Nancy Nelson Contest Winner

Winner of the weekly football contest sponsored by Farmington merchants last week was a Nancy Nelson, 11 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn W. Nelson, 3328 Alta Lane and this week the Nelson family submitted three entries. Usually all five members of the family enter, with the winning sort of supervising. The winning entry had two misses, but the tie breaker score of 16 was nearest the actual total of six. Nancy first guessed Michigan to win, then scratched that out in favor of Iowa. Second place, but no prize, was won by John P. Lapham.

GI Loan Time For WW II Vets To End in 1960

Veterans of World War II have only two more years — until July 25, 1960 — to apply for GI loans under the Veterans' Administration guaranty program. The extension is authorized by Public Law 85-364, signed by the President on April 1, 1958. This means that VA must receive an application by that date, he said. The 1960 deadline does not apply to VA-guaranteed loans to Korean conflict veterans, who may until January 31, 1963 to use that benefit. Lloyd H. Jamison, VA's Regional Office Manager, pointed out. VA estimates that there are over 650,000 veterans in Michigan still eligible for this loan benefit.

Play Praised

If you missed the Farmington Players' play last weekend and the weekend before — and if the Halloween night audience was an indication, thousands of Farmington residents did — then you missed a stunning bit of theater. The play, "The Hidden River" had much to say. It had a suspense, guts, and the persons who performed in it believed in what they were saying. The heart of the matter was as timely as today's headlines. Essentially, the play explored the place of the individual in a world whose values have gone mad. That was the big theme, but there were many others, overlapping, intertwining, contributing to the whole. What is the character of courage, of privilege, of revenge, of forgiveness, of loyalty, of property — all these important themes were explored. The Farmington Players are young, young compared to many of our other institutions, but this play surely indicates that they have come of age. Now that they have produced a play of solid genre, we can perhaps hope that others will follow. If so, we can safely say that this theatrical group will contribute appreciably to the rather barren wastes of cultural Farmington. And the interesting thing is that they didn't even have to have a Tag Day. Perhaps they should have!

Troop 136 has started a new year with all new members. The invigoration of the 18 new Brownies was held outdoors at the leaders home this past month. The girls invited their mothers to attend the ceremony and cider and cookies were served. The 18 girls who were invested are: Karen Beam, Sandra Beams, Irene Bridges, Penny Brown, Debby Butmore, Leslie Cotton, Mary Ann Cotton, Peggy Coy, Deanna Dorow, Marguerite Faydenko, Carol Fralick, Debby Harris, Karen High, Debby Jackson, Beth Schwartz, Judy Sheldon, Barbara Tobin and Pam Spaller. Other troop activities during the month of November were at the Miller and a busy time spent making Halloween masks out of paper bags and paper plates. The leader is Joyce Gagnon. Assistant leaders are Elyse Gagnon and Virginia Faydenko. Busy planning for the investment in November of five new members, Troop 93 has also found time to make lovely carvings of mums which the girls gave to their mothers for Halloween. For their own pleasure and with the assistance of two mothers, Mrs. Persall and Mrs. Stadelbauer, they also made a large mum. As a service to their community the girls have enjoyed making name tags for use of the monthly PTA meetings. Troop leader is B. Wright and assistant Mrs. Babcock. Early this fall, Troop 819 had a very successful Father and

Farmington Area Girl Scout News

Brownies
On the anniversary of their first registration, Troop 317 members planned an exciting birthday party. Punch and birthday cake were served. As part of the occasion a new year was presented to the following girls: Bonnie Appelgate, Nancy Grimaldi, Susan May, Gay Ford, Barbara Trombley, Jan Smith, Karen Simpkins, Vicki Crane, Ellen Marlin, Linda Kelley, Jill Shires, Carol Madigan, Gloria Granger, Barbara Wegman and Celeste Galli, Susan Strenger. Also at the ceremony, Girl Scout pins were presented to the committee members: Carol Hunt, Margie Granger, Pat Geary, and Betty Shires. Earlier in October, the troop enjoyed a visit to the new building at the headquarters of Mr. Geary, the girls were able to see bread-baking made from start to finish. They all found it extremely interesting and recommended that other troops make this tour. Shirley Ford is leader and Ruth Trombley assistant. When Mrs. Sokolovitch was hospitalized recently, the girls in Troop 382 made a card for her and a bouquet of carnations made from Kleenex tissues. Mrs. White and Mrs. Sabon took the girls to the Episcopal Church grounds on a nature hunt for one meeting. Mrs. Fisher was in charge of the girls who participated in the post office dedication parade. Plans were made last week for the girls' investment this week. Leader of the troop is Gloria McQueen and assistant Evelyn Sokolovitch. Troop 136 has started a new year with all new members. ### Wood Creek Farms Still Debating Zone Ordinance

New complications have been brought into the picture to further delay the adoption of a zoning ordinance for the Village of Wood Creek Farms. The village council zoning commission is now wrestling with a demand made by George Wellington Smith, Wood Creek Farms subdivision, which he owns is zoned commercial. General feeling has been expressed in the past that Wood Creek Farms Village neither needs or wants any commercial development. Demand was also being made that larger lot sizes and square foot floor areas for homes in the R-1 zone be required in the zoning ordinance. A minimum lot size of one acre and a minimum first story floor area of 17,000 square feet has been asked for.

