Wood Creek Village

ANNE M. PHILLIPS
MA. 6-6335

All Wood Creekers who belong to the Franklin Evening Garden Club are reminded that the club meets at the Alger Clarks tonight. It should be very interesting as there will be movies on landseaping and slides on gloxinias and African violets.

Marie MacGinnis has had a very trying period. It was just after the new year that a phone call came from Birginia, Minnesota that her father had been brought to the hospital badly frozen. It seems that he had gotten up at about 4 a.m. with a compulsion to go out. As it was 40 below zero, his wife was alarmed. She phoned two other children, one living about eight miles away, the other eighteen. The police and fire departments also entered the search. It was after nine when he was found lying near the lake and rushed to the hospital. Mac and Marie flew right out and Marie stayed on til Jan. 18. In spite of frozen hand and feet he continues to live—at age 92. Marie expects he will be taken home shortly with a practical nurse to help her mother care for him.

LAST WEDNESDAY Roslyn Becker had the Little Group, a Farmington charitable organization of 16 ladies, for tea at her home. They made plans for a Silent Auction to be held in April, a start on this year's money raising projects. At the January meeting they decided on the disposition of funds raised last year. Some went to the Old People's Home in Northville, some to the Farmington Library, and some to needy individuals.

The Harry Langs left with four other couples Friday, Feb. 20, for Boyne Mt. Lodge. It was 32 below zero there that morning but it was sunny and really wonderful weather for skiing. They enjoyed the Saturday night party and some of the more courageous (not the Langs) used the outdoor heated swimming pool. This group, which included two couples from Detroit and two from Birmingham, have been skiing together for several years. The men plan a stag week end in January, then go up again later with their wives. Last Saturday, Feb. 28, was Harry's birthday which was celebrated Sunday with a family get-together and birthday dinner.

FRED JENSEN drove home with three friends from Ft. Eustis, Virginia, for the week end. Of course Ida had lots of good food for them to enjoy as well as a party Saturday night to which several of his college friends from Lansing came. They had to leave early Monday morning as they were due back at Ft. Eustis, some 700 miles away, before Tuesday morning.

The Thompsons got in occasional ski week ends. They, and other friends with sons at Leland, got up to Traverse City to stay, pick up their sons at Leland and go to Boyne Mt. or other nearby ski spots for their skiing.

February is Founders month for scouts. At the Cub Scout Pack B-11 meeting Thursday night in the Franklin School Den 9 gave the opening ceremony. Den 9 is made up of Mike Dornan, Doug Lam, Greg McDonald, Jimmy McGuire, Jeff McWilliams, Billy Reader and Bart Tenney. Henry Bemis, the representative from the Detroit Metropolitan Area Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts, came out in uniform to give them their charter. They were entertained for an hour by a magician, were presented their wolf badges and had ice cream and cake.

THE DARNELLS spent six weeks in Florida, going to Pompano, Deerfield and down to Marathon in the Keys. Deep-sea fishing is their main hobby and they caught a lot of big fish.

Sunday of last week the Davises picked up Tamar and a friend of hers, Kent Daley, at Albion and drove on to see Jimmy at Howe Military Academy. They all had dinner together to celebrate Emogene's birthday.

BEULAH KELLY got back Monday morning from her trip to Florida. She left January 5 with her friend, Vera Miller, who did all the driving down to Bradenton where they made their headquarters with an old schoolmate of Beulah's. They made numerous side trips, taking in the Cypress Gardens, Bock Tower, the Great Masterpiece, and the Passion Play. Beulah also called on her eighth grade teacher who has retired to Intercession City and whom Beulah had not seen since leaving that grade.

Conrad Lam flew last Tuesday to San Juan, Puerto Rico for a conference of the American College of Surgeons. He got back Sunday morning.

Obituary

Organizer of Band Here Dies

Edward Eaton, 53, noted locally for his efforts in organizing the first Farmington High School band in 1928, died on Feb. 22 from leukemia and a throat infection resulting from it.

