Safety Booklet Going to Homes
Boy Scouts in this area began the distribution of handbooks entitled "Handbook for Emergency" to homes throughout the community as part of a National Safety Good Turn project.

When selecting cantaloupe, look for one with no trace of stem at the blossom end. The thicker, rougher netting usually indicates good quality. Yellowish tinged skin indicates ripeness. Too yellow may mean overripeness. A sweet musk-like aroma is another sign of top quality. Freeze some in balls or chunks for fruit cups or salads on special winter days.

Electric water heaters are cool to the touch all over, safe for playing children.

40 Try Out for Falconaires
Falconaires have been chosen for the 1958-59 school year. Of 10 people who tried out during the past week, approximately 75 percent of those who tried out were girls. Those who were trying out had had some Alma Mater alone and then sing "Now The Day is Over" with another person. They were then judged on ability to read music and on their voice project and singing voice. Judges were Mr. Harold Karl, orchestra instructor at the Farmington Junior High, Mr. Lee S. Peck, Mrs. Dorothy Peck, Mr. Robert Zimmerman, and Mr. William Feucht, M.H.C.

New Teachers
Mr. James Wilmoth, Biology and Chemistry teacher, came from Deckerville, Michigan to reside in Farmington. He attended Marshall College, Huntington, W. Va. and has been teaching since he left before coming to Farmington. He is married and the father of two children, Jonathan and Fanny Lynn. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Trickey spent the weekend in the north. Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Guntzler are entertaining the community from Florida. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ward were dinner guests of Mrs. Bessie Fletcher of New Hudson on Saturday evening.

ZUD REMOVES RUST & STAINS
ZUD is a specially illustrated booklet jointly prepared by the United States Civil Defense and the Boy Scouts of America. Topics in the 24-page pamphlet include home shelters, disaster know-how, first aid, family preparedness, warning signals, coneland instructions, fallout protection, community plans and evacuation. The back cover also has a 12-question check-list which may be answered "yes" or "no" to indicate whether or not a family is "prepared for disaster."

Girls Forming Vogue Club
The senior girls of F. H. S. are starting a new club this year that will be called Vogue Club. The club is open for senior girls only and junior girls in January. A tea will be held today Thursday, October 2 in the cafeteria from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. The tea will give the girls a chance to see what the club will do in the future and also give them a chance to meet the advisor, Mrs. Marcia French. The tea will also have Mackenzie High School's president and vice-president of the Vogue Club to give the girls her own idea of what their club is doing. At the future Vogue Club meetings there will be a fashion consultant come and talk, exercise parties, and visits to beauty clinics. Active members will get pins. Those interested in joining and wish more information concerning the Vogue Club should contact Wanda Barnes, B.C.T.

THE NOVI Rebekah Lodge is having a social on Thursday, October 23. The club will meet in the hall Tuesday, October 7th, all day to prepare for their banquet on Wednesday, October 8th, which will be followed by a chicken pie supper at 5:30 p.m. The Amvets and Auxiliary are now selling all kinds of boxed Xmas candies and cakes. Mrs. Myrza Ward, Mrs. Mandel, Mrs. Gardella, and Mrs. Russell Race attended the Blue Star Mothers session at Pontiac last week. SEVERAL from here attended the funeral of Mrs. Elwin Dearing on Saturday at the Ebert Funeral home in Northville. She lived here for several years. She leaves her husband, a sister and brother, as well as 15 nieces and nephews. She died in St. Joseph Hospital on Thursday where she had been confined after a major operation for three weeks. Burial took place on Monday at Evert, her former home, and birthplace.

Well Worth It
The Education Association of Springfield Massachusetts has translated the value of a high school diploma into dollars and cents. It was found that the taxpayers pay about $5,000 per student in taxes. This amount is for completion of a 12-year program. The lifetime earnings of a high school graduate is about $119,000 more than that of a person with limited schooling. The high school graduate will earn and spend 25 times as much as $500 invested in his education.
