JCs Will Give More for Music Scholarships

For the past couple of years now the Farmington Junior Chamber of Commerce has provided $25 scholarships for serious students who are interested in attending a summer music camp.

This year the JC's have voted to give $400 to be used for scholarships. The amount for each individual scholarship will vary from $35 to $75.

There are a number of music camps, including Michigan State University, Western Michigan, Wayne State and Interlochen. Anyone who receives a scholarship can make his own choice of which of the camps he will attend. Anyone who receives a scholarship will be asked to appear before the JC's next year and tell about his stay.

All students interested in information about these music camps or in one of the scholarships may obtain an application from either Mr. Zimmerman or Mr. Feucht.

The awarding of a camp is two to three weeks.

To Compete in French, Spanish Festival May 23

Students in the language department will compete in the eleventh annual French and Spanish Festival at Eastern Michigan College, May 23.

Farmington will enter students in the two fields of poetry and variety acts.

Ken Cobb will participate in the French poetry division. Ken is in Miss Cramer's French II class.

Lesley Michlin, Karen Wells, and Janice Dufault will present a dramatic skit, Seins IV, Act III of Shakespeare's "Henry V". All three are in Miss Luermann's French II classes.

Later this week other students will be chosen for the poetry division.

The participating students will be taken to Ypsilanti in the school station wagon, accompanied by Miss Luermann. Since they will be at Eastern from 9:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m., all will eat on campus and will have the opportunity to tour campus buildings.

The program will be held in the College's new Daniel L. Quirk Theater.

FRANK KITLAS
Will Organize Insurance Class

Leo Baker, president of the South Oakland County Life Underwriters Association, has announced the appointment of Frank L. Kitlas of Farmington as chairman of a special committee in charge of organizing a local class in the Life Underwriter Training Council's course of life insurance training this fall.

Kitlas has been active in South Oakland County life insurance circles since 1955. Prior to that time he was field training supervisor for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Kitlas is married and resides with his wife, Irene, and son, Ronald, at 28379 Kendallwood Drive, Farmington.

The South Oakland County Association has sponsored LUTC classes for approximately five years, said Mr. Kitlas.

On the national level, the Council has been in existence since 1947, when it was developed as an independent educational institution through the combined efforts of company and field organizations. Headquarters in Washington, D.C., it provides a two year course in life insurance training to all qualified career life insurance men.

Where you one of the 8,117 who voted?

We asked—and thousands of you told us!

The question recently posed you in the Detroit Times Sunday TV Section was: "Who is your favorite for the lead in 'Cheyenne'—Clint Walker or Ty Hardin?"

An overwhelming response of postcard replies poured in.

We were awed...and delighted. The votes clearly indicated Clint Walker is your man.

Of course we passed along the word to the ABC television network. And we'd like to think it perhaps played a part in the impending return of Clint Walker to his original role in this popular show.

Have you any other polls you want us to take...any verbal skirmishes we can engage in? Let us know!