Still Studying Pool Ordinance

Adoption of a swimming pool ordinance for the Village of Wood Creek Farms was again discussed by the village council at its regular meeting Tuesday night but no action taken. Councilman H. A. Dobson reported that he and Councilmen Norm Kreider and Z. Reader had studied the Farmington Township and Grand Rapids pool ordinance as well as parts of several others but still felt that more study was necessary. He also indicated that they had studied several residents' division, and that most had agreed that they wanted some kind of protection but didn't know exactly what. Many indicated that deed restrictions prohibited fencing, Dobson said. It was pointed out that all ordinances studied covered only swimming pools as such and made no provisions for manicured ponds, lagoons, etc. It was generally agreed that these also presented a hazardous condition. Action was delayed until December to permit further study.

Contributions Come For Yule Lights

Part of the business firms and individuals have contributed now for the new permanent Christmas decorations for the downtown area. It's hoped more funds will come in soon so decorations can be extended well beyond the main intersection. Contributors to date include: Rosenbom Standard Service, H. Root Chevrolet, Morrell TV, Sterling Plant, Bradley Drugs, Ken & Pete's Barber Shop, Barber Brothers, The Enterprise, Food Fair, Consumers Power, Sam's Shoe Repair, Dr. M. L. of Lutton, Detroit Edison, Dan Lowe Hardware, Gene's Barber Shop, Ruth's Hamburger, Lou's Smart Apple, Dr. Bernard Messon, Farmington Lumber, Mac's 5c & 10c Store, and Dr. R. Timm.

Motor Vehicle Funds Disbursed

Distribution of Motor Vehicle Funds collected for the third quarter to the counties and incorporated cities and villages of Michigan has now been completed by the State Highway Department. Farmington City's share of the funds collected during the quarter was $4,847.80. Wood Creek Farms received $1,195.53. Oakland County's share, part of which will be used for the maintenance of roads in Farmington township, was $764,059.71. Net receipts of the Motor Vehicle Highway Fund for the third quarter of this year, amounted to $38,294,675.05. This is a decrease of $894,974 from the amount collected during the third quarter of 1957.

Acclaims Cville Test Program

The Clarenceville school system, including all elementary and secondary grades, has a very complete and well-planned testing program according to a recent evaluation by Dr. F. W. Worner, official of the U. of M.'s Bureau of School Services, recently met with Clarenceville's Mrs. L. Leat, Mrs. W. Mummery and Mr. M. Millard to evaluate the school system's revised all-school testing program. The main addition this year will be the inclusion of the Differential Aptitude tests (a series of eight tests). Much effort is being made to do a thorough follow-up with students after they complete their tests; to help them evaluate their own strengths and weaknesses in relation to their present education and their future educational goal. At various times in history counterfeiting has been punishable by death.

Controlled Access X-ways Reduce Traffic Accidents, Study Shows

Controlled access expressways now being built in Michigan are cutting accidents, according to a study by Michigan Commissioner John C. Mackie states. The safety record of controlled access portions of our new Michigan expressways compared to the old roads they replace is phenomenal, Mackie indicated. "Six new sections of the Michigan road system currently under study have reduced accidents by 73 percent and injuries by 62 percent over the old roads they replaced. The study covers some 60 miles of new expressways. "Latest figures compare the first six months of 1958, with the expressways in operation, to the first six months of 1957, before the new roads were built. "Accidents on the old roads totaled 384 per mile of road compared to 106 on the controlled access routes. Personal injuries totaled 168 compared to 292 on the old roads. This decrease, despite the fact that traffic volumes on the improved facilities were generally much greater than on the old roads. "Included in the before-and-after study were three sections of U.S.-16 (from Farmington to Brighton, M. 100 to Portland, and Coopersville to Marne) and sections of old and new U.S.-23, 127 and 131. "These figures did not cover a long enough period of time to make any specific projections, but it is indeed significant that during the first six months of this year some 80 miles of new expressways operated with 288 less accidents and 108 less injuries than the old roads they replaced. "It is becoming increasingly clear that the 900 miles of new controlled access expressways to be built in Michigan's current one-and-a-quarter billion dollar five-year highway construction program will save thousands of accidents and injuries, as well as provide convenience to motorists. "The statistics leave little doubt that Michigan's improving traffic accident record is in great measure caused by the fact that we opened some 350 miles of new controlled access highways during the past year."
