Missionary to Speak at First Baptist Church

Challenging seminary students to start new churches in strategic cities of Portugal where there are none has been one of the aims of the Rev. Samuel Faircloth, a missionary who will speak at Farmington First Baptist Church on Sunday, January 18th at 9:00 a.m., 11:30 a.m., 5:45 p.m. and 7:00 p.m.

Faircloth has spent nine years teaching and serving as president of the Baptist Theological Seminary of Leiria, Portugal. The graduates of this school are now serving in 18 different Baptist churches in Portugal.

Nevertheless, almost 75% of the provincial capitals have no Baptist churches. Faircloth expects his missionary students to begin churches in many of these places.

In addition to his seminary duties, Faircloth has been active in a program designed to give further training to the average church member. He has held short-term Bible institutes in local churches which have been eagerly accepted by Portuguese Baptists.

Before beginning his service in Portugal, Faircloth was graduated from Wheaton College, Wheaton, Illinois, and from Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary, Philadelphia. He also served as an army chaplain with the occupation forces in Italy during World War II. Following his tour of duty, Faircloth finally expects to return to Portugal to continue working in the seminary.

Alcohol Education Authority To Speak at C'ville Methodist

Reverend Robert L. Hammond, the Director of Alcohol Education of the Michigan Temperance Foundation, will speak at the Clarenceville Methodist Church in Farmington on January 18 at 8:45 and 11:15 a.m.

A graduate of Michigan State University with a master's degree in the field of speech, Hammond has twice attended the National Training School of the National Alcoholism League.

Stressing the necessity of a scientific and factual approach to the problem of alcoholism, Hammond maintains that such an approach must of necessity deal with the preventative phase of alcoholism as well as the rehabilitative phase.

In his opinion, "our problem is similar to the road that dangerously winds around a steep mountain. It is more important to build a fence at the dangerous cliff than it is to maintain an ambulance service at the bottom."

"Any successful alcohol education program must do both. This means that the youth of today need to be shown that total abstinence from all alcoholic beverages is scientifically, economically, socially, morally and spiritually the smartest and safest way of life."

Hammond believes that "the root of the problem lies in the pressure of the liquor industry which seeks to enlist youth in the drinking cult. Because of high pressure and false advertising instituted by the liquor industry, many youths have failed to make the proper adjustments to wholesome living."

Franklin Church Building Fund Drive in Orbit

"The 'Wipe Out the Debt and Move Forward' crusade at Franklin Community Church is rapidly gaining momentum, according to Edward C. Loppnow, chairman."

In a letter to the congregation Loppnow said, "We are now well off the launching pad and we plan to orbit during the next two years at the altitude of at least $55,000. With our determined effort to give a lot of solid fuel, we can orbit even higher."

Over one hundred and fifty workers are being enlisted to do the calling involved in this campaign. On Sunday, January 18, members of the Church will be given the opportunity to give two-year pledges during the morning worship.

Dr. Everett K. Seymour, superintendent of the Detroit District of the Methodist Church, will speak. That same day visitors will call on those who do not pledge during the service and secure their pledges.

Every member-family is expected to pledge, Loppnow indicated.

This is the third Building Fund drive of the 118 year old congregation, the first having been in 1855. Results are evidenced in beautiful new colonial structure on Franklin's Village Green, in a new parsonage for the minister's home, in a rapidly increasing membership and Church School.

Robert J. Searls is minister.

Friends of Library to Hold Annual Meeting; Fill Vacancies

Farmington Friends of the Library will hold its annual meeting Tuesday, January 20, at 8:00 p.m. in the new library at Farmington Junior High School on Thomas Street.

This is the first membership meeting in several months and achievements of the past year will be reported and plans made for definite objectives for the present year. All members are urged to attend.

Three vacancies on the board of directors will be filled at this meeting, including the termination of two successful three-year terms served by Wendell Brown. During this time he served as president, program chairman, and gave unlimited legal advice and service. Mrs. Kenneth Lachmann is chairman of the nominating committee to fill these vacancies.

The suggestion has been made and the board is considering changing the by-laws to permit a larger range of membership dues including contributory, sustaining and life memberships. This will be reviewed and offered for further consideration and suggestions.
