The October Neighborhood Association meeting of the Middlebelt-Shiawassee Girl Scout Area was held in the Library of the Middlebelt School last Tuesday evening. This area now consists of four Brownie Troops, three Intermediate Girl Scout troops and one Tween-III troop. It was reported by the Area Chairman that these girls sold a total of 663 on their recent sale.

Mrs. Picta, the neighborhood chairman, reported that permission has been given by the Middlebelt PTA for the girls to have a booth at their annual bazaar to be held at the school on November 22. This booth will sell Girl Scout calendars, cans of salted nuts and candy.

It was also requested that the group give thought to the need for an organization chairman.

Brownie Troop 224, under the leadership of Mrs. Bryant, have been making wall plaques by writing the Brownie promise on tongue depressors. These girls are also preparing for their presentation which will take place on November 5.

Brownie Troop 322, under the leadership of Mrs. Chambers, have been busy making Hall of Fame hats and noisemakers for their party. They had a practice cook out at which they learned the art of fire building and making trench candles. Their newly acquired skill was put to the test at an outing at Kensington where they built fires, cooked out and went on a nature hike on the Tamarack trail.

Intermediate Troop 16, under the leadership of Mrs. Toli, have been busy making chemical gardens. They recently had a very successful cookout and during their hike in the woods collected bark with which they made name tags for their mother's meeting. They are now busy planning their Halloween Party.

Troop 800, under the leadership of Mrs. Schaefer, had their first meeting getting acquainted and planning their cook out which took place on the following Saturday. A menu of Bratwurst, Horseradish, and a vegetable soup was served. At their next meeting they planned their Halloween party and had election of officers at which Cherie Tucker became secretary and Marlene Goodhue became treasurer.

The November meeting of this association will be held on November 18.

A MEMBER of the famed University of Michigan marching band this year is Douglas Isaacson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Isaacson of 21221 Hamilton Ave., Farmington. Men from 26 different states make up the band in the 172 man precision marching unit. Isaacson, right, is shown here with Dr. William D. Ravelli, conductor of bands, at the U. of M.