A chemistry teacher at Farmington High, Ed was also choir director of the Farmington First Methodist Church. For the past 20 years he also served as choir director at the Hope Lutheran Church in Detroit. He also taught music and later mathematic at Cooley High in Detroit and was summer principal at Cooley for the past five years.

He had served as president of the High School Division of the Detroit Education Association.

Funeral services were held Wednesday, Feb. 25, at the Schmaltzriedt Funeral Home in Redford with interment at Grand Lawn Cemetery, Redford.

Left to survive him is his wife, Margaret, and two children, Richard, 19, and Carol, 16.

HARRY SIMANEK

Named Mgr. Of Sales Course

Harry S. Simanek, a Farmington resident, has been named sales and promotion manager of the sales course division of Leadership Training Institute, Detroit.

The sales course division comes under the general heading of Dale Carnegie courses, but unlike the famous speech course, the division under Simanek's supervision will be offered to men and women in business and industry who earn their living as career salesmen.

Simanek, who lives at 28455 Greenmeadow, was formerly program director for Junior Achievement of Southeastern Michigan. He held that position for five years in the "learn by doing" business education organization for teenagers.

Trailer Parks - - -

To the Editor:

"Occupants of these mobile homes (trailer courts) also pay taxes — " all of $2 per month per trailer for school taxes, according to an article on trailer courts in Farmington Township in the February 27 Enterprise.

Many of us more earthbound homeowners wish we had to pay only $24 a year school taxes, instead of several hundred dollars a year.

Couldn't some legislation be introduced to make trailer courts bear a larger share of the school tax burden? No wonder other residents resent trailer parks: if I am not mistaken, Farmington has more licensed trailer courts than any other township in Oakland County. At least that was the indication on a map displayed in the Oakland County Drain Commissioner's office a couple of years ago.

Weary Homeowner.

Dog Problem - - -

Dear Editor:

Well, it's time to get dogs vaccinated and get dog licenses again. I wonder how many will get their dog licenses and vaccinated this year?

How long will children between 5 and 12 years of age trudging to school on icy streets and roads have to battle their way through dog packs? Haven't the owners of dogs any respect or love for children when they allow their dogs to run loose?

I don't have any little-ones going to school anymore but it's mighty disgusting to see these children trying to stay clear from a dog fight. It is also dangerous to be driving on the icy roads and have a mess of dogs standing in the middle of the road. It's the drivers option to either run over them or slide into the ditch.

Cass, Harlow, Flanders and Rhonswood sure are a disgrace to drive on just because owners of dogs will not keep them tied up or confined in some other way.

As far as I'm concerned, I don't care what owners do with their dogs but why do these little children carrying lunch boxes and books have to take in these terrible dog scenes and fights.

From one who is patiently waiting for water.

Alta Loma News

LYNN ROTH GR. 4-5481

Noel and Dorine Reed of Alta Loma were surprised with a phone call from England from a friend of theirs from England whom they haven't seen in twelve years. Their friend is visiting the United States on business from Birmingham, England, a manufacturing center similar to Detroit, and asked if he could stop off for a visit on his way from Buffalo New York, to Chicago, Illinois. Needless to say, the Reeds were delighted to have him. A second call came through from New York and their friend asked if they were anywhere near Livonia, as his company had just contacted him to make a stop there. So business was mixed with pleasure when Noel picked up his friend at the Metropolitan Airport. Noel's guest here in the United States for the third time (his first visit was 20 years ago and his last 12 years ago) remarked how friendly American businessmen are. That evening Noel and Dorine invited their neighbors, Len and Irene Knighton over to visit as they too have experiences from England. It was a delightful twenty-four hours before the Reeds' guest left to continue his business venture.

MARTY McNEELY of Hamlin Court is bending his elbow a little easier now that the twelve stitches he received two weeks ago have been removed. Seems Marty took a bad spill on the ice outside the radio mobile unit while at Southgate and not noticing much until a friend shocked him by saying he was bleeding through his overcoat. Whatever Marty fell in cut a slit through his overcoat, suit coat, shirt and elbow which added up to twelve stitches and a stiff elbow for a couple of weeks.

