Huber disclosed this week. Money raised will be used to provide special Christmas needs for the needier boys at the home and to help finance a camp program being carried on there. Trees may be purchased either in person or by calling KE. 1-1931.

In conjunction with the sale, a contest will be held to name the boy giving the tree to the home by Most Neff. All persons buying trees will have an opportunity to pick a name for the pet. A prize will be given the person whose name for the animal is decided best. It will be awarded on Neff's Michigan Outdoors Christmas Night Show.

Good Safety Dept.

The citizens of the City of Farmington have reason to be proud of the Department of Public Safety.

A short time ago when our four year old decided to burn papers, without taking them outside, our kitchen was engulfed in flames. A call to the Farmington Fire Department resulted in the arrival, within two or three minutes, of a fire truck which promptly quenched the fire, containing the damage to the kitchen.

Particular thanks are due to Detective John Hunter and Sergeant James Harrison for their courteous and considerate attention to the task.

Our appreciation also to Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Delany who sheltered us during those terrifying moments when we were uncertain whether we would ever again see our home.

Sincerely,
Patricia O. Kip

DEICO

The opening phrase most often spoken on the telephone is credited to the man who gave us this instrument. Thomas A. Edison, when once asked "Are you ready to talk?", grabbed a receiver and shouted into the transmitter the historic "I'll be here."

"Hello" has since followed the telephone into practically every civilized country. Except for bills and taxes, tomorrow could be forgotten.
