibitor will be limited to three paintings. There will be a small service fee and a small commission will be asked for any sales made.

For information regarding exhibits, contact Mrs. Wanda Pusey, GR. 4-5089, 32545 Eleven Mile Road, Farmington. Adams Hall will be ready to receive the exhibits Thursday, July 3, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. and on Saturday, July 5, from 9 a.m. to noon.

The Farmington Universalist Church has arranged a series of cultural and educational meetings for the summer months. These meetings will replace the regular church service and will be held at the regular church hour, 10:30 a.m. The first of the series, Sunday, July 13, will have as its topic, "Art and its Relation to Our Community."

This will be a panel discussion with three well known persons of the art world: Mrs. Cyril Miles, a painter and director of art for the Highland Park School; Martin Beerbaum, an internationally known artist who lives here and has taught in the Farmington schools, and Mike Church, director of art ex-
