MSU Alumni Honor Scholars

Michigan State University President John A. Hannah spoke to Oakland County Alumni and friends at the Spring Scholarship Banquet Wednesday, May 13. As the Alumni Club's final activity for the year 1958-1959, Harry Winblad, club president, had asked Neil Bearden to chairman this event at which it honored outstanding scholarship winners from Oakland County high schools.

Paul Daywell, director of scholarships, presented each student with an Alumni Scholarship key.

Among those students being awarded scholarships from this area was Marilyn Sue Highfield.

One of the great arts in living is to leave the art of correctly appraising values.

Attends MEA Officials Meet

Ada Bronson, teacher at Birmingham High School and a resident of 30280 Valley Farms, Farmington, attended the quarterly meeting of the Michigan Education Association's standing commissions and committees held at the MEA Camp near Battle Creek, May 15-16.

Mrs. Bronson was among more than 160 educators from all over Michigan who gathered at the MEA Camp on St. Mary's Lake for the annual spring conference.

These representatives, both teachers and administrators, make up the standing MEA commissions and committees, which chart the direction and evaluate the progress of the association.

These groups discussed individual problems and projects in addition to determining how the 1959-60 MEA expanded budget will affect activities. The MEA's governing body, the Representative Assembly, recently voted to increase members' dues an average of $4.00.

Emphasis at the meeting was placed on expanding the services of the MEA, an association that now numbers about 33,000.

Discuss 3 Minor School Projects

Minor projects at three elementary schools were discussed by the Farmington School Board at its regular meeting last Monday night.

Authorization to obtain quotes on a cost for miscellaneous improvement work proposed at the Bond school site was given. Some phases of the project as proposed by architect John Allen, however, were questioned.

A small expenditure for country-type fencing for a section along the east side of the Kenbrook school was sanctioned. It will be created by the Wallace Construction Co. under terms of an earlier agreement.

It was also agreed that some type of fencing should be erected along the south boundary of the Woodale school. A request that a fence be put up on the east side of Peppermill along the south boundary line but set back on school property about 40 feet met with little reaction. It was agreed to meet with property owners having land adjacent to the school to discuss this matter further.