Oscar and Lois Schwig of Moore Drive have their daughter June and her two boys visiting them from East Lansing, Michigan. Seems all three are ill. June has a hand allergy and the young boys bad colds so Lois is being nurse as well as mother to them during their stay. June's birthday was March 3 so the Schwigs planned a family birthday dinner for her before she and her family return to Lansing.

LOUIE AND ANN BAIRD of Alta Loma were really on the go this past week. A week ago last Friday, Ann's mother underwent major surgery, then Ann's youngest sister had a fall on the following Monday and delivered a baby boy two months prematurely on Wednesday all this keeping the Bairds on the move. But Ann's birthday fell in between and Louie did take her out to dinner to celebrate the occasion.

The Hamlins, Roy and Virginia, of James Court headed north again this week end to stay at their cabin near Mio, Michigan. Their daughter, Donna, and her girl friend, Marilyn Heineman of Cass Court, left the folks on Saturday and journeyed on to Michigan Tech College where they attended a dance as guests of Tech students, returning to Mio and on home Sunday evening.

ROI AND VERA MATHIEU of Moore enjoyed a visit from Vera's sister and brother-in-law of Minneapolis, Minnesota. They stopped at the Mathieus after a skiing trip through Wisconsin and northern Michigan.

Ken and Pat Rogers of Cass Avenue became aunt and uncle for the first time when Pat's sister had a baby boy, William Randall, born on George Washington's birthday.

George and Ann Bennett of Alta Loma and their family all enjoying good health for the first time in months, went out to Greenfield Village Museum to see the sports car review. It was so pleasant they ate out and really made a day of it! Then, as luck would have it, their son Tommy smashed his finger in the car door last week and although there are no bones broken, he has to wear his hand in a sling to relieve the pain that is present when he hangs his hand to his side.

Named Lincoln GOP Director

Wendell Brown of Farmington was one of the six persons named to the board of directors of the Oakland County Lincoln Republican Club for District IV, it was disclosed this week.

There are seven districts in the county and each selects a six member board.

Brown, Farmington Township Trustee and a candidate in the April 6 election for an Oakland County Circuit Judge seat, has been active in the Lincoln Republican Club for several years.

Q. Does the wearing of dark glasses harm the eyes?

A. No, but don't wear dark glasses while driving at twilight. To further dim the fading evening light is just inviting trouble. It's strange why some people who have perfectly good eyes apparently don their smoked spectacles so conscientiously as they shave, brush their hair, or apply make-up. Perhaps some people want to see without being seen. It is their privilege of course, and wearing dark glasses would have no more medical justification than many other things we do by compulsion or habit.

Q. "A member of my family was treated for a nervous breakdown by a psychiatrist. Everything seems fine now but the doctor suggests further visits for checkups. Is this necessary?"—A mother.

A. Let's try to answer this question by asking one. Would it be wise for a person who has been treated for tuberculosis or high blood pressure to disregard the doctor's advice and not go back for checkups? We can't hide from forces that cause nervous trouble any more than we can completely shield ourselves from tuberculosis germs and whatever it is that causes high blood pressure. Revisits to the psychiatrist are simply a matter of taking precautions. The doctor needs to keep in touch. Has the patient's thinking, feeling, or behavior undergone a change? If he is not holding his own the doctor can take steps to head off a recurrence of the trouble.

Answers do not necessarily reflect the opinions of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician. Questions directed to Science Editors, P.O. Box 366, Madison Sq. Sta., N. Y. 10, N. Y. will be incorporated in these columns when possible.

Mrs. Robert Albertson

"Since our baby arrived I've had a wash to do almost every day. I appreciated our Gas Dryer before, but now I don't think I could get along without it. I have my clothes dried as fast as they're washed. Baby things always come out so soft and gentle to the skin."

Busy mothers like Mrs. Albertson deserve the convenience of an Automatic Gas Clothes Dryer. It changes a load of wet wash into the softest, fluffiest clothes you could ever put next to a baby's tender skin. All the family wash comes out so wrinkle-free that many pieces need little or no ironing.
